FROST DEAD BURIED THURSDAY

STATE STORM DEATH LIST INCREASED

VARIOUS AGENCIES WORKING TOGETHER IN REHABILITATION

FUNERALS HELD THURSDAY FOR MOST OF SEVENTY STORM VICTIMS

DALLAS, May 8.—(AP)—The deaths of five injured today brought the toll of dead in the tornadoes that swept sections of Central and South Texas Tuesday to 75. A number of other injuried were not expected to recover.

The deaths were at Hillsboro, bringing the toll for that county to 16, and near Runge, where the death list was increased from 26 to 28.

The latest figures showed the following death toll: The storm area near Runge, 28; Frost, 22; Hill county, 16; near West, 2; San Antonio, 1; near Ennis, 3; Bronson, 2; Ottine, 1.

Some of the dead in Hill county and near Frost had not been identified, and due to the close proximity of the two storm areas it was thought possible that some of the unidentified negro dead might have been duplicated in lists compiled at Frost and Hillsboro.

Rehabilitation work was in full way in the stricken sections, and at Frost carpenters were complet-

DETERMINATION TO RISE FROM DEBRIS SPIRIT OF FROST

ALTHOUGH SADDENED AND STUNNED BY CALAMITY REHABILITATION IS ON

A pall of gloom, far blacker than the cloud that spread destruction through the little town, hung over Frost Thursday as they waited the hour for the mass funeral for the victims of the storm in the debris-strewn cemetery in the afternoon.

But through the blanket of sadness appeared a spirit of grim determination. Throughout the morning a paen of hammers and saws rang through the storm-torn town, as dozens of carpenters rushed to completion the huge temporary structure that will house the Frost merchants until their establishments can be rebuilt.

Corsicana carpenters started work on the building Wednesday afternoon, and a firm of Corsicana electricians volunteered to wire the house for lights Wednesday night. The buildings are being constructed by Corsicana citizens.

Ten trucks sent by Governor Moody to aid in rehabilitation work arrived Thursday morning, and immediately began hauling debris from the wrecked business section, as huge tractors made great inroads on the mass of wreckage.

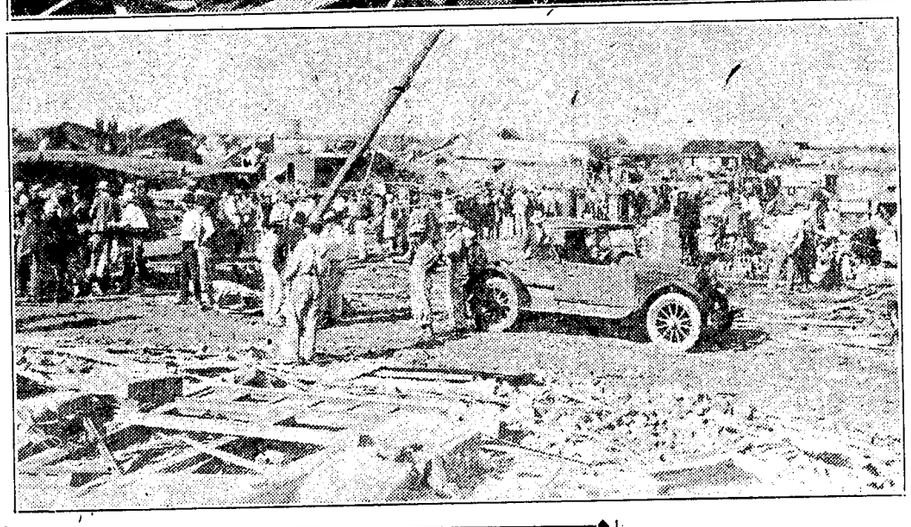

Under the command of Lieut. J. D. Moffatt six State highway petrolmen, directed the dense traffic as thousands of people from

LIST OF BUSINESS PLACES WRECKED BY FROST STORM; INSURANCE CARRIED SMALL

It was estimated that not over $50,000 tornado insurance was carried in Frost. Among those who carried tornado insurance were T. F. Bonnett Dry Goods Store, $10,000; Searcy Heflin, $6,250 on the Ford Garage and $2,500 on two residences; J. B. Shaw, small amounts on several houses; Halbert Masonic Lodge, $3,000; J. C. Beck, $4,850 on residence.

J. C. Beck and Dr. Matlock of the First National Bank and R. F. Shaw of the Citizens State Bank declared that Frost citizenship would rebuild the city immediately.

John R. Carson, Corsicana contractor, was on the ground Wednesday afternoon and started the building Thursday morning.

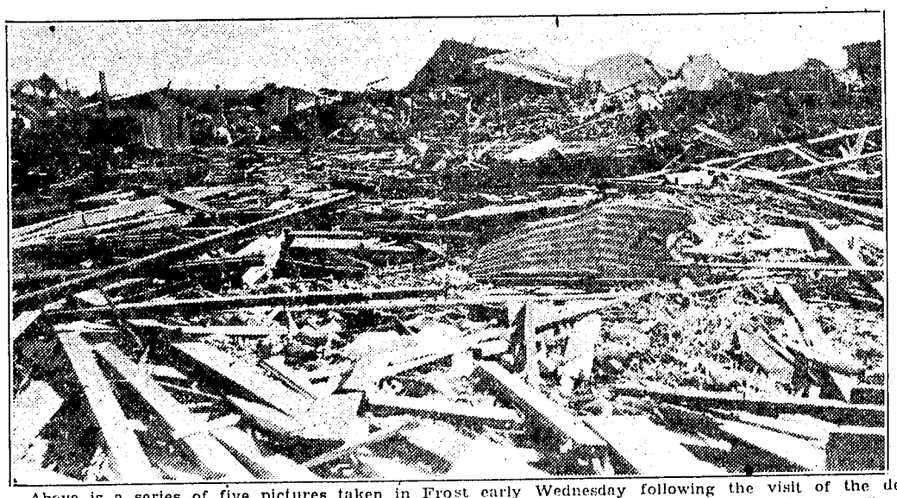

Among the business houses wrecked by the tornado were W. A. Ivey's barber shop; J. B. Shaw, real estate; Mrs. R. N. Warrington, grocery; Heflin-Mitchell Dry Goods Co.; T. F. Bonnett Dry Goods Co.; Frost Favorite; Mrs. Littlejohn, lunch stand; W. A. Ross & Co., filling station; Frost Feed Store and Hatchery; Q. G Keathley, mule barn; J. A. Ledford, mule barn; W. O. The compilation of the list of business houses wrecked in this tornado was made by Harry Clowe and L. V. Majors, both of Corsicana.

Mr. Clowe is in charge of the allotment of the spaces in the temporary buildings being erected by the Corsicana citizens to care for the salvaged stocks of goods and as sites to be used until the business houses are rebuilt.

Above is a series of five pictures taken in Frost early Wednesday following the visit of the destructive tornado to that little West Navarro county town late Tuesday. These pictures, taken by C. J. Risein of Corsicana give a more eloquent description than words can paint of the terrific power of the twister and the great havoc wrought in the peaceful and happy community of Frost where twenty-two people were killed and more than sixty injured and property damage estimated at $1,000,000 was done. The two top pictures plainly show the complete destruction visited upon the business district of town.

Denial Is Made Sufficient Aid Been Received

Mayor I. A. Sanders and other leaders in the relief work at Frost vehemently denied Thursday that they had issued any statement to the effect that sufficient relief had been secured for the storm sufferers and that nothing else was needed.

They declared that they were still in need in almost every way, and that all of the needs of the storm victims had not been yet learned. Two trained social workers from Corsicana undertook this work Thursday afternoon.

A particular need for serviceable clothing was expressed by the relief workers, because many of the persons who escaped injury in the storm have only the few clothes in which they are dressed. Those in Corsicana who have clothing to donate may leave their bundles at the chamber of commerce and it will be forwarded to Frost.

Both mother and son are reported to be doing nicely by hospital attaches Thursday morning.

IMPRESSIVE SCENE ENACTED IN STORM STRICKEN TOWN

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD ON THURSDAY AFTERNOON FOR 12 WHITE VICTIMS

Under dreary, gray skies that precipitated a fine mist at times, the bodies of twelve white victims of the tornado that left the town of Frost an almost barren waste were laid to rest in the Frost cemetery as thousands stood with bared heads through the last rites.

The caskets were placed on the porch of the temporary undertaking parlors in the home of L. A. Morgan, with the relatives and close friends of the dead grouped on the inside of the house, while the thousands stood about on the outside with bared heads.

Musicians from the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Christian churches of Corsicana rendered the songs for the occasion.

As the notes of "Jesus Lover of My Soul" rolled over the great throng, an awesome hush could be felt, broken only by the song and by the faint sound of hammers in the distance as workmen

Events In Modern Jerusalem Shed Light on Christ's Entry

Recent Donigs of Mercurial Multitude Show Triumph of Jesus as true to Type — A Traveler's Experiences.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

Those who know the Orient, best understand this spectacular story which climaxed the career of Christ. It is the changeless East, shedding light by today's ways upon the events of long ago. This morning's newspaper dispatches from Jerusalem tell of ferment and forebodings in the old city, as crowds gather for the Easter and Passion and Neby Musa celebrations. This last is a Moslem demonstration which includes a great parade from Jerusalem down to the alleged grave of Moses, near Jericho. Usually, it is a time of trouble.

So as I write these words, squads of steel-helmeted and armed British soldiers are on duty at the Jaffa Gate, and at the lesser entrances to the city. Machine guns are mounted on the walls. An armed sentry stands at the door of the post office, and of every other public building. All is tense preparedness against any possible outbreak by this tumultuous and unpredictable population, which flames into outbursts whenever its religious passions are touched.

A cold and rational westerner may question the swift enthusiasm of the populace over the appearance of Jesus on Palm Sunday; but not so one who knows Syria. The Triumphal Entry was wholly true to form.

Some Modern Instances

I myself have been parallel incidents. During the war, when the Turks ruled Jerusalem, all Russian priests were banished from the city; and the Orthodox churches were served only by faithful women, who suffered sore privation. One day, after the war, I was sitting in my hotel, near the Jaffa Gate, when a great tumult outside called me forth. "The Russian archbishop has come," said the hotel-keeper. I found the streets thronged by a crowd, mostly women, following the prelate's carriage and shouting hysterically, running forward to kiss the hem of his robe, or to touch the wheels and the horses. It was a miniature triumphal entry of the representative of the Church, who would restore regular worship.

I saw the crowds that greeted the American commission on Mandates in Palestine; but most nearly like the Triumphal Entry were the demonstrations in Egypt, in 1919, over a premature report of independence. Hundreds of thousands of Egyptians, of all degrees, crowded the streets in improvised processions. The ululations of the peasants mingled with the concerted cries of the students. Fellaheen tore off their long robes, their galabeahs, and flung them in the way. Branches were stripped from the trees and strewn or waved. All the volatile emotions of the Orient were unloosed. Anybody who saw those wonderful days could easily picture the Triumphal Entry of Jesus into Jerusalem. The event was true to type.

A Small Stage, a Great Drama

Jerusalem seems to have been created for theatricals. It is a stage city, with the grandstand seats on the Mount of Olives. The intimacy and closeness of the setting is remarkable. All that befell on the day of the Triumphal Entry was within easy walking distance, and within hearing of the sounds of the shouting and tumult. Bethany, around the shoulder of Olivet, is so near to even the opposite side of Jerusalem that I have more than once strolled thither for a before-dinner walk. And be it remembered that this village of Bethany was the place where Jesus habitually sojourned, in the home of Lazarus and Mary and Martha.

Evidently Jesus prearranged this public appearance, to give the teeming Passover crowds an opportunity to pass judgment upon Him. Hitherto He had usually sought obscurity: now He openly offered Himself to His people, on the occasion of their greatest national festival.

There is a touch of mystery about the readiness of the ass and her colt, to be given over upon the utterance of a password, "The Lord hath need of them." His hour had arrived, and all things were made ready. The King would come to His own in propsesied fashion. Not on a horse of pride with gaudy trappings, but on the lowly ass, He presented Himself to the throngs who had come up to the feast from every part of far-scattered Jewry.

A Dead Man's Part.

Two major motives animated the crowd which acclaimed Jesus. One was interest in Himself, because of His miracles and His teachings. There arrives a time in every person's life when he becomes the recipient of the effects of his accumulated past. The Triumphal Entry garnered the fruits of three years of ministry. The fame of Jesus had permeated the nation. So He had become the central Figure of the Feast.

Lazarus, too, was a magnet for popular interest. Wonder of wonders, here was a man who had been raised from the dead by Jesus. The deeps of human imagination were stirred by thoughts of this man who had passed beyond the portals of death, and come back again. Nothing like this had been seen since the days of Israel's great prophet. We cannot fully understand the Triumphantal Entry unless we recognize that Lazarus had drawn curious multitudes to Bethany, the nucleus of the throng that surounded Jesus in the procession to the city.

In the swift, strange fashion that news vibrates to the innermost chambers of palaces and hovels in the Orient, the tidings of the approach of Jesus ran throughout all Jerusalem. The crowded khans, the sedate homes of the Pharisees, and the busy bazaars all heard it quickly. Suddenly there arose one of those unpredictable popular demonstrations which make life an anxious thing for officials in the East. "Lo, the world has gone after Him!" cried the highly-placed plotters, priests and politicians.

Lookers-on in a Crisis.

It is easier to understand the excited, demonstrative, efferversing multitudes than this company of critics who stood aside from the great ovation and commented upon it. They were the sophisticated and cynical upper classes, the Pharisees and scribes, to whom all enthusiasm seemed bad form. No selfless passion ever stirred their pulses. No cause or leader ever led them to forget themselves or their carefully nursed dignity in an outburst of pride or joy or loyalty.

In the midst of this wild delirium of popular fervor, they could still plot and scheme; and send emissaries to remonstrate with the conquering Hero, "Master, rebuke thy disciples."

But the flashing-eyed Christ, to whom the hosannas of the hosts, and the recognition of His Kingship as the expected Son of David, were sweet in this His royal hour, sternly cried, in regal reproof, "I tell you that, if these shall hold their peace, the stones will cry out." This was Jesus' Recognition and He knew it. Gone was His patience with the perfidious Pharisees. Tomorrow might belong to them; but today was His. Not until after he had risen and ascended did even His own disciples know the sublime signicance of this Triumph.

The Kingship of the Christ.

Into this our troubled time, when loyalties are shaky and allegiance is divided and uncertain, there is thrust this dramatic Lesson upon the kingship of Christ. We have been studying Him as Teacher and Helper and Healer; now we pause to give thought to His claims upon our life's devotion as King.

As we think about public issues—international peace, law-observance, prohibition, the bewilderment of youth and the industrial crisis—we may clarify our minds by recalling that the Kingship of Christ is the one plain path to character and to conduct. In His sovereignty is wrapped up peace and righteousness and brotherhood. There are no public or private issues that may not be solved by loyal submission to His sway. Everything that is wrong with the world is due to human disobedience and disloyalty to Christ. Once let Him be King in all, and will become the kingdom of epace and of good will.

"Ride on! Ride o nin majesty!
Hark! all the tribes Hosanna cry;
O Saviour meek, pursue Thy road
With palms and scattered garments strowed.

Ride on! Ride on in majesty!
In lowly pomp ride on to die;
O Christ, Thy triumphs now begin
O'er captive death and conquered sin."

DIRECTIONS FOR GETTING RID OF GRASSHOPPER PEST

Due to repeated requests received during the last few days for the formula for poisoning grasshoppers, Henry Gentry, Navarro county demonstration agent, Wednesday gave the following directions:

Twenty-five pounds of wheat bran; two pounds of white arsenic; one half dozen lemons or oranges; one-half gallon of blackstrap molasses.

Thoroughly mix the bran and arsenic; shave or send the fruit through a food chopper. Mix the molasses and fruit juices thoroughly with two gallons of water and then add to the mixed bran and arsenic. Add water if needed until the mixture is a very thick paste.

After the poisoning mixture has been prepared, sow it on a clean strip of land, six or eight feet wide near where the hopper infestation is found.

Additional Views of Tornado Stricken Frost

Above are four additional views of the damage done by the tornado that struck Frost Tdesday afternoon, leaving a scene of indescribable chaos and horror in its wake. Not a business house was left standing in the town and few residences remained unscathed. The tornado struck the southwestern edge of the town and plowed straight through to the northeast, and only those residences on the outer edges of the town escaped. Views of the wreckage like those above create wonder that more than the twenty-two dead and sixty injured were not victims of the twister's wrath.

VARIOUS AGENCIES WORKING TOGETHER IN REHABILITATION

ing a large frame structure under which merchants of that place might carry on their businesses until they have had time to replace their own buildings.

Although not under martial law, Guardsmen under orders from Gov. Dan Moody were at Frost aiding in clearing away wreckage and aiding in patroling the devastated area.

Relief funds for the stricken communities were mounting, with some cities wiring that quotas assigned them had been raised.

Preparation for burying the dead was completed and this afternoon a mass funeral was arranged at Frost, the hardest hit of the towns.

DALLAS, May 8.—(AP)—Immediate relief measures, undertaken by the Red Cross, the American Legion and citizens of the state, today were rushed to the aid of destitute and homeless persons in Central and South Texas communities devastated Tuesday by tornadoes.

The Red Cross last night appealed for $150,000 in Texas and asked for gifts of clothes and food.

Funeral services were planned today for most of the 70 victims, and more than 100 others were being cared for in hospitals.

In Frost, Navarro county, where 22 persons out of 800 inhabitants lost their lives, and practically the entire town was demolished, the cemetery was in the path of the twister, and shattered tombstones had to be cleared away before graves could be prepared for the burial of storm victims.

Citizens of Corsicana, nearby, were leading in relief work, assisting Frost citizens in erecting temporary business buildings and repairing the town's water system. Texas National Guardsmen, in command of Major Horton Porter of Hillsboro, were patroling the town.

Red Cross Active.

Dallas county's Red Cross yesterday sent 100 cots to Frost for people made homeless by the storm. The Red Cross also planned to assist in re-stocking farms and buying seed for replanting of crops.

Telegraph and telephone communication with the town was re-established yesterday.

Citizens of San Antonio, Cuero, Nordheim, Runge, Yorktown and Kenedy and all over South Texas gathered relief for 40 or 50 families left homeless near Nordheim and Runge, in Karnes county, where the tornado kiled 30 persons and injured more than 20.

A haze of smoke hung like a pall over the storm area in Karnes and DeWitt counties, from fires burning dead livestock and debris. Loss of livestock in the storm area was expected to amount to thousands of dollars.

In Runge Area.

Emergency hospitals were established in Nordheim and Runge for the physicians and nurses rushed from San Antonio and nearby towns, and several store rooms were turned into morgues for the dead.

Rapid operations were performed to save the lives of many persons maimed by flying debris, and almost wholesale burials were held for those found mangled by the crushing wind.

The death list slowly mounted upward as additional victims succumbed to their injuries.

Farmers whose homes were spared made a house to house check, going on horseback and in wagons through flooded roads and fields. As a wrecked house was found, the bodies of the dead and injured were loaded into wagons and transported to the nearest town.

Communication lines to the Runge and Nordheim areas also were re-established.

In North Central Texas, near Waco and Hillsboro, similar relief measures were being undertaken, the death toll there having mounted to 13 near Hillsboro, and 23 injured persons were in a Hillsboro hospital.

LONGVIEW, May 8.—(AP)—Hubert Ma Harrison, manager of the East Texas chamber of commerce, today sent a telegram to Mayor I. A. Sanders of Frost, where 22 persons were killed in a tornado Tuesday, expressing sympathy of East Texas, and offering $100 to aid in reconstruction work. The message said:

"All East Texas deeply sympathizes with your citizens in their tragedy. Please call on us if we can assist you, draw on us through the First National Bank, Huntsville, Texas, for $100."

South Texas Aids Its Stricken Area

RUNGE, May 8.—(AP)— South Texas towns today were coming to the aid of 50 or more families who felt the force of a tornado here Tuesday night, which cost 28 lives and did about $150,000 damage.

Citizens of Runge and Nordheim, Karnes county towns near the stricken area, responded to a call for aid by donating $1,000 in cash and hundreds of dollars worth of clothing and bedding to the sufferers.

Two truckloads of clothing and bedding were sent to Runge and Nordheim from Yorktown for distribution among those who lost their household effects.

The death list mounted from 26 to 28 early Thursday when two of the injured died. They are, Otto Fuhrken and Mrs. Rosa Nanez.

Dr. G. W. Allen of Yorktown, in charge of the emergency hospital at Runge, said hope for the recovery of the sufferers is gaining.

Gov. Moody telephoned W. R. Lockey, president of the Runge State Bank, and offered aid.

Funeral services were held at 5 p. m. Wednesday for Mr. and Mrs. Ferd Machost, aged couple who were killed by the tornado. Nearly all of the Mexixcan victims of the storm were buried Wednesday afternoon near Nordheim, where there is a Mexican settlement.

Doctors in charge of the emergency hospital say that the danger of tetanus, which was feared Wednesday, is somewhat allayed, since a complete supply of antiseptics has arrived.

Three Additional Dead

HILLSBORO, May 8.—(AP)—Three more deaths occurred in a hospital here last night and today, bringing to 16 the number of Hill county residents killed in Tuesday's tornado.

Those added to the death list were:

Mrs. W. M. Huse of Maloe, Edward Isbell of Eynum and Thomas Nieto of Mertens.

Twenty injured remained in the hospital.

from other towns continued their efforts to rehabilitate the Frost merchants.

Rev. W. W. Richeson, Methodist minister at Frost, read the first scripture lesson, and Rev. Nelson of Mt. Calm led the prayer that followed. Rev. Stitz, Presbyterian minister of Blooming Grove, made the first address of the service. This talk was followed by the song "Rock of Ages."

The principal funeral oration was delivered by Rev. E. R. Swindell of the First Baptist church of Hillsboro.

"Taps" Sounded.

"Crossing the Bar" rendered by the visiting musicians closed the first portion of the mass funeral for the storm victims. Then began the long cavalcade of hearses to the still debris-strewn cemetery, where the final commitment services were held, ending with the sounding of "taps."

The following bodies were buried:

W. H. Bowman.
Mrs. W. H. Bowman.
E. A. Patterson.
Mrs. Lee Wooley.
Johnnie Ruth Wooley.
Gilead Bogan.
Tom Bogan.
J. D. Lee.
Mrs. Tabitha Berryman.
John Fiew, Jr.
Prentice Fiew.
Leroy Bagley.

The death list of Negroes and Mexicans stood at ten Thursday, but no definite funeral arrangements had been made. It was understood that four of the Negro victims would be buried Thursday in the Brushy cemetery. One unidentified Negro will be buried on the county farm.

Clearing Wreckage.

Despite the gloom and solemness of the day, the work of clearing away the debris of the wrecked business houses went ahead on a larger scale than ever. After a day spent in organization under the direction of Henry Rogers, hundreds of workmen were engaged Thursday in clearing away the wreckage, loading it into trucks from the State highway department which hauled it to the dumping grounds.

All types of vehicles were pressed into service by the merchants as they salvaged portions of their stocks and took them to shelter until the new store building is completed. Rapid inroads were being made in the great piles of wreckage, and it was thought that within a few hours more, all rumors of persons buried under the crumbled buildings would be finally abated. No additional bodies were found Thursday morning.

About 150 carpenters were at work on the temporary store building Thursday and it was expected to be roofed by night, and Henry Rogers, in charge of the rehabilitation work, declared that the building would be ready for business by Saturday. John Carson of Corsicana is in charge of the carpenters.

Red Cross Director Arrives.

Captain Albert Evans, Red Cross relief director, arrived in Frost shortly before noon, and immediately conferred with Mayor I. A. Sanders, John Beck and others on the situation. Immediately after noon he began a careful survey of the field. The Red Cross staff was also augmented by Miss Grace Severs of St. Louis, field representative. Ned Campbell, another field representative, has been on the ground since Tuesday night.

Capt. Evans was brought to Frost in an automobile by W. H. Prather, president of the Dallas Red Cross Chapter, and Charles Becker.

E. G. Eggert, State sanitary engineer, aided by G. M. Crook, Corsicana municipal sanitary engineer, and C. C. Hayes of Waco, city chemist, made a careful survey of sanitary conditions and started additional clean-up enterprises.

All citizens who have been obtaining water from doubtful sources during the time the waterworks was out of action, were urged to report to Red Cross headquarters for typhoid immunization. A complete clinic has been established in the home of Dr. H. H. Stephenson where all injuries are dressed and antitoxins administered.

Bruce Gillian announced Thursday morning that efforts were being made to borrow twenty portable houses from the State highway department to solve the homeless situation. Tents are being used at present, but will offer very incomplete shelter in the event of bad weather.

Palace Theatre and Daily Sun To Give Benefit Show Friday

Friday night at 11 p. m., immediately following upon the final showing of Bulldog Drummond, the Palace Theatre in conjunction with the Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light will present for the first showing in Corsicana, "OH YEAH" one of the finest musical comedy dramas of the year.

The admission prices will be 50c and the entire receipts will go to the Red Cross Relief Fund. Tickets will be on sale at most stores and sold through the various club organizations. Every little bit helps — BUY YOUR TICKETS TODAY.

all parts of the State attempted to visit the ruins. The patrolmen included C. E. Talbot, R. M. Walling, Wayne Davis, M. R. Mallory, E. D. Hinkle.

Boy Scouts Aid.

Approximately 100 Boy Scouts under the supervision of Scout Executive W. G. Echols arrived late Wednesday and established camp. They were immediately assigned to liasion duty at the various relief headquarters. They came from Ennis, Waxahachie, Corsicana and Hillsboro.

Registration of the storm sufferers and their needs was under way late Wednesday under the direction of J. M. Daniels of Kerens and Miss Julia Callicutt of Corsicana. They stated that the most urgent need of the majority was clothing and foodstuffs.

Dr. J. C. Anderson, State health officer and E. G. Eggert, State sanitary engineer, arrived in Frost late Wednesday from Mineral Wells and immediately surveyed the situation. Mr. Eggert will remain on the scene for several days aiding in the solving of sanitation problems; Dr. Anderson returned to Austin Wednesday night and stated that he would urge Governor Dan Moody to send all possible relief to the stricken town.

Sanitary Measures.

After looking over the wrecked town, Dr. Anderson conferred with Mayor I. A. Sanders on the immediate problems, urging immediate clean-up and disposal of spoiled foodstuffs, and the clearing away of debris and restoration of the water and sewage systems. Citizens were urged to boil their water if it came from wells or cisterns.

Anti-tetanic serum was recommended for all the injured, and preparations were being made for the immunization of every citizen if possible against possibility of typhoid fever.

The Frost water system was put in working condition late Wednesday afternoon, and water was available at several hydrants in various parts of the town. A number of workmen under J. W. Alger and W. W. McClendon were in charge of the restoration work.

Major E. T. Underwood of the adjutant general's department, arrived in Frost Wednesday and assisted in the organization of the military police, acting as the personal representative of Gov. Moody. Major Horton B. Porter is in command, with the troops under Capts. F. A. Pierce and J. J. Garner of Corsicana, Capt. Carrico and Lieut. Biddell of Hillsboro. Headquarters battery and Battery D, 132d Field Artillery, and Headquarters Company and Company L, 143rd Infantry are on duty.

Tents were erected for the homeless storm victims until housing arrangements can be completed.

Delegations were stationed on all roads entering the town soliciting donations for the storm sufferers.

The Central Texas Grocery Company sent a large quantity of cigarettes to the Red Cross station at Frost to be distributed free.

Large numbers of all extras and regular editions of the Corsicana Daily Sun carrying complete details of the Frost disaster have been sent to Frost, where they were distributed free. The Sun also sent out 400 sandwiches Tuesday night for the relief workers and destitute.

H. R. Stroube and Jim Collins also carried out five gallons of hot coffee Tuesday night.

Jack Megarity, commissioner of Precinct No. 1, sent his road employees back to Frost Thursday morning to assist in the digging of the graves for the tornado victims. The men of Precinct No. 1 were on hand Wednesday and assisted in the clearing of the debris from the cemetery Wednesday afternoon.

J. N. Royall, president of the Royall Coffee company, sent fifty pounds of coffee to be dispensed free at Frost.

Dr. R. C. Curtis arrived in Corsicana after driving all night, and stated that any of the storm victims needing X-ray examination it will be given free if they will call his office.

Corsicana dairymen are supplying bottled milk to the Frost storm sufferers at the Navarro County Hospital, and bottled and large containers of milk have been dispatched to Frost, it was learned here Thursday.

Five local dairies that sent 40 gallons of milk to Frost today were Z. J. Platt, Crumley & Johnson, Mrs. Dubose, B. V. Treadway and Arcady Farms.

50 Years' Use of Black-Draught

"About fifty years ago," says Mr. Lewis G. O'Shields, of Portersville, Ala., "my mother gave me the first dose of Black-Draught, and I have taken it ever since, when I needed a medicine for constipation. I have used this remedy all my married life, in raising my children.

"I have used Black-Draught for heartburn, as I have had spells of this kind, off and on, for years. This follows indigestion, and indigestion comes close on constipation.

"I have found that the best way to head off trouble is to begin taking Black-Draught in time. It relieves me of dizziness, tightness in the chest and backache.

"By getting rid of impurities, Black-Draught helps to keep the system in good order. I always keep it in the home, and have recommended it to many people, in my time."

AGRICULTURAL SITUATION.

Taking everything into consideration the agricultural outlook in Navarro county is very bright at the present. Weather conditions have been in favor of the farmer and the persistent efforts on the part of leading agriculturists, bankers and business men urging divesification have started to bear fruit. Many farmers are establishing bull circles and considerable interest is being taken in dairying projects. Pure blood cows are being purchased and a concerted effort is being made, with considerable success, to raise the standard of livestock in general. Milk sales in Corsicana now average about $500 per week, while large amounts are being shipped from Kerens, Dawson, Powell, and other points. Local creameries are also taking a large share of the milk. The dairy schools recently conducted in Corsicana and Blooming Grove were largely attended and will be of great benefit in the future.

The fact that the large land owners and farmers are taking the lead in cotton reduction and diversification is very encouraging. Increased acreage in hay and feed crops is the result. It is estimated the cotton acreage in Navarro county has been reduced approximately three per cent. Although the reduction is not as large as was urged a start has been made and next year will probably see a much greater cut.

Although the small farmer planted practically the same acreage in cotton he is diversifying in other ways with increased interest in poultry and dairying.

The farm and home demonstration agents deserve much praise for the work they are accomplishing through the organizations of the Boys and Girls Clubs throughout the county. With the doctrine of diversification being continually taught the result will be better cows, hogs, poultry and better gardens. This means the farmer of the future will live at home. The womens clubs of the county are also very active and interest in better homes has been increased through contests and demonstrations.

Considering the agricultural situation from every angle at the present time there is no reason to complain. In fact the outlook is unusually bright and with the diversification program beginning to take its place in the farm activities there is no reason why there should not be a large increase in agricultural prosperity—which is the backbone of prosperity in every line of endeavor.

NO SLEEP SUBSTITUTE.

The latest quest of ever-imaginative scientists is a substitute for sleep. They figure that one-third of life is spent in sleep, and that if one could obtain the restorative effect equivalent to that of slumber from pill or phial, man's active days would run to 24 hours per, instead of the estimated 16. Just so; and if one could find a substitute for death, immortality could be attained.

The Great Designer counted in time for sleep when he measured man's span of life, and science cannot beat the game by a substitute. This is one of those scientific quests that make reactionaries of Abyssinian experimenters whom Rasselas found searching for dyes that, when spread over flies fed to spiders, would result in the spinning of colored webs by their devourers. Cucumbers still contain sunshine and rainbows yield pots of gold, but only to the poet.

JUST FOLKS

SPECULATION

I wonder by what chance is made
The choice which settles man's estate?
Why one devotes his life and trade
And one at table stands to wait?

What brings the beggar to the door
As one in luxury drives by?
What strange events have gone before
To send men down or raise them high?

How much of mans own fortune lies
Within his power to mould and shape?
How much, however hard he tries
Is there of pain he can't escape?

Soslight the step that leads astray,
So rought the buffetings of fate
That none is wise enough to say
What brings the beggar to the gate.

So far away life's channels run,
So much is lost we cannot know,
This man's despair may have begun
More than a hundred years ago.

JURIES AND LAWS.

In federal court a judge, a militant dry, tried to get a jury sworn in a list of prohibition cases. A panel of 50 was exhausted—and no jury was selected. Man after man declared that his opposition to the liquor laws would prevent his impartial consideration of the evidence.

There are sections of the country in which it is virtually impossible to obtain indictments against accused liquor law violators, and in still other courts it takes more evidence to obtain convictions for liquor law violations than for other offenses.

Much has been said of nullification by law and by enforcement or lack of enforcement of law. But it seems that of all forms of nullification the most nullifying is jury opposition. Judges may, and do, lecture jurors on duties, personal prejudices and miscarriage of justice, but without avail. Jurors cling to the early theory that the jury system is the safety valve of the legislature blowing off the unpopular laws and employing the full power of the popular statutes.

These things but illustrate the depth, breadth and length of the prohibition problem. They show why President Hooverfi the Wickersham commission and congress have accomplished little toward its solution.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING

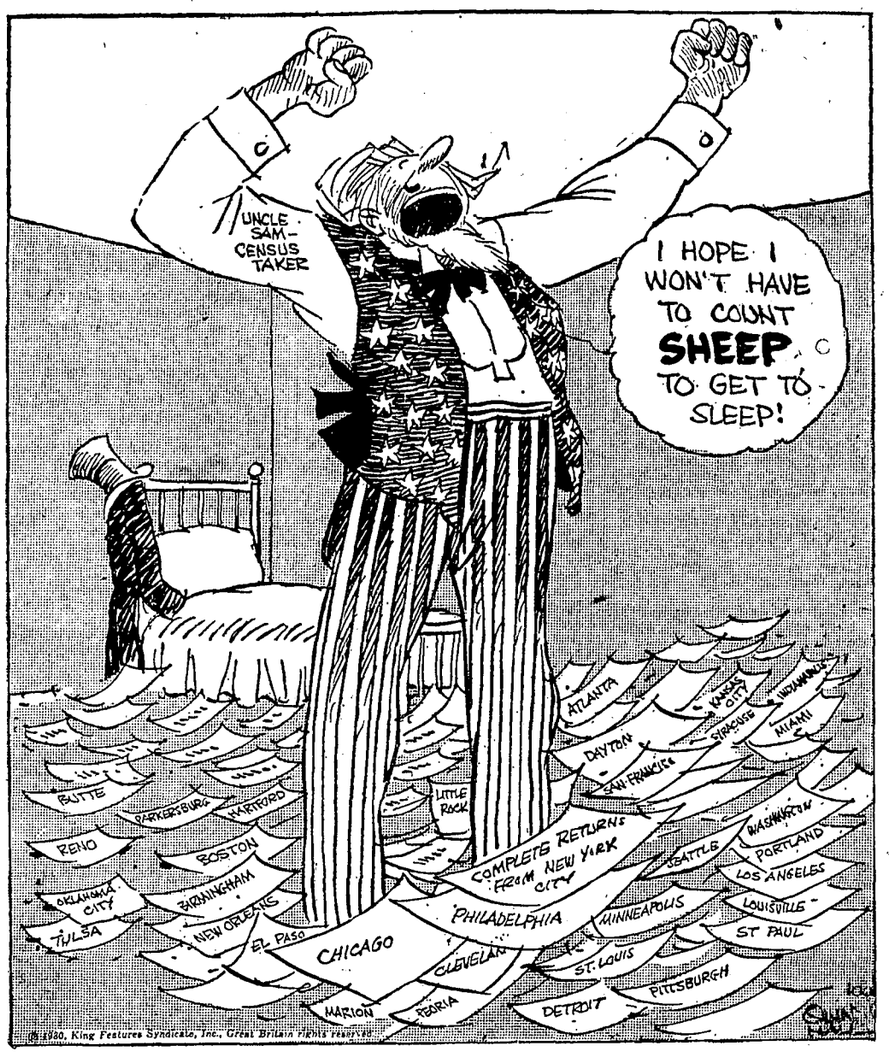

Further development of vocational training in the public schools is deemed highly desirable, if not essential, by the Association of Commerce, which is formulating plans to bring about that very thing. The definite educational objective of the association is to equip pupils for earning a living as mechanics and artisans.

Advanced vocational training is a proper and practical department of public education, if for no other reason than that the pupils who enter such employment far outnumber those who take up one of the professions or the arts. The theory of the Association of Commerce is that the pupil showing natural talents and abilities for one of the vocations should have the same educational advantages as the child with a natural aptitude for music or the dead languages.

Increasing emphasis is being placed on vocational training in the schools in spite of opposition from certain quarters. In some labor circles it has been looked upon with disfavor because of the fear that it will break down the apprentice system which controls the supply of skilled labor. Naturally, it is distasteful to those who look upon all school children as future ladies and gentlemen of leisure feeding highly cultivated tastes on the higher arts. Another quarter from which vocational training and the three R's are attached is that group which sees the public school as a laboratory for experimenting psychologists, sociologists and hygienists.

Redundancy seldom occurs in a headline, but it seems to be present in "Man, Twenty-eight, Marries Rich Widow, Sixty."

FED UP ON COUNTING

EXAMPLE.

The World War left the United States with enormous military and naval might, backed by factors of economic and financial strength which made its single power the most formidable in history. All Europe began immediately to fear this new "menace" and to resent it, although it was a by-product of a war of Europe's making.

The rest of the world, its war complex being what it is, might well have taken for granted that the United States would inevitably use that power to aggrandize itself, to establish, if not a world empire, at least a world dominance. Its refusal to enter the League of Nations might seem to some confirmation of fears and suspicion.

European countries confessed by their doubts and suspicions that they would not have withstood the temptation to use that irresistible power against some ancient enemy or to seize some coveted territory. America knew her own power and Europe's weakness but that proved to her no temptation for conquest.

The Washington conference was the first great move made by the United States to convince the world of its real policy, which was to encourage the voluntary association of nations for peace on the basis of equality of rights and duties for all.

Then followed the Kellogg pact, which removed what fears and suspicions still remained in Europe's war troubled head. And now the London conference, in the cause of world peace, it scrapped part of its previously authorized cruiser strength.

President Hoover, vetoing the bill for Gadsden Purchase commemorative coinage, evidently believes there is such a thing as too much money.

Article sixteen, section four, of the treaty, relating to destroyers, makes no provisions regarding Senator Borah.

When recalcitrants refuse to answer census questions, how about calling in Jim Reed, of Missouri?

Somebody plans to get rubber from milkweeds. Some butchers get rubber from milk cows.

They call it "civilized warfare," but the most modern of private killings isn't called civilized murder.

It isn't a moral sense that makes the flapper seem offensive. It is hardening of the arteries.

ATHLETICS AND ATHLETES

Those who are inclined to deplore the modern tendency to unduly glorify a successful athlete and to overemphasize athletics need not deceive themselves that such has not always been the custom.

Americans make much ado over professional baseball and collegiate and scholastic football. Millions have been expended on stadiums and there has been widespread dissatisfaction over the fact that football coaches earn more in three months than professors earn in nine. There is another popular superstitution to the effect that college and high school athletics, league baseball, golf and horse racing are being taken too seriously, at the expense of academic studies, home and business.

Sports have reached a high stage of development in the United States and in some foreign countries, yet none seem to have even approximated the athletics and sports of ancient Rome and Greece.

The Colosseum and similar arenas and amphitheaters of Rome and Greece have left their ruins to remind the modern world how ancient civilizations lavished their wealth on their athletics and athletes. The Olympionikae, as the victors of the Olympaids then were known, were showered with every conceivable honor and opportunity for living in luxury ever after.

FROST DEATH TOLL RUNS HIGH

MANY TEXAS POINTS STRUCK BY STORMS

Sixty-Five Known Dead In Series Of Tornadoes In Texas

NARROW PATH CUT THROUGH SOUTHERN TEXAS COMMUNITY

TWENTY-NINE KNOWN DEAD RESULT OF KARNES COUNTY TWISTER TUESDAY

SAN ANTONIO, May 7. (AP)—From Nordheim, which was most successful in establishing communication after a tornado which swept thorugh southeastern Karnes county, reports early today placed the dead at 29, with more than 40 injured.

Among the dead were Ferdinand Machost, 79, and his wife, Mrs. Pauline Machost, 68; Mrs. Otto Fuhrken, and an unidentified man killed on a farm five miles east of Kenedy.

The storm evidently was the same cloud which, earlier in the afternoon, had struck the edge of Randolph Field, the new army airdrome 17 miles east of San Antonio, killing J. C. Kleespies of Houston, a workman, and seriously injuring Lonnie Wickman of San Antonio.

Randolph Field borders Cibolo creek, which flows into the San Antonio river, and the clud evidently followed the Cibolo valley southward until near its junction with the San Antonio river, then turned eastward.

It struck a rich farming country almost midway between Nordheim and Runge and cut a path only 150 yards wide, but 10 miles long. At the edge of Goliad county it lifted and passed out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Path of Storm Narrow.

So narrow was the path of the storm that residents of Nordheim and Runge did not suspect its seriousness until the injured began arriving for help.

In Runge, a vacant house become an emergency hospital and in Nordheim two offices were used for the same purpose. Townspeople contributed cots and bedding, while physicians hurried from Kenedy, Yorktown and Cuero, the latter 30 miles northeast of Runge.

Of 30 reported injured at Nordheim, only six were expected to die, 13 remaining overnight in the emergency hospital at Runge and thre being taken to a Cuero hospital.

Everything in the path of the storm was leveled, but observers differed as to whether it was a tornado or not, some describing it as a mass of forward-tumbling clouds traveling from northwest to southeast at much greater speed than tornadoes usually move forward.

Violence of the wind east of Kenedy, where George Tips escaped death by getting off his horse and clinging to the ground, indicated that the storm was wider in places than was reported at Nordheim. Tips' horse was killed.

Between Falls City and Karnes City, 15 miles southwest of the storm's path, a severe hail storm destroyed crops.

Fear of Tetanus In Runge District

RUNGE, May 7.—(AP)— Fear of the development of deadly tetanus today added a new horror to the wake of death, suffering and property loss left by a violent tornado which cut a swath through a winding valley in this county Tuesday afternoon, killing 26 and seriously injuring 31.

Dr. D. Y. Wilbern, one of nine doctors at work here in an emergency hospital, stated that of the 31 now under attention, eight would probably no survive the day. Tetanus infection caused by rocks, splinters and other foreign particles which were driven like bullets into the bodies of the victims, will be one of the principal fears of the medical crew, the doctors said.

Eighteen persons were killed near Nordheim and seven were killed at Runge by the tornado which cut a path about 300 yards wide and about fifteen miles long. The twister came from the west and providentially swerved around Runge, a town of 1200 population which stood in its path.

Most of the dead were from Mexican tenant farming families who lived in the productive agricultural little valley which bore the brunt of the storm's violence.

Tornado Circles Runge

The twister struck south of Nordheim, swept eastward, circling around Runge, and its outer tip touched at Kenedy, doing a $20,000 property damage.

Nurses and doctors from Yorktown, Cuero and other towns in this section raced into the stricken area all during the night to help in administering first aid and in establishing the emergency hospitals at Runge and Nordheim.

Red Cross workers, headed by Harry Richmond of the American Red Cross at San Antonio, and E. O. Klingman, former county Red Cross official here, were in charge of relief work. The Runge chamber of commerce was established as the headquarters for a clothing and food relief fund for sufferers.

Scene of Stark Tragedy

Nordheim is the scene of the (Associated Press.)

Tornadoes that swept various parts of Texas yesterday took a known death toll of 65, practically destroyed one town and did great property damage in other scattered sections, reports here revealed today.

The greatest death tool was reported in and near Runge, Karnes county, where only meager details of the storm had trickled in over crippled communication facilities.

Twenty-six persons were reported to have lost their lives in that area. Only five of them were identified. The other dead were said to have been members of the families of twenty-four farmers. No mention was made of the property damage.

Frost, in Navarro county, was the next hardest hit. The storm, which almost obliterated the town, took the lives of 21 residents.

Rehabilitation work at that place was started after highway crews had cleared roads of debris and communication facilities had been restored.

Business men of Corsicana and Hillsboro and other cities met with those of the stricken town and offered any aid necessary in erecting temporary buildings for carrying on their businesses.

Red Cross workers also were on the scene treating the injured.

The tornado that struck Frost also took three lives near Ennis, where some property damage also was reported.

Seven Killed at Bynum.

Seven persons were killed at Bynum, Hill county, and the other deaths were taken at San Antonio, where one was killed, and near West, where two were killed.

The bodies of Prentice Fiew, 20, who died in a Corsicana hospital today, and Leroy Bagley, nine months, who died in a Corsicana hospital yesterday will likely be sent to Frost late today for burial.

The body of Mrs. W. H. Bowman, 60, who died en route to a Corsicana hospital was held there today and probably will be sent to Frost today or tomorrow for burial. Her husband was killed instantly.

Hawkins Scarborough, judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District court, was one of the first arrivals in Frost after the storm and remained there all night.

Jurors Excused.

He excused all members of the jury for the week, and criminal cases set for trial Wednesday and Friday were passed. A majority of the members of the jury panel left Corsicana after the storm to aid in the rescue work at Frost.

Andrew G. Steele, county superintendent and past commander of the American Legion Post at Corsicana, accompanied by 32 Leginnaires went to Frost soon after the storm and began patrolling the streets and aiding in the rescue work until national guardsmen took over these duties.

Steele said he had tendered the services of the American Legion boys to relieve those on the scene. He said that probably 35 or 40 men would go to Frost this afternoon.

The roar of the tornado as it swept destructively through the west end of the county was heard by residents of western Corsicana.

Sixty-six persons were killed, many were injured and property damage estimated at more than $500,000 was caused by a tornado which struck in Central and South Texas late yesterday, a partial check revealed today.

The death list included the following:

Twenty-five men, a woman and three children near Runge.

Seven men, three women, four children and ten negroes near Frost.

Two persons near Waco.

A fifteen-year-old boy and a child near Ennis.

Two men, two women and three negroes at Bynum.

Two men at San Antonio and Bronson.

Kenedy, 10 miles from Runge, reported 12 deaths, but it was believed some, at least, of the fatalities there were accounted for in the Runge list.

Striking yesterday afternoon, the tornado took the greatest toll of life at Frost, in East Central Texas and a Runge in South Central Texas. The force of the storm was felt in practically all sections of the state. Navarro, Hill, McLennan and Ellis counties in Central Texas and Karnes in the southern part of the state bore the brunt of the storm.

National guardsmen, firemen and volunteers were working early today in the debris at Frost where it was feared the death list would mount higher. Nearly every building in the town was demolished.

Business District Leveled

Descending on Frost from a southwesterly direction, the tornado passed over a residential section, sailed over a schoolhouse and then razed practically every one of about 30 business houses. Telegraph, telephone and electric wires were torn down by the wind, which was accompanied by a driving rain, accentuating the terror of the survivors.

Sensing unusual danger when the swishing of the tornado sounded over the droning of school children at their recitations, Superintendent Harrison of the Frost public schools ordered the children to march to the basement. Hardly had the pupils reached the lower floor when the storm struck, tearing off the schoolhouse roof and scattering it over the countryside.

The interurban car leaving here at 3:40 for Dallas was stranded in Ennis Tuesday afternoon on account of the storm and the car due here at 4:40 backed out of the storm at Ennis. The trolley was broken in one place and several poles were down yesterday. Traffic was resumed at 6:40 this morning and all cars are running on time.

Richland creek was reported 30 inches over the Cotton Belt bridge between Corsicana and Dawson and there has been some delay in traffic over that line to Waco. Traffic is expected to be resumed today. All Cotton Belt trains to Hillsboro, Tyler, Memphis and St. Louis are on time.

All Southern Pacific trains are running on schedule.

Under a torrid Texas sun that dried the mud from Tuesday's terrific downpour, and gave no hint of the black clouds that brought tragedy to the community, Frost began early Wednesday morning to clear away the debris from the greatest tragedy in the history of Navarro county.

At noon Wednesday the death list totalled twenty-two persons, while the injured in Corsicana hospitals numbered 60, many of them in a serious condition. It was the greatest loss of life ever recorded in Navarro county.

Early in the morning, work of clearing away the wreckage and reconstruction of utility systems began in an orderly fashion and soon order began to appear among the chaos. As the morning progressed and no additional bodies were found in the wreckage, and the list of missing persons was gradually eliminated, the work gained speed.

By 9 o'clock Wednesday morning a large group of merchants from Corsicana had arrived and placed their services and stocks at the disposal of the stricken town. A number of them donned overalls and boots and began to aid Frost merchants in salvaging portions of their stocks, while others aiding in making plans for the securing of fresh stocks of groceries, dry goods, hardware and other essentials.

FROST TO START CONSTRUCTION OF TEMPORARY STORES

THREE LARGE STRUCTURES TO BE STARTED IN WRECKED TOWN THURSDAY

STAFF SPECIAL.

FROST, May 7.—(SPL).— The erection of temporary buildings to house stocks and merchandise will begin Thursday morning and Frost citizens and hundreds of neighboring citizens were laboring Wednesday afternoon getting the streets cleared and begin the removal of the debris. The Frost cemetery was in the path of the twister and a majority of the monuments in the cemetery were blown down, broken and hurled out of the way of the devastating tornado.

Harry Rogers of Corsicana is in charge of the reconstruction work now under progress, assisted by F. P. McElwrath, Tyree E. Bell, John T. Fortson, Joe B. Fortson, Clyde Foster and other Corsicanans.

A check Wednesday revealed 47 business houses demolished.

The beginning of three large temporary buildings to be located between the depot and the main business section is to start Thursday morning. John T. Fortson is in charge of this portion of the work and was figuring with contractors Wednesday. One of the buildings will be 50x300 feet, and will be cut into compartments 20x 50 feet to house the stocks of the merchants. Seventeen of the compartments had already been spoken for Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The other two buildings will be 75x50 and 50x50 feet each.

These temporary buildings are to be used until the business section is rebuilt. The work of taking out the wrecked stocks has started and both the First National and Citizens State Banks have large crews aiding in this work.

Lights Restored.

Ted B. Ferguson of Corsicana, district manager of the Texas Power & Light Co. is here, and brought a check for $500 from John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power & Light Company. Mr. Ferguson stated that service would be resumed during the afternoon and that a number of floodlights would be installed to that the work can continue during the night.

All of the derailed box cars have been righted and pulled from the town.

The poor are being directed to the home of Dr. Cox where the Red Cross headquarters have been made.

The funerals for the victims will be held here Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The town is being patroled by Texas National guardsmen. Captain Festus A. Pierce of Headquarters Battery at Corsicana and Captain John J. Garner of Battery D, 132 Field Artillery, Texas National guard, have ordered all of their men to report for duty at once. Major Horton Porter of Hillsboro is the commanding officer and a number of Hilsboro guardsmen have reported.

Beauford H. Jester and W. P. Brown and L. V. Majors from the American Legion are working in the Red Cross headquarters and are organizing relief.

A committee of Hillsboro citizens are here aiding in all manner possible, and the Frost citizens are active and are repairing the water system and cleaning the debris from the streets.

Later in the morning a delegation from Hillsboro and other nearby towns arrived and aided in mapping plans.

After a brief conference, Henry T. Rogers of Corsicana, former road contractor was named as director of reconstruction, and plans were made for getting the work under way immediately.

Because the huge crowd of sightseers, estimated at from 5,000 to 8,000 people, were crowding and surging through the devastated areas and interfering with work, a restricted zone was established covering an area about six blocks square, and rigidly policed by members of the two Corsicana batteries of the Texas national guard, augmented by a number of reserve officers in uniform. Several members of a cavalry troop at Hillsboro reported for guard duty during the morning.

Temporary Shelters

Preparations were well underway by noon Wednesday for the erection of temporary shelters for merchandise in the space between the railroad yards and the old business section. As soon as the new structures can be completed, work of demolising the old ruins will be started.

Every able bodied man who could use carpenter tools was assembled to aid in the work, while others were detailed for tasks that required unskilled labor. Experienced leaders were being placed in charge of the various phases of the work by Mr. Rogers, and by the middle of the afternoon the work was going smoothly.

Line Crews at Work

By daylight crews of men were engaged in clearing away the broken strands of power lines, removing dangling crossarms, and preparing to replace the lines and restore electricity to the city.

Telephone crews worked all during the night to restore service and by Wednesday afternoon, several lines had been run into the town, and a staff of operators was rapidly clearing away the accumulation of calls. F. C. Bookout of the commercial department of Corsicana and Mrs. Myrtle Baker, operator, reached Frost early in the morning and assisted in handling the hundreds of long distance calls.

Before 9 o'clock a squadron of state highway department workmen with trucks, tractors and graders appeared on the scene to aid in restoring the streets to passable condition.

A wrecking train straightened up the wreckage of four box cars that were blown from the tracks in the yards. The crew was under the personal supervision of Superintendent H. S. Phillips.

Cemetery Is Cleared

As the bodies of nine white persons and eight negroes rested in improvised morgues, a large crew of workmen were engaged in clearing off wreckage from the Frost cemetery under the direction of A. T. Clark, of the Oakwood Cemetery association of Corsicana.

Preparations were being made Wednesday for a great mass funeral for all of the victims of the tornado, which will probably be held about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon according to J. M. Beene, Frost undertaker.

A Red Cross station has been established in the nearest dwelling to the business district where first aid is being given workmen and injured brought in from rural districts. The station was in charge of Ned Campbell, representative of the national headquarters at St. Louis. An experienced relief director is expected on the scene sometime Wednesday.

First Aid Supplies.

A supply of bandages and first aid supplies, ice and anti-toxins was received early in the morning in case of emergencies. A field kitchen was in operation under the direction of Ensign William Stevenson of the Corsicana citadel of the Salvation Army.

Miss Nannie Bell Taylor, employee of the city hall at Corsicana, was on duty all during the night. Miss Willete Greenlee assisted in the work during a part of the night.

In Corsicana the Calvary Baptist church near the Navarro county hospital remained open all night for the convenience of relatives and friends of the large number of injured in the hospital.

With the Frost waterworks still disabled Wednesday, the city of Corsicana dispatched a large tank truck containing about 1500 gal-

LOCAL HOSPITALS CARING FOR SIXTY VICTIMS OF STORM

Sixty persons injured in the tornado which struck Frost late Tuesday afternoon were reported in local hospitals, a check of the three institutions revealed at noon Wednesday. The injured were still being brought in from the stricken area for medical attention and in some instances, surgical attention.

The three local hospitals were caring for a capacity number of the injured, with a crew of special nurses and assistants on duty at the Navarro County Hospital where the largest number, 37, were being cared for. A number of the State Home girls assisted in caring for the injured at the Navarro County Hospital.

All the injured brought in were immediately inoculated with antitetanus serum as a precautionary measure against lockjaw.

A number of the injured were described to be in serious condition.

A number of pathetic scenes were enacted at the local hospitals as relatives of injured people inquired about the victims of the twister.

Lunch was served on the grounds for relatives of injured at the Navarro County Hospital through the courtesy of several business firms in Corsicana.

Bronte Storm Takes Lives Two People

BRONSON, May 7. —(AP)— The death toll from the tornado which struck here late yesterday was raised to two today when Mrs. W. T. Strickland died today. Mr. Strickland was killed outright when his home was struck by the wind.

Trucks from the state highway department have been ordered to the scene, and tents, cots, blankets and food supplies will be furnished from national guard depots.

Governor Moody was informed that Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief of the Red Cross at St. Louis, was en route to the stricken area and that all Red Cross agencies had been brought into play to aid in the relief work. Relief units also have been established by the Red Cross in all storm swept countries, Moody stated.

ZACHARY AND RUTH LARGE FACTORS IN DEFEAT CLEVELAND

HEAVY HITTING MARKED CONTESTS IN NATIONAL LEAGUE WEDNESDAY

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Jonathan Thompson Zachary of the New York Yankees is not the oldest pitcher in the American league, in spite of his nickname, "Old Tom." Nor is he by any means the youngest. Tom became 33 years old yesterday, and he celebrated his birthday in harness showing the youngsters a few things.

Last year Zachary led the American League pitchers by winning 12 games without a defeat. He also had the best earned run rating, giving but 33 in 120 innings. Up to yesterday, Tom had not done so well during the chilly spring days, but with the advent of summer weather he scored his first victory, beating the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 7.

Zachary received some aid from another Yankee ancient, Babe Ruth, and from Roy Sherid, who is more than ten years younger. Ruth contributed largely to the five run rally which decided the game by hitting his fourth home run of the season with two on base. Sherid came to Zachary's rescue when he weakened in the late innings.

Except in three National League games yesterday, the pitchers had the better of the major league batters. Bennie Frey of Cincinnati and George Earnshaw of the Philadelphia Athletics turned in the best performances, each allowing only three hits. Frey won his game, but Earnshaw lost.

Tight Pitching.

Two of the three hits off Earnshaw were made by the opposing pitcher, Walter Stewart of the St. Louis Browns, who pitched a six-hit game. The third was a homer by Sammy Hale with one man on base which gave the Browns a 2 to 1 decision. Frey won his third straight game and his second 1 to 0 contest by stopping the Boston Braves.

Earl Whitehill of Detroit had the better of three Washington pitchers, holding the Senators to six hits for a 3 to 1 triumph. The Tigers got eight blows. Horace Lisenbee allowed the Chicago White Sox a dozen hits, but kept them harmlessly scattered while young Tom Oliver led the Boston Red Sox to a 6 to 4 victory. Oliver, who has hit safely in 16 consecutive games, got four blows in five times at bat.

The St. Louis Cardinals were in the front rank of the heavy hitters yesterday as they hammered five Philadelphia pitchers for a 16 to 11 victory.

Not far behind came the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants, dividing 31 hits in Pittsburgh's 16 to 8 victory.

The Chicago Cubs continued the assaults on Brooklyn pitching by hitting steadily to gain a 9 to 5 victory after Brooklyn had opened the game with a home run drive that brought four tallies in the first inning.

North Texas Junior Aggies Win at Tennis

FORT WORTH, May 8.—(AP)—The North Texas Junior Aggies of Arlington yesterday took the title in both the singles and doubles of the Texas Junior College Athletic association tennis matches here on the Texas Christian university courts.

Gregory, Aggie ace, won in singles by defeating Adams of John Tarleton, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5; and in the doubles, Gregory and Jackson took three sets from Jones and Withers of Paris.

Roaming the Realm of County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN.

Teams in the Navarro County Amateur Baseball league, after a forced layoff due to the inclement weather conditions last week end when only three of the six contests scheduled were reeled off, swing into action this week end and the standing of the league is expected to be further charified as a result of the games.

In the standing announced last Monday, we faled to eliminate the contested games between Blooming Grove and Humble nines, both of which were won by the Blooming Grove team, and the standing of teams, corrected, follow:

Blooming Grove	2	0	1.000
Humble	1	0	1.000
Magnolia	2	1	.667
American Well	2	3	.400
Whites Chapel	2	3	.400
Bazette	1	3	.250

It is understood that the contests thrown out at a meeting of the executive committee of the league recently will be counted when the teams play again, the games results going for two games instead of one. The question of one player on the Blooming Grove nine through some oversight was not certified for the starting of the season, although he had been played in the pre-season contests.

The schedule for Saturday follows: Magnolia and American Well Gumbo Busters at the Municipal Park; Whites Chapel at Blooming Grove; The Humble Oil and Refining Company team of Mildred at Bazette.

The pairings for Sunday games are the Blooming Grove and Magnolia Oilers at Municipal Park; American Well at the Humble diamon at Mildred; Bazette at Whites Chapel.

Averages are due to be released in the near future on the first few games of the season, it was hoped that this could be done this week but the statistician has been busy with other things, mainly keeping watch on the local hospitals and reporting the conditions of the Frost injured.

Speaking about your unsung heroes and heroines of trying times, we would like to pause right here to pay our respects to the brave little group of girls from the State Orphans Home who aided in caring for the injured at the Navarro County Hospital Wednesday. These young lasses, unused to the routine and scenes of tragedy accompanying such an occurrence, stepped right into the routine and rolled bandages, helped move patients, tidy up rooms, prepare beds, and aided in every way possible in caring for the injured.

In addition to the number of students from the State Home that aided in the work at the County Hospital, a number of practical nurses offered their services in caring for the injured, working heroically throughout the night and during the day Wednesday administering to the needs of the injured.

There were also a number of women who volunteered for office work, sorting the clothes sent in for the destitute families and caring for the anxious relatives which were about the building and grounds awaiting news from their loved ones injured in the twister.

Last but not least in the line for praise for their work are the regular staff of the hospital and doctors. When the call came for all available nurses to be dispatched to the scene of the tragedy Tuesday afternoon, thirteen student nurses, under the direction of Mrs. W. B. Taylor, superintendent of the hospital, went to the stricken area giving first aid treatment to the injured. Upon the arrival of the relief train, these same nurses and those remaining at the hospital to prepare places for the victims of the twister, went right into the work of caring for the injured. With only a few hours sleep, the regular nurses appeared early Wednesday morning for duty and worked late in the evening caring for the inmates of the hospital.

PRO ENFORCEMENT BUREAU TO START CONCERTED DRIVE

WASHINGTON, May 6. (AP)—The government moved today to suppress all sale of paraphernalia for liquor manufacture.

The drive is being undertaken under the supreme court decision yesterday that distribution of such equipment was illegal under the Volstead law.

Prohibition Commissioner Doran announced the step, saying the action of the supreme court in upholding the seizure of bottles, casks and corks in Pittsburg, on the ground that they had been displayed to attract purchasers who intended to use them in manufacture of illicit liquor, gave the bureau an effective weapon to proceed against every large concern producing such articles.

WASHIANGTON, May 6.—(AP)—The prohibition bureau may undertake a nation-wide drive against the vendors of paraphernalia used in connection with the traffic in illicit liquor.

Officials of the bureau today were engaged in a study of a supreme court decision declaring such equipment subject to seizures when offered for sale so as to attract purchasers who intend to utilize it in the unlawful manufacture of intoxicants.

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the treasury department said he believed the court's decision presented the enforcement unit with effective weapons to be used in combating the bootlegger who manufactures his own wares. The bureau has refrained from interfering with those who make home brew for home consumption.

In announcing the contemplated drive Lowman said the bureau had frequently sought to bring into the courts persons who sell beer making devices and malt products to which yeasts may be added to produce intoxicants but that such cases have been thrown out by the courts.

The supreme court's decision, rendered yesterday in a test case, is interpreted as including in its scope barrels, bottles, corks and all articles of use in manufacturing liquor, with the stipulation that to be subject to seizure they must have put on sale in a manner that would attract a prospective violator of the law.

Four National League Veterans Now Ineligible

CHICAGO, May 8. —(AP)— Four National league veterans have been declared ineligible by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis for failure to sign new contracts.

They are Edd Roush, Giant outfielder; Johnny Cooney, Boston infielder; Chester Nichols, Philadelphia pitcher, and J. Pete Fowler, pitcher for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Should the ineligibles decide to sign new contracts, they must be reinstated by Commissioner Landis with customary deductions from salaries for idleness.

PROCEEDS TO BE USED BY JUNIOR HIGH FOR SUITS

PIERCEMEN AND JEFFRIESITES WILL CLASH FRIDAY AT 4 O'CLOCK

Corsicana football fans will be given a treat Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when the Golds and Blues, coached by John Pierce and Ted L. Jeffries, coach and assistant coach respectively, clash in the benefit game at Tiger field. The squad has been training for more than two months in spring training and is reported to be in the best of condition. The squad was divided into the two sections several days ago and the two coaches have been giving their charges the final touches during this week.

The proceeds from this game will go toward the purchase of football uniforms for the Corsicana junior high school football team next fall, and the advance ticket sales was in charge of Dr. O. F. Allen, principal of the junior high schol.

In addition to getting an opportunity of aiding in the securing of the uniforms for the future Tiger performers, the cash customers will carry the colors of Corsicana high school on the gridiron next fall in an ambitious schedule which has been arranged, including games against all of the other members of District 4, University of Texas Interscholastic league, as well as a number of strong class A teams from other districts.

John R. Garitty and Roy Dillon, star football performers in former years, both puroducts of Corsicana high school, will be two of the officials.

The two rival mentors have not announced their starting lineups.

BEAUMONT ROMPS ON FORT WORTH IN UNRESTRAINED WAY

(By The Associated Press.)

The Houston Buffs found themselves sitting on top of the Texas league rainbow today, aftr bowling over the Dallas Steers yesterday 4 to 1 and accumulating enough points to rise above Shreveport's standing, the Sports having dropped a game to the Waco Cubs 8 to 7.

Beaumont's Shippers returned home in time to administer a 9 to 1 drubbing to the Fort Worth Cats, led in the onslaught by Billy Mullen, former Cat, who served up two homers and a triple.

Helpless before Wiltse's southpaw slants, the San Antonio Indians went down in defeat before the Wichita Falls Oilers, 4 to 0. It was their first game on the home lot after a disastrous tour on which they won three of fifteen games played.

Three players were struck off the Indian list in accordance with the Texas league rule limiting each club to 18 players, effective Friday.

Third Baseman Bill Huber and Pitcher Dick Moudy were released outright. Outfielder Luther Harvel was turned back to the Kansas City club of the American Association.

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEMBER CRITICIZES BODY

SAN ANGELO, May 6.—(AP)—Criticism of the action of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in passing resolutions against the federal farm board, was made here yesterday by F. P. Hagenbarth, councillor for the chamber and president of the National Wool Growers association, a cooperative working under the board.

In a wire to William Butterworth, president of the chamber, Hagenrath termed the chamber's resolution an "about face" from its previous support of farm relief and the farm board, and doubted whether the resolution was approved by the whole membership.

He suggested a poll of the national chamber on whether the resolution should be rescinded.

INTERESTING NOTES ON METHODIST MEET OPENED IN DALLAS

LOCAL MINISTER IN ATTENDANCE UPON GENERAL CONFERENCE SESSIONS

BY DR. J. W. BERGIN,
Pastor First Methodist Church.

DALLAS, May 8.—General conference met at 9 a. m. Almost the whole morning was spent in organization. The conference is a cosmopolitan affair. In front of me John R. Pepper sits with the Memphis delegation, a multimillionaire. Joseph Daniels is also in attendance. To my right is the delegation from Brazil and immediately in front of them the Chinese delegation. Millionaires, statesmen, labor leaders, Europeans, Asiatics, Mexico's delegates, Koreans and Japanese.

After the worship and organization came the address of the bishops to the conference. It is like that which the president delivers to congress. This time it was written and delivered by Bishop Edwin Mouzon of South Carolina and was a masterpiece of accclesiastical statesmanship. In the paper the bishops suggested a continuation of the commission of unification between the great branches of Mehodism in America.

So great and prolonged was the handclapping the bishops had to hold up his hand for cessation that he might continue the address.

Bishop Cannon is in attendance, had part in the morning worship. His delegation from Virgina is here also for the bishop and loud against the wet press which they claim is vainly endeavoring to injure his usefulness.

Dr. Culver is assigned to the important committee on Episcopacy, and was made chairman. That is the committee that deals with the bishops.

Your scribe was assigned work on publishing interests.

Bishop Hughes of Chicago is present and most popular in the southern clime.

The fraternal delegate from the Methodist church of England was introduced.

It seems most likely that the conference is going to allow China, South America and Mexico national autonomy and that will allow them to elect their own bishops and I am strong for that.

JUNIOR RED CROSS IS PRAISED BEFORE MAIN ORGANIZATION

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—Characterizing the Junior Red Cross as the world's greatest organization of children, Dr. H. B. Wilson, national director of the American Junior Red Cross, said today it was almost one of the most potent existing factors in a march toward greater international understanding.

Dr. Wilson was the final speaker before the four-day annual meeting here of the Senior American Red Cross. He said 7,000,000 junior members were now enrolled in American public schools, while 5,000,000 other children were enrolled in the schools of 45 other nations.

TWO MURDERERS TO BE EXECUTED CHICAGO FRIDAY

CHICAGO, May 8.—(AP)—August Vogel, the "whim slayer" and William Lenhardt, young Cleveland gunman, both convicted of murder, will be electrocuted tomorrow, unless final attempts to save their lives are successful.

Counsel for both planned today to seek writs of superseas from Supreme Court Justice Frederick De Young to halt the executions, pending appeals.

Vogel, a drug store clerk, shot and killed Lyle Perrenoud last fall in an argument following a traffic accident. Lenhardt was convicted of fatally shooting Milton Vasilopoulos, a restaurant owner, in a holdup in June, 1929.

Prediction Made Of Branch Banking

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—The prediction that "nation wide branch banking is coming and you can't stop it" was made before the house banking committee today by A. P. Biannini, organizer of the Bank of Italy and the Trans America corporation.

"You can't block economic progress," he said. "In these days of rapid communication and transportation, the little communities are drying up."

CENSUS ENUMERATION FOR OKLAHOMA SHOWS DRIFT OF POPULATION LARGER CITIES

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 8.—(AP)—As census enumeration nears completion in Oklahoma, figures received emphasize the drift of population from the smaller towns and villages to the cities of the 10,000 or over class.

Statistics available from 188 cities and towns of the state which already have reported official figures show an aggregate gain of 56,911 or 18.3 per cent despite heavy losses reported by the smaller communities.

Thirty-six of the 66 towns of less than 500 population, which already have reported, show an aggregate loss of 1813, or 8.2 per cent, while the remaining thirty towns to report in this class reported increases so small that they had only a fractional effect on the total percentage.

In the next classification, however, between 500 and 1000 only 27 of the 48 towns reporting showed losses, and the entire decrease for the 48 towns amounted to only 308 or .87 per cent.

Twenty-five of the 57 towns ranging from 1000 to 5000 showed decreases, but the other towns showed such substantial increases that the aggregate gain for this class is 5993, or approximately 5 per cent.

Only one—Pawhuska—reported a decrease in the 5000 to 10,000 classification, while seven others showed gains which brought the increase total to 14,342 or 36.6 per cent.

All cities in the 10,000 or over group reported heavy gains, with not one chalking up a decrease. The aggregate gain in this classification, so far, is 39,344 or 37.2 per cent.

TWO MEN INJURED NEAR STREETMAN IN TRUCK ACCIDENT

Emmett Lennon, about 38, and Levie Lennon, about 22, truck drivers for the Fortson Grocery company here, are in the Navarro county hospital suffering injuries received about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night when a truck in which they were riding turned over several times two and one half miles south of Streetman, Freestone county.

The two injured men were rushed to the Navarro county hospital where they received medical attention. Attaches at the hospital Thursday morning reported that the two men had had a restful night and that apparently the men were not as seriously injured as at first thought.

The elder man is married and is an uncle of the younger.

The model A truck turned over two or three times. Passersby picked the truck off the men and rushed the injured to Streetman where they received first aid. The Corley-McMahon invalid coach was rushed to Streetman and brought the two men to the local hospital.

At first it was feared that the two men had been critically hurt, and probably internally injured, but hospital attaches said Thursday morning that from the condition of the men, it was doubtful if internal injuries were suffered.

PRINCESS DENIES SCANTILY CLAD IN MAN'S APARTMENT

DENVER, May 8.—(AP)—Denial that her husband found her scantily clad in the New York apartment of William B. Quigley, Denver attorney, has been made by Princess Alimova Kunkel, a witness of a $50,000 alienation of affections suit brought against Quigley by William J. Kunkel, New York broker, the husband.

Testifying here yesterday, the princess said she had gone to Quigley's apartment to discuss her pending divorce suit. She was fully clad, she said, although Quigley, who was in the bathroom, dressing for a dinner engagement, later appeared in a bath robe.

She denied that she fell in love with the attorney, or that Quigley ever had made love to her.

FERGUSON STARTS LEGAL BATTLE FOR RIGHT MAKE RACE

CASE BEFORE SUPREME COURT COMPEL COMMITTEE CERTIFY NAME

AUSTIN, May 8.—(AP)—Declaring that the general amnesty bill passed by the legislature in 1925 restored the rights of former Governor James E. Ferguson to hold political office, the legal battle to require the state democratic executive committee to certify his name on the ballot was started in the supreme court this morning. Ocie Speer of Waco, former member of the commission of appeals, led Ferguson's fight to obtain a place on the ballot.

Speer charged that the only question involved in the suit was the validity of the amnesty act passed during the administration of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in 1925 and later repealed under the administration of Governor Dan Moody. Ferguson's attorney held to the contention that the legislature had inherent pardoning power and that the passage of the amnesty act was the voice of the people as expressed by the legislature.

He asserted that the effect of the amnesty act was to grant Ferguson full pardon and restore him to all rights of citizenship, regardless of the fact that it later was repealed.

Speer claimed the supreme court had original jurisdiction in the case and that the plea of the executive commitee that it be dismissed on this ground was futile. He also asserted the executive committee was acting in bad faith when it asked the dismissal of the suit on the ground that it had not had time to act on the application of Ferguson for a place on the ballot.

He declared the democratic executive committee had no power to posteribe Ferguson because of his impeachment, contending that in the light of the law his position as a citizen was the same as before the senate impeached him. He also stated the legislature has sovereign pardoning power.

Speer asserted that the legislature had as much right to pardon Ferguson as it had to impeach him.

He had been on the stage most of his life and was in the original "Old Homestead" company with Denman Thompson.

SENATE FOREIGN RELATIONS COMMITTEE OPENS HEARINGS ON NAVAL TREATY MONDAY

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—The senate foreign relations committee will begin its hearings on the London naval treaty next Monday with Secretary Stimson, chief delegate to the recent conference, explaining its provisions and the events leading to the agreement.

On the following day, the senate naval committee plans to institute hearings intended to ascertain the views of ranking officials of the navy department on the big-cruiser clauses of the pact. Chairman Hale believes they represent a departure from established American principles.

Thus, the senate early in the week will be officially embarked upon its discussion of the treaty, which administration leaders are confident will lead after a short time to its ratification.

The house appropriation committee yesterday struck from its report on the $377,036,000 naval appropriations bill statements predicting economies to be achieved as a result of the treaty. For passages praising the work of the American delegates and estimating future savings, it substituted a statement that "the committee did not undertake to pass upon possibilities that might flow therefrom in such a way as to indicate commitments."

It was explained that this action was taken because the committee felt it would be premature and out of order to discuss savings to come from treaty in advance of the senate's action on the pact.

PRESENT DAY YOUTH NOT AS MATURE AS GRANDFATHER WAS

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—In point of maturity and responsibility, says Dr. S. M. Gruenberg, of Columbia University, the modern youth does not compare favorably with his grandfather when the latter was young.

Addressing the international congress on mental hygiene, Dr. Grenberg today said that the youth of today is "appallingly unaware of alternatives" and "almost totally innocent in the making of choices."

The problem, he continued, is to discover a technique whereby the adolescent may be projected into a situation where the stakeks are real and the issue worthy of concern.

The maturity process of the modern child, in his opinion, is likely to be delayed by the lengthening of the period of schooling with the generally consequent freedom from economic obligation.

Presbyterian Synod Wants Liquor Control

TORONTO, May 8.—(AP)—Declaring the present liquor legislation in Ontario "entirely inadequate," the Presbyterian synod of Toronto and Kingston adopted a resolution calling upon the provincial and federal governments to take such steps as shall control the liquor traffic with the view to ultimate prohibition.

The meeting approved the action of the federal parliament in refusing clearances of liquor to countries having prohibitory laws.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH SESSIONS ENTERED FINAL STAGE TODAY

AUSTIN, May 8.—(AP)—After four days spent in sectional meetings, departmental conferences and discussion of the problem faced by churches as the result of the radically changing times, the annual Texas Christian convention entered its final stages today.

Yesterday the church was scored for its willingness to throw the cloak of santification about the state when war is declared, Rev. Harvey Redford of Arlington declaring the church should lend every effort toward the outlawry of armed conflicts.

Harry Hines of Wichita Falls was elected president of the convention for 1930-31, and Rev. Patrick Henry of Wichita Falls was elected vice president.

SEEK IDENTITY OF LARGEST VICTIM OF CHICAGO GANG WAR

CHICAGO, May 8.—(AP)— The body of one of the largest men ever slain in Chicago gang warfare remained unidentified today, and police, without knowledge of the man's identity, were still perplexed concerning the motive for the crime.

The dead man was six feet, four and one-half inches tall, and weighed 240 pounds. The only clues to his identity were marks in his clothes which indicated they had been purchased in Toledo, Ohio.

A thorough examination of the body convinced the coronor's office that the man had not been tortured, as at first indicated. He was shot 13 times.

Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, May 6.—(AP)—Political observers at the capitol see in Gov. Moody's statement pleading for harmony with'n the democratic party in Texas and relegating to the "forgotten past" animosities of the 1928 presidential campaign when enough democrats left the party and put in with the republicans to give Herbert Hoover electors a majority in the state, an appeal to the faction that refused to support the democratic nominees to forego their announced plan to place an independent ticket in the field this fall.

Those who have been barred by the state democratic executive committee from participating as candidates for state offices in the 1930 primaries because of their leaving the party in the Smith-Hoover controversy, were expected to hold a convention and organize an independent group of candidates in the event the state supreme court upheld the right of the executive committee to proscribe the errant ones.

A gesture towards forming an independent organization was made recently by Alvin Moody of Houston and other leaders in the Smith revolt of 1928, but definite action was deferred at the request of Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas until the supreme court could act on his application for a mandamus to compel the state executive committee to put his name on the primary ballots.

The theory is that Gov. Moody hoped to avert by his statement a stampede of the bolters to an independent candidates' banner.

He pointed out, without referring to the threatened break that there were many perplexing state governmental problems awaiting solution, and to keep alive the differences engendered during the presidential campaign would be ruinous to their proper disposition.

"Any dissention or disintegration in the democratic party in Texas is felt throughout the nation, because our state heretofore has been the banner democratic state of the union," was regarded as a significant passage in Gov. Moody's statement, designed to attract the faction that would be likely to support an independent movement in event the supreme court upheld the committee's right to bar as candidates those who bolted. This declaration was followed by the suggestion: "We should settle our differences within the party and present a united front against the enemies of good government."

Going further, he laid emphasis in this manner, designed, they say, to make the wavering ones take a second thought before going off behind another party flag:

"The democratic party is one of progressive principles and good government; the economic welfare of the South depends upon the democratic party advancing its progressive principles which are designed to protect and promote the welfare of the common people.

"The welfare of Texas very largely depends upon a united democratic party standing for honest and efficient government. It is the place for friends of good government in Texas. People in sympathy with the established principles of the party should help build it up and promote harmony within its ranks.

"The vote and influence of all supporters of good government is needed, and when some democrats are busy fighting other democrats over the issues of the last national campaign, a situation is erected which does not help solve state economic problems."

An appeal to the prohibitionists among those who might be expected to stray off was seen in this passage: "Some people seem to think the republican party is more friendly to prohibition than the democratic party, but in my judgment the republican party is more the enemy of prohibition than is organized democracy.

Political prognosticators see in these excerps the main cause for the governor's statement appealing for party harmony at this time. They regard it as timed to precede any outbreak that might occur from the supreme court's action, and intended as a timely admonition against hasty action.

STRONG STAND ON LAW ENFORCEMENT DUE BY METHODISTS

DALLAS, May 8.—(AP)—That the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, plans a more emphatic manifesto in favor of law enforcement than even Bishop James Cannon, Jr., could devise was indicated today on the floor of the conference when Josephus Daniels clashed with Bishop Cannon and won overwhelmingly the approval of the conference delegates.

Bishop Cannon is chairman of the church board of temperance and social service. Daniels was elected chairman of the conference committee of the same name.

This morning Cannon presented the report of his commission, and asked that two resolutions which were a part of the report not be referred to Daniels' committee. This brought an immediate protest from the former secretary of the navy.

"We want to make a declaration so strong and powerful on behalf of prohibition," Daniels shouted, "that it will be heard throughout the republic. For this reason the committee wishes to consider all suggestions of this subject before forming this declaration."

Cannon Resolutions.

The two resolutions which Bishop Cannon had asked to be considered by the whole conference without committee reference were:

That the conference petition congress to comply with the request of President Hoover for speedy action on all law enforcement measures.

That the conference express its gratification at the "sweeping decision of the supreme court" on May 5—the so-called "bottle ruling" which makes it plain that the prohibition act was designed to suppress the "entire liquor traffic" and "clearly indicates that any legislation to nullify prohibition will not be countenanced by the court."

The other clash of the morning was upon consideration of the report of the special committee on a constitution, which asked that its report, presenting the church's first written constitution, be considered without committee reference. This controversy was postponed by making the committe report a special order for tomorrow.

Also made a special order, for next Wednesday, was the report of the committee on nationalism.

Work Is Laid Out.

Work for the conference during the coming thre weeks was laid out today in the presentation of several hundred memorials and reports seeking changes in church laws.

Memorials, equivalent to bills before the state legislatures, were referred to the various committees, which planned to start work this afternoon digesting the memorials of recommending conference action.

Among the memorials submitted were several previously predicted to be leading questions before this qudrennial. These included several from Mrs. W. J. Peggott of Louisville, representing the Women's Missionary Society and asking for recognition of women in election to high office of the church. Memorials dealing with the use of tobacco, the trial of bishops on charges less than immorality, the controversial subject of Sabbath labor and others dealing more specifically with technical changes in the church law.

Chairman of the committee's were announced this morning. They included:

F. P. Culver, Central Texas, Episcopacy.

Forney Hutchinson, Oklahoma, Itinerancy.

B. F. Lipscomb, Virginia, Revisals.

Josephus Daniels, North Carolina, Temperance and Social Service.

Cannon's Stand Attacked

Daniel said Bishop Cannon's political activities had not helped him any "in the eyes of the church."

The conference voted to send a telegram to Rev. R. P. Shuler of Los Angeles, Calif., serving a sentence in jail for contempt of court. The message expressed disappointment at Rev. Shuler's being unable to attend, extended sympathy and stated the conference had confidence in his character.

There was some opposition to an expression in the mater, former Gov. A. C. Millar of Little Rock, Ark., stating that he did not believe such action would show "due respect to the courts."

After Bishop Collins Denny of Richmond, Va., who presided over the second day's session, had put the question and it had carried, opposition to sending the telegram developed when a delegate in the rear of the auditorium declared those from the Atlantic coast did not know as much about the Shuler incident as those on the Pacific coast and asked that someone explain it.

Shuler Is Defended

A motion that the telegram be not sent was put and carried, after which W. H. Nelson of San Francisco, substituted on the Pacific conference delegation for Rev. Shuler told the conference that if it knew the facts it would send Rev. Shuler the telegram, and attempted to explain the incident that caused Rev. Shuler's sentence for contempt.

Bishop S. R. Hay of Houston told the delegates that Rev. Shuler was "the most influential man in California on moral reform."

Josephus Daniels came to Shuler's defense.

"I have been in jail myself for contempt and I am proud of it." Daniels said, the delegates cheering him.

H. J. Bennett, chairman of the board of stewards of the Coolidge Methodist church delivered the address of welcome. The Woman's Missionary Society of the Cooledge church served meals gratis in the basement of the church. Rain and muddy roads cut down the attendance.

All reports of the various pastors were very encouraging. Among the high points of the reports were that 265 new members had been received into the churches in the district during the first six months; that there were 677 members of the Woman's Missionary Society in the district; $2,191.49 raised for the Waco Orphanage and $1,599 on the missionary special.

HEAVY RAIN FELL OVER COUNTY NEAR NOON ON TUESDAY

A heavy rain fell here Tuesday morning starting about 11:30 and lasting about three-quarters of an hour, that was the culmination of the continued showers during the past week. Reports from all sections of the county show that it was general and in some places was accompanied by a strong wind and considerable lightning. No material damage, however, was reported. A few outhouses blown down at Barry was the heaviest damage reported.

The heaviest damage will probobly be in washed farms as the rain fell almost in torrents.

Crops will be benefited generally as practically all of the cotton in the county has been planted and is up. Plenty of moisture will be supplied for corn and other grains, which was really needed as the showers for the past week have been local and in some instances light.

Streets in Corsicana were flooded and pedestrians found it almost impossible to cross them in some of the lower parts of the city.

Automobiles were drowned out and many motorists were stalled during the noon hour rush. Hurry calls were sent for service trucks, and when the sun came out a few minutes following the rain traffic was again resumed.

The rainfall here was 1.46 inches, according to the government gauge

OFFICES OF THREE SENATORS ENTERED; PROBE IS STARTED

WASHINGTON, May 6.—(AP)—Investigation and conjecture today followed the disclosure that the offices of three senators had been entered and rifled and a few articles stolen.

The officers were those of Senators McKellar and Brock of Tennessee and Smoot of Utah. The loot reported consisted of four pens and a desk pad, although McKellar also said that his desks, files and papers had been ransacked.

He told of the incident in the senate late yesterday, saying it occurred Saturday night and blaming "secret service agents" as the "probable" marauders.

W. H. Moran, chief of the secret service, denied the senator's assertion regarding his agents.

LUCKIEST DAY IN HIS LIFE, STATES MURPHY

"I used to have to get up six and eight times every night on account of my kidneys, and mornings I was tired out and nervous. Headaches, backaches and rheumatic pains in my arms and legs and muscles hurt me all the time. I suffered with indigestion and constipation and my whole system was full of poisons. It was the luckiest day of my life when I started Sargon. I eat anything I want without a trace of indigestion. I sleep without having to get up once at nights, all the pains in my body are gone and I feel years younger. My nerves are steady. I sleep good and never have headaches any more."—T. G. GUARDS OPENED FIRE WHEN TRIO START ROB BANK

THIRD MEMBER OF BAND INJURED BUT MANAGES TO MAKE HIS ESCAPE

DAYTON, O., May 6.—(AP)—One unidentified robber, was killed, his companion, James Royan, 21, St. Louis, was seriously wounded and two others were believed wounded in an attempted holdup of the Xenia Avenue branch of the Union Trust company here today.

When two of the four robbers entered the bank and told P. J. Kloos, manager, and several employes to "Stick 'em up" Patrolman W. L. Dempsey, secreted in a rear room, opened fire. Believing he had wounded them and leaving them to the care of his partner, Patrolman Bernard Hock, Dempsey started in pursuit of two other men seated in a machine outside the bank. When they saw the officer they ran up a side street and attempted to have a truck driver drive them away. The autoist, stalled his engine purposely, and Dempsey opened fire. Both were wounded critically.

In the meantime, the two robbers in the bank escaped, although police believed both were wounded.

The robbers secured no money.

DAYTON, Ohio, May 6.—(AP)—Two of a trio of bank robbers were wounded, probably fatally, today by two police guards during an attempted robbery of the Xenia Avenue branch of the Union Trust Company here. A third bandit was wounded, and a small girl passerby was shot by a stray bullet.

Police said one of the critically wounded men was James Royal, of St. Louis, Mo. The two robbers were struck by a score of bullets from repeating rifles in the hands of police guards.

Details of police were rushed to the scene to aid in capturing the third member who escaped. Police said the man had been hit.

The guards reported to police headquarters that the robbers entered the bank, displayed weapons and demanded money. The guards said they were hidden from view of the robbers, and as the trio stepped up to the cashier's cage the repeating rifles were turned on them.

Bank officials obtained the police guards last April 4 after the Xenia Avenue branch was robbed of $33,000 by five bandits armed with machine guns.

DALLAS POPULATION SHOWS LARGE GAIN PAST TEN YEARS

SAN ANTONIO, May 6.—(AP)—San Antonio has exceeded Dallas in population. This announcement was made by A. R. Holzschuher, supervisor of the census for San Antonio, today following announcement from Dallas that that city has a population of 260,397.

A rumor that the count for San Antonio would show not less than 291,000 brought no confirmation from Holzschuher.

DALLAS, May 6.—(AP)—The population of Dallas increased 101,421 during the last decade, according to figures released Tuesday by Col. William E. Talbot, supervisor for this district. The 1930 figures were 260,397, compared with 158,976 in 1920.

The population for Greater Dallas, including Highland Park and University Park, adjoining municipalities, was 272,399. Highland Park had a population of 8,346 and University Park 3,656.

The percentage increase for Dallas proper was 63.8.

Figures for districts close to the city limts were not announced.

The population of the metropolitan area of Dallas was estimated by the chamber of commerce on Jan. 1, last, as 308,000. Census bureau figures for this area will not be known until enumerators have completed their count.

Figures released today were subject to correction, and persons not yet enumerated have five days in which to turn in their names, Col. W. E. Talbot, census supervisor, said.

The following tabulation shows Dallas' growth during the past two decades:

1920—158,976.
1930—260,397.

The latest figure is an increase of 168,292, or 182.7 per cent since 1910.

The market ruled quiet all morning, prices remaining within the early range. While July eased off about 9 points from the early highs to 16.00, October remained steady, only 1 point under the early high at 14.61. The discount of October under July has not narrowed to 139 points. New York reported talk there of cotton being shipped back to New York from Italy and even from Japan for delivery on July ocntracts.

New York Cotton Firm.

NEW YORK, May 8.—(AP)—Cotton opened firm at an advance of 5 to 37 points with the new crop relatively active on covering and buying promoted by the failure of the early weather map to show any rain of consequence in the eastern belt.

Some further liquidation of old crop months was in evidence, but it was absorbed by spot houses, and, while fluctuations were somewhat irregular, the market was 9 to 10 points net higher on old crop positions, with May selling at 16.35 and about 26 to 36 points net higher on the new crop at the end of the first half hour.

Trading was less active later, but there was further undoing of spreads which involved sales of old against purchases of new crop months and a further narrowing of differences between the near and late deliveries.

Old crop positions seemed to find comparatively little support aside from spot house buying of July on the dips and May 8.09; July 8.02; October 8.74; Denet lower. New crop positions also reacted following the sharp early advance, with new October selling off from 14.60 to 14.53, but this price showed a net advance of 27 points, and new crop positions generally ruled about 21 to 28 points net higher at mid-day.

Futures closed firm, 12 to 48 points higher; spot steady; middling 16.60.

IN MEMORY.

Edgar Etheredge was born and reared near Kerens, Texas, and married at the age of 18. He lived near Kerens all his life. His health began to fail about five years ago, and God has called him home to live with his darling baby, Johnnie Fay. On March 24, 1930, his spirit quitly passed away ridding him of his suffering. He was so patient, and never complaining. He was ready to go, but regretted leaving his family. He had been a member of the Baptist church at Oak Grove since he was 17 years of age. He loved his church, was a devoted husband and father, and a loving son. He was always ready to make some one happy by some kind deed or word. He leaves a father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Etheredge, Kerens; one sister, Mrs. J. A. Travis, Corsicana; two brothers, Deedie Etheredge, Kerens, and Dick Etheredge, Corsicana; a loving wife and three children, Truly Etheredge, Corsicana, and Miss Jewell and Rayward Etheredge, Kerens, and one granddaughter, little Billie June Etheredge, Corsicana.

He was put away at 3 p. m., March 25, 1930, in Oak Grove cemetery by loving friends. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Jack Welch, pastor of his church. On his grave were placed many beautiful flowers in esteem of love.

A voice from above whispered, "I gave also I took away." It was our Father's voice of love, our consolation, hope, and stay.

We miss you Edgar from thy place. The shadow of your life is gone. We miss that smile that always cheered us.

Farewell, till in some happy place we will meet again to part no more. Thy tender memories and care will always be with us. 'Tis hard to break the tender cord when love has bound the heart; 'Tis so hard to speak the words, we must part, but thy memory will be cherished till we see thy heavenly face.

—Written by his sister, Mrs. J. A. Travis.

BRADY JURY BOX GRADUALLY FILLS; NINTH IS ACCEPTED

COURTROOM, DALLAS, May 8.—(AP)—W. L. Miller, 27, the first venireman examined today in the trial of John W. Brady of Austin, was accepted as the eighth juror.

Miller, a restaurant employe, said he did not belong to a church. The state exercised its ninth challenge on J. Dunn, a Catholic, the next man interrogated.

Michael Matrakithes, a Greek Catholic, was the tenth man challenged by the state. He, like Dunn, was not questioned by the defense. Brady, charged with the fatal stabbing of Miss Lehlia Highsmith, Austin court stenographer, is a Catholic.

O. B. Walker, widower who appeared to be past middle age, qualified as the ninth juror. He told Ted Monroe of Dallas, defense attorney, that "before your time" he sat upon a jury which assessed a death penalty in a murder case.

Walker, a mechinist, said he had no prejudice against a man taking a drink and that he had "nothing to do with" a man who drank to excess. He asserted he was not a church member but that he leaned to the Baptist faith.

The white-haired defendant, who exhibited more poise today than formerly and looked at the veniremen as they were being questioned for the first time, nodded his assent to Walker's acceptance.

Only 16 members of the special venire of 233 remained at the close of the morning session, but 200 talesmen had been ordered to appear this afternoon. Peremptory challenges were piling up, defense having used 11 and the state 10. Each side is allotted 15.

Negro Pleads Guilty Charge Assault Today

SHERMAN, May 8.—(AP)—A plea of guilty with a statement that sentence would be accepted was entered by George Hughes, negro, when arraigned before Judge R. M. Carter on a charge of criminal assault here today.

Texas rangers guarded the prisoners during the proceedings.

ARREST OF GANDHI BRINGS SMOLDERING REVOLT INTO FLAME

VIRTUAL STATE OF WAR PREVAILED IN DELHI WITH TWO KNOWN DEAD

(By The Associated Press.)

Widespread disorder, with two persons killed and up to 100 wounded, is the answer of Mahatma Gandhi's followers to the British government's arrest of "the holy one."

While the veteran nationalist leader sat behind the barred window of his cell in Yeroda prison, calmly spinning cotton on his miniature charka, emblem of the nationalist movement—trouble occurred in many parts of the restless peninsula.

The most serious trouble broke out at Delhi where police fired on rioters and killed two of them after a riot act, prohibiting the assembly or more than five persons, had been promulgated.

At Calcutta fifteen nationalists were injured in a clash with the police when they attempted to interrupt railway service between Calucutta and Ttekal Chat. A mob estimated at 5000 took part in the disturbance, many of them lying on the tracks to hold up trains.

Half of the textile mills in Bombay, which has two-thirds of the spindles in all India, closed as the result of a workless day proclaimed because of the arrest of the Mahatma.

DELHI, India, May 6.—(AP)—Two persons were killed in rioting in Delhi today.

The Delhi Indian infantry and eight armored cars established a state of armed defense this forenoon. The dead were natives.

A virtual state of war prevailed in the Chandi Chowk—the principal thoroughfare of Delhi. Through this street the armored cars kept up a continual patrol.

The chief commissioner immediga ecsde tnoit 1 ll ately following the riot promulgated section 144 of the criminal procedure code forbidding the assembly of more than five persons.

Vast crowds began also to make way to the neighborhood of the prison of the Mahatma at Yerowda, near Poona. As large forces of troops from the nearby garrison already had been ordered in readiness at that point no serious disorders were anticipated.

A cessation of business accompanied the strike of many thousands Gandhi followers throughout India. Schools and colleges were closed and students refused to participate in examinations for the bar which were to have been given at Delhi.

First Real Struggle

DELHI, India, May 6.—(AP)—The first sustained struggle between the authorities and the followers of Mahatma Gandhi occurred today when the police fired for ten minutes into a crowd assembled near police headquarters.

The police charged repeatedly into the mob, who refused to disperse. Several demonstrators received serious wounds.

Thirty Injured at Cimla

SIMLA, India, May 6.—(AP)— At least thirty persons were injured in clashes with police during the observance of the complete hartal or sympathy strike at Jullundhur today.

Two of the victims were reported in serious condition. News reaching here from several localities indicated that rioting was spreading in many towns.

Fifteen Indians Wounded

CALCUTTA, Bengal, May 6.—(AP)—Fifteen Indians were wounded today at Panchanantala, near Howrah, when police fired on them during a clash growing out of the Indians' attempt to enforce a hartal, or stoppage of work. The hartal was in protest against arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the civil disobedience campaign.

NAVSARI, Bombay May 6.—(AP)—Abbas Tyabj, selected by Mahatma Gandhi as his second in command, arrived here last night to take over the charge left vacant by the Mahatma's arrest.

He immediately telegraphed Pandit Motilal Nehru, acting president of the All-Indian national congress during incarceration of his brother, Jawaharlal Nehru, a request to keep Jalalpur as the meeting place of the congress working committee. This committee will meet again Saturday or Tuesday.

BOMBAY, India, May 6.—(AP)—The Indian military and police kept a close guard in all Indian cities today to prevent disorders growing out of the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of India's civil disobedience campaign.

A large number of shops in the Indian quarter of this and other cities were closed in conformance with the hartal or stoppage of work decreed yesterday by the all-Indian national congress committee when Gandhi's arrest first was made known.

Muslin shops remained open, despite efforts to have their owners close. A small number of mill hands remained at home, and 300 of them carrying red flags and posters paraded the mill area calling upon others to follow their suit, but there was no response.

PRESENT METHODS OF DEALING WITH CRIMINALS FAILURE

WASHINGTON, May 8.—(AP)—Present methods of dealing with criminal offenders were assailed before the American Law Institute today by Chairman Wickersham of the Hoover law enforcement commission.

Chief Justice Hughes praised the institution for its fact finding endeavors concerning a "restatement of the common law," which he said would need to be carried on for years.

With these facts, the chief justice said "even legislation may become intelligent."

Wickersham said the "present day practice of endeavoring to prevent crimes by augmented penalties" was based upon "a fallacy which has time and again been demonstrated."

Two Ohio Convicts Accidentally Slain Machine Gun Fire

COLUMBUS, O., May 8.—(AP)—Two sleeping Ohio penitentiary convicts were killed by machine gun bullets today when the weapon, mounted, mounted in the prison yard after last night's stockage fire, was accidentally discharged by Ohio National guardsmen. The victims were asleep in the E. and F. dormitory when the bullets passed through a barred window. They were struck in the head and died almost instantly.

The dead were James W. Ross, 40, Cuyahoga county, and Albert Freeman, negro, Cuyahoga county. Ross, admitted to the penitentiary in 1925, was serving ten to 15 years for burglary and larceny. Freeman, admitted the same year, was serving ten to 20 years for manslaughter.

A third convict was wounded. A bullet creased the side of Ernest Warren, Cuyahoga county, also a resident of the dormitory. He was serving two to 20 years.

Colonel Robert S. Haubrich, ranking guard officer at the prison, reported that the shooting occurred about 6 a. m., eastern standard time. He said that following last night's fire in the stockage, when about 400 unruly prisoners fired 88 tents inside the barbed wire inclosure, machine guns were mounted in the prison yard to prevent any break for liberty.

The colonel designated Captain James Collier to make an official investigation of the shooting. He said the guard regretted the shooting very much, but that such accidents "cannot be helped."

The tents destroyed by fire and erected to house the mutineers after they had damaged their cell locks will not be replaced, Col. Halbrich said. The convicts, housed in the stockade, will be forced to sleep in the open for the time being.

Officials said apparently a few of the prisoners fired some of the tents and that a stiff wind fanned the flames until all the canvas "cells" were destroyed.

During the fire the prisoners were orderly, but noisy, and some discussed the "job" while national guardsmen stationed inside the prison since the mutifiy stood with rifles ready for a break. Penitentiary officials refused to call the fire department inside, fearing the confusion would prompt a dash for liberty.

PLANS LAID FOR COMPLETE RELIEF AND REHABILITATION OF STORM STRICKEN TOWN

Plans for the immediate raising of funds to aid Red Cross workers already on the field at Frost, aiding in the caring for the wounded and homeless people as a result of a tornado late Tuesday evening, were made at a mass meeting of Corsicana citizens in the offices of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday morning.

The columns of the Corsicana Daily Sun were offered and accepted as a medium of broadcasting the appeal for funds for immediate relief and rehabilitation of the stricken area, and a committee, composed of J. E. Butler, chairman; Johnnie Garitty, J. N. Garitty, B. H. Jester, A. G. Elliott, I. N. Cerf, W. C. Stroube, Liston Tatum, H. R. Stroube, Mark DeWitt and Earl Ellis, were appointed by Wilbur A. Wright, chairman of the Navarro County Red Cross Chapter, to aid in the raising of funds.

It was announced at the meeting that workers from divisional and regional headquarters of the Red Cross were on the field and that the organization was in charge of relief work.

Offers of aid in furnishing workers and funds were received by the local chapter soon after the news of the tornado reached Dallas, Waco and Fort Worth, the local chairman stated.

Short talks were made by Major C. H. Mills and W. C. Stroube, urging immediate relief for the stricken area. It was stated that the initial requisition for 600 pounds of rice and other food stuff was sent to Frost early this morning by the local Red Cross Chapter.

Corsicana Homes Opened

Mesdames Allen Edens, David Shepperson, T. A. Miller, L. C. Polk, J. S. Callicutt and Will Thompson announced Wednesday morning that their homes were open to any needing shelter as a result of the tornado.

Others announcing homes opened for care of stricken were: Rev. David Shepperson, Allen Edens, John Hughes, John Davidson, Sam Johnson, Miss Porter Rice, W. M. Davidson, Robert Cocke, Robert Browning, H. B. Bomar, Mrs. McMullan.

W. O. Harwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, stated at the meeting that cars would be needed during the afternoon to transport families to and from Frost, and a number of cars were donated for use during the afternoon for this purpose.

H. J. Ellis, rector of the St. John's Episcopal Church and director of disaster relief for the local Red Cross Chapter, presided at the opening of the meeting, and declared before turning the meeting over to the local chairman, that Corsicana had always responded in a noble fashion to all calls for funds to be used in relief and rehabilitation work in various sections of the country, and that the citizens were responding nobly in this time of need.

Airplanes from Fort Worth and Dallas appeared over the stricken city Wednesday and made moving pictures of the scenes of reconstruction.

JUDGE REFUSES TO GRANT INSTRUCTED VERDICT COLLIERS

COURTHOUSE, Brownsville, May 8.—(AP)—An instructed verdict for Colliers Weekly in R. B. Creager's half million dollar libel suit against it was refused today by Federal Judge W. Lee Estes.

Counsel for the magazine contended unsuccessful that Creager's aide had not shown that the Crowell Publishing company, one of the defendants, had knowledge of alleged libel contained in "high handed and hell bent," and article printed by the magazine.

As concerned the other defendant, P. F. Collier and Son Distributing corporation, the defense claimed the plaintiff had not proved its responsibility for the article.

Creager's side rested conditionally today after testimony of a young newspaperman had jerked the suit out of much of its lethargy.

The republican national committeeman's lawyers closed its direct case with the understanding that if the court finally ruled admissable teh deposition of W. L. Chenery, editor of Colliers, they would be allowed to introduce it.

The court had ruled yesterday that much of Chenery's deposition, by whic hthe Creager counsel had hoped to attribute "utter recklessness" to the magazine, was inadmissable, but promised to take up the issue again.

News Writer Witness

H. G. Stillwell, Jr., valley news writer, was the morning's only witness for the committeeman. Through him counsel for Creager sought to show that months after publication of "high handed and hell bent" the magazine's representatives continued a policy unflattering to the party official.

The front page of the Brownsville Herald's issue of Nov. 8, 1929, was introduced, the top streamer saying "Colliers to plead truth in Creager suit."

Quoting Charles E. Kelly, chief defense lawyers, the article in the Herald said in part:

"We will not mince words. If. Mr. Creager says we said certain things about him, we will admit it and try to prove what he said."

"Did Mr. Kelley say that?" asked George Hill, Jr., of Houston, head of Creager's counsel.

"Substantially that," Stillwell replied. The witness added that Kelley had said, in effect, "we will plead truth and justification, and we are ready to go to battle here in Brownsville."

Claims Paper Favors Creager.

V. W. Taylor of Brownsville, another lawyer for the Weekly, insisted by questions on cross examination that the Herald had favored Creager.

"You can't find anything at any time in the Brownsville Herald against Mr. Creager," he roared out at Stillwell.

Plaintiff counsel objected, saying to Taylor, "You can't testify yourself, you know."

"Well, can you find it?" Taylor persisted.

"Yes," said the witness.

"Well, find it for me."

Stillwell declared on examination by Hill that he had "absolutely no interest" in the case and his connection as a newspaperman with it had been only that of a professional man seeking to give an impartial account of the occurrence.

Today's session got under way with the reading of another deposition made by Lee Maxwell, president of Crowell Publishing company, which, with P. F. Collier and Son Distributing corporation, is a defendant in the suit.

22 DEAD; 60 HURT IN FROST STORM; DAMAGE IS HEAVY

lons of drinking water to the stricken town.

Fire Chief Elmer Keith aided materially in clearing away wreckage, supervising the activities of a crew.

Corsicana Citizens Aid

Hundreds of citizens of Corsicana followed the example set by city officials Tuesday night, and responded early Wednesday aiding in any way possible.

Roads in all directions from the stricken town were lined with cars for more than two miles, as the thousands came to see the devastated areas or to lend their assistance. Pickets were stationed on the road at a distance of a mile from the town to turn the traffic.

Temporary headquarters for all activities were established in the lumber yard offices Wednesday morning, and a contribution list was started that brought a constant stream of contributors. No figures were available on the totals at noon.

Two Bodies Here.

The bodies of Prentice Fiew, aged 20, who died in a local hospital early Wednesday morning, and Leroy Bagley, aged nine months, who died late Tuesday afternoon in a local hospital, are being held at the Sutherland Funeral Home. The bodies were prepared for burial and will likely be forwarded to Frost late Wednesday afternoon for interment.

The body of Mrs. W. H. Bowman, 60, who died en route to the hospital here, is being held at the Corley-McMahon Funeral Home and will likely be forwarded to Frost late Wednesday or Thursday morning for interment. Her husband was killed instantly in the crash.

Hawkins Scarborough, judge of the Thirteenth Judicial district court, was one of the first arrivals in Frost from Corsicana and remained there all night. He excused all the members of the jury for the week and the number of criminal cases set for trial Wednesday and Friday were passed. The majority of the members of the jury panel left immediately for Frost to aid in the rescue work. Judge Scarborough returned to Frost.

Legionnaries Give Aid.

Andrew G. Steele, county superintendent and post commander of the American Legion Post here, accompanied by 32 Legionnaires, went to Frost soon after the disaster and began the patroling of the debris and aiding in the rescue work, handling traffic, etc., until the National Guardsmen were inaugurated. Mr. Steele said that he had tendered the services of the American Legion boys for Wednesday afternoon or night for patrol duty and other work, to relieve those on the scene. He said that probably 35 or 40 men would go to Frost Wednesday afternoon.

The roar of the tornado as it swept distructively through the west end of the county, was heard by residents of Western Corsicana, who reported that the continual roar and rumble was easily detected.

However, the funnel-shaped clouds could not be seen in Corsicana, as the low flying clouds and downpour between Frost and Corsicana obliterated the view.

It was stated that the black clouds of the tornado were seen quickly to speed from a westernly direction to an extreme northwestern area, with an almost instantaneous change of positions.

Ordered to Frost.

Eight Corsicana High school boys, who are members of the local contingent of the Texas National Guard, were called from classes Wednesday morning by F. A. Pierce, to go to Frost to aid in keeping order in the devastated area.

Those going were:

Richard Young, Carter Sneed, Theo VanderLaan, Chester Norris, Charles Simpson, L. G. Compton, Sam Haslam and Joe Miller Jefferson.

The Mexia Daily News, assisting the local chapter of the Red Cross, has started a relief fund, according to a message received Wednesday morning from B. H. Broiles, editor. Mr. Broiles requested information concerning the immediate needs of the storm sufferers.

Twenty-odd flashlights were procured in Corsicana by Jim Pugh and J. S. Simkins and forwarded to Frost, but they were later returned as the headlights and batteries from cars had been rigged up by electricians for sufficient lights.

Additional physicians from Corsicana who went to Frost and rendered aid were reported Wednesday afternoon as follows:

Dr. W. D. Fountain, Dr. T. W. Wade, Dr. E. P. Norwood, Dr. L. E. Kelton, Dr. L. C. Polk and probably others.

Corsicana was first informed of the disaster through the Southwestern Bell Telephone company. The operators, under the direction of Miss Lizzie Harlee chief operator, called all doctors and nurses, ambulances and drug stores and aid was dispatched without delay. The specials over the Cotton Belt were formed immediately and aid reached the stricken city in the shortest possible time.

Teachers of the McCord school showed unusual judgment and calmness when they led the seventy-five school children from the building which a few moments later was dashed from the landscape. From meager reports trickling in, the children were rushed into fields, road ditches and under culverts nearby when the tornado approached. None of the children were killed. Three Cook children, Eva, 13, concussion, Amon, ten, severe body injuries and Bertha Pearl, six, body and chest injuries and probable broken ribs, were students of the school and are in local hospitals.

The jail was the only public building that was not demolished.

Bryant Merrell of Irene, one of the teachers, was reported to have been injured, but he was not brought to Corsicana and no authentic data is available on his case. Miss Lillie Yarbrough, another teacher, received slight injuries and was taken to the Hillsboro hospital. It is not known whether Miss Lois Rogers of Hillsboro, the third teacher in the McCord school, was injured.

Six freight cars were hurtled from the railroad tracks, one being turned directly across the main line. The depot was moved about four feet from its foundation.

Covered Wide Territory

The twister hit Irene, Hill county about eight miles south west of Frost, demolishing several Irene houses and residences according to persons who had come from Hubbard to Frost. No one was seriously injured at Irene, it was reported. Considerable damage was fents immediately west of Drane.

R. L. Wheelock, mayor of Corsicana, took active charge of the situation and with the aid of a number of officers and members of the Corsicana, Texas, national guard units, placed patrols over the business district. A sandwich shop was opened after the Corsicana train arrived on the scene. Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and Deputies Walter Hayes and Jack Floyd, in addition to several members of the Corsicana police department, aided in the restoring of order and the organizing of the patrols to keep people from entering the ruins.

Twelve men were in the vault of the Citizens State Bank.

Scores of doctors from Corsicana, Blooming Grove, Italy, Mertens and Waxahachie were on the scene as fast as possible. The wounded were congregated in the home of Dr. H. H. Stephenson where they were given aid, later being transferred to the train and brought to Corsicana. A number of nurses from the Corsicana hospitals were on the scene and returned with the injured on the train.

Ambulances Answer Call.

Three ambulances from Corsicana, one from Blooming Grove, one from Italy, and four from Waxahachie were busy transferring the dangerously wounded from the homes to the station where they were placed on the cars. Several were too seriously hurt to wait for the train and were driven in the ambulances to Corsicana. Several were brought to Corsicana in private automobiles.

After those most seriously injured had been given first aid in Frost, a number of the physicians went out into the country to render aid to persons injured.

Muddy roads, occasioned by the several inch downpour of rain following in the immediate wake of the twister, hampered the rescue work in the town as well as hampered the arrival of workers and ambulances.

The train which carried more than 300 Corsicana citizens to the scene of the disaster, returned to Corsicana shortly after 9 o'clock and after securing a quantity of clothing and food for the destitute citizens of the West Navarro town, returned to Frost and returned later in the night.

Scores of frantic relatives were running about, inquiring concerning relatives, and others whose relatives were living outside of Frost were making efforts to locate them.

All telegraph telephone and light wires were out of commission, and many telegrams were taken to Blooming Grove where they were dispatched to relatives in other sections of the country, telling anxious relatives that the senders and families were safe—or of telling of someone who had been a victim of the tragedy.

Many were of the opinion that there was the possibility that other bodies would be discovered when the debris is removed. All of the business houses were razed.

Fire Followed Storm.

Fire broke out soon after the twister, but with the aid of the torrential rain and the Blooming Grove fire department, the blaze had been extinguished before the motor car containing five firemen and a quantity of hose from the Corsicana fire department arrived.

Only a fringe of houses on the extreme eastern and western sides of the town remained, and many of those had roofs and chimneys damaged.

One newspaperman from Hillsboro arrived on the scene of action via a handcar with a motor attached.

Scores of new automobiles and a large number of used cars were picked up and dashed about, being twisted into odd and gruesome shapes and conditions. Timbers, tons of bricks, and other debris was scattered over the landscape and in the wake of the tornado immediately north of the town, cars, timbers, household furniture and other wreckage was left as if sown by a monster hand.

As is peculiar to the twisters, many freak results were noted.

One man reported that he saw the danger approaching and ran for the back of his home. He had reached the back porch and the crash came and when it was over, the entire house with the exception of the back porch had been carried away.

Another instance was reported where a negro family of seven were huddled in their home and the walls and roof was swept away, leaving the family sitting on the floor, uninjured.

The roar of the angry tornado was heard at Blooming Grove plainly, six miles distance.

Electric Poles Snapped

Huge new electric power line poles were twisted in twain as if they had been toothpicks, and fence posts were snatched from the ground like so many straws.

The twister missed the water standpipe and tower.

One farmer residing immediately south of Frost was almost in the patch of destruction, a chicken house being picked up and swept away, while his residence and barn were not damaged.

The infant child of Jessie Satchel, negro, was picked up by the whirling mass and late Tuesday night had not been found, and no one had been reported as having seen the child since.

League Wooley saw the dangerous looking clouds approaching, it was reported, and went to the school building in his car for his child. He had just reached home when the crash came, killing his wife and child, and seriously injuring him. Late Tuesday night, he had not regained consciousness and did not know what had befallen his family. He incessantly was asking what had struck him.

Children Injured.

Many little tots lay in improvised cots, or in their parents' arms, mangled and lacerated, not knowing the why or wherefore. One little girl, probably two and one-half years old, a curly little blond, whimpered and sobbed softly, suffering with several head injuries and doctors thought with internal injuries. She was too weak to make much outcry.

Little negro children were huddled frightened and panic-stricken, many of them with bandgaged heads, hands and bodies.

One man's face had so much blood on it that he could not be distinguished from a negro. He had been burned severely about the face and body and was almost black.

Many after receiving first-aid treatment, and in a number of instances when they should have been in bed and not on the rain-soaked streets, returned to the scene of the disaster and heroically aided in any manner possible.

No effort was made to remove the wreckage from the stores and it was feared that when the debris was removed many of the bare walls remaining would crumble.

Lanterns and flashlights were at premiums and bonfires were built from the loose timbers to light up the gruesome spectacle of the National guardsmen guarding the stricken down-town area and with the hurrying ambulances taking the dead and injured to the concentration point.

One man reported narrowly escaping death or serious injury. Realizing that he could not escape the onrushing winds, he finally secured a death embrace on a fairly large tree. The twister wrenched the top and a portion of the trunk from the tree but did not hurt the man.

Clouds "Bounced."

Some of the persons who saw the approaching clouds, said that it bounced along, and that it looked like the clouds were in two sections, coming together like an explosion in the main section of town, with a huge funnel above the town.

The path was something like a half mile wide.

Members of the train crew on the Hissiboro-Corsicana branch motor car of the Cotton Belt lines also gave graphic descriptions. The train was just leaving Frost and was only a couple of blocks or more outside of the winds when the little town was practically wiped out. The trainmen speeded up the motor car and escaped by a narrow margin.

Odis Dickson, a youth hid behind a safe in one of the stores. Crawling out from the debris with numerous bruises and abrasions, he found his car which had not been wrecked, and sped to Blooming Grove where he spread the alarm and called for help. His car sped just in front of the torrential downpour that fell immediately after the hurricane.

The teachers of the Frost schools had all of the school children congregated on the first floor of the brick building. When the crash came, only the roof was taken and the remainder of the building was left. None of the children were injured.

Pilot H. J. Nichols, of Corsicana, accompanied by Felix Irwin, Earl Pressley and Elton Tinkle, flew over the stricken area. Pilot Nichols stated on his return to Corsicana late Tuesday that the path was approximately 300 yards wide and approximately ten miles long. He said that there were numerous farm houses demolished and much dead stock littered the ground in some localities. The storm approached from the southwest and proceeded northwestward.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company was the first to receive the news of the disaster in Corsicana when a telephone call was received, asking for all available doctors, ambulances, nurses, and medical supplies.

Festus A. Pierce and other druggists here returned to Frost with additional medical supplies late Tuesday night.

The local telephone operators gave the alarm and the ambulances from the Sutherland Funeral home and the Corley-McMahon Funeral home answered.

Doctors and Nurses Went.

A motor car containing a number of doctors and nurses, newspapermen, firemen and city officials, pulled out of Corsicana as soon as possible. The relief party was headed by Mayor R. L. Wheelock, Commissioners W. C. Stroube, Liston Tatum and W. P. Brown. Commissioner R. D. Fleming was out of town and did not make the trip. Included in the party were Drs. E. H. Newton, W. K. Logsden, C. L. Tubbs, T. P. McLendon, S. H. Burnett, H B. Jester, W. W. Carter, Dubart Miller and others. The nurses included Misses Erskine, Gilliam, Phillips and others, from the Navarro Clinic.

Other doctors later going to Frost were R. N. Holloway, H. H. Panton, F. C. Bowmer, Harry Ezell and A. W. Rogers. Mrs. Taylor, superintendent of the Navarro County hospital, and thirteen nurses, etc., were carried on the steam on the steam train.

First aid materials, cots, bandages, etc., were carried on the setaem train.

Major H. S. Phillips, superintendent of the Cotton Belt lines, and W. F. Murral, traffic manager of the same road were in the city and turned their special coach over to be used by the nurses. They also made the trip to the stricken area.

A. L. Springfield, local agent, and others acted quickly in securing accommodations and making plans for the relief trains.

The officials and employees of the Cotton Belt lines refused to accept fares from persons going to Frost or returning to Corsicana.

Track Blocked.

The main track of the railroad at Frost was blocked for a considerable time, but a wrecking crew arrived within a few hours, and began clearing the road. The motor passenger train was held up in Frost pending the removal of the debris.

The motor train was manned by Engineer Frazier, Conductor McKnight and Brakeman Kittenger. The steam train crew consisted of Conductor Shoemaker, Brakemen Ammerman and Ray and Engineer Collum.

The steam train on its return was met by ten members of the local National Guard unit members with a number of cots and other articles to be used in the caring for the injured. Thousands of spectators were in the vicinity of the Union station when the train arrived.

A large amount of sandwiches were sent to the area by the Corsicana Daily Sun. Other organizations and a number of individuals sent food and clothing.

Telephone Company on Job.

The Southwestern Bell Telephone company sent a crew of men to the town as soon as possible and set up a temporary station and line, starting service within four hours after the catastrophe.

All utility wires were in a tangled mass. The power was turned off as soon as possible, removing the danger from that source.

T. M. George of Blooming Grove was the first to return from Frost able to give a graphic description of the disaster in a long distance telephone call to the Corsicana Daily Sun.

"The entire business section is in a mass of ruins," Mr. George stated, "and many injured people were in the streets begging for assistance. I saw several bodies and I feel sure that there must be more in the ruins."

All Buildings Down.

He stated that there was not a building left standing in the business part of town but that the residential section seemed to have escaped the brunt of the storm. Mr. George urged that every available doctor and nurse be dispatched to the area.

On the special motor car going to the scene of the tragedy, each stop made on the regular schedule, people in the towns would tell of the graphic and gruesome wreckage, but when the train approached the town from the east, no smoke was visible, the fires having been extinguished, it did not appear that the town had been demolished, as the houses on the eastern section of the town, a hill, were in fairly good condition, and a number of the rescue party were of the opinion that the stories and reports had been exaggerated. However, this notion was short lived, as the motor proceeded to the center of the town, and then the carnage, wreckage, death and desolation came into view: wires everywhere, stores crumbled as if an earthquake had occured, timbers strewn over the entire landscape, the maimed, wounded and dying on cots, blankets, boards, etc., awaiting the time when the limited number of physicians could reach them.

It was a revolting and sickening sight to behold the desolation, and wreckage, and death apparent.

No Delay in Rescue.

Under the direction of the first contingent of doctors and nurses from Corsicana, the caring for the injured began in a systematic manner, with the physicians administering first aid to those in dire need, and the congregating of the injured and dead in central points from which they could be cared for and handled with dispatch.

The officers, National Guardsmen and others, under the direction of Mayor Wheelock, soon had order out of chaos, and the uninjured and visitors began inspecting the debris and houses, looking for additional people who might be caught under the wreckage, their efforts being hurried frantically as the afternoon was waning rapidly and realizing that the work must be done quickly as the night would stop the search, due to the light and power service being disrupted. American Legion members took the lead in the hunting of the bodies among the razed buildings.

Some of the portions of the brick buildings which had remained upright, crumbled to the ground more than an hour after the wreck.

In one of the markets in Frost, the entire top and front of the building was swept away and tons of brick fell inside of the place, but the showcase glass at the counter was not broken.

Loss a Million.

It was estimated by conservative business men of the Frost community that the damage in Frost would approximate $1,000,000, to say nothing of the losses in the farming sections from wrecked houses, losses to livestock and growing crops, and the torrential rains that washed the lands badly.

Two of the churches in the town and all of the gins with the exception of the Simms gin on the southeast side of the town, were destroyed. The new $4,000 stadium where athletic events and the Frost Fair and other community gatherings are held, was completely obliterated.

Under the supervision of Mayor R. L. Wheelock the entire business section of the city was roped off and placed under semi-martial law, with Commissioner Liston Tatum acting as adjutant and maintaining headquarters while the mayor directed relief.

Guards were assigned to regular beats to prevent looting, and within a short time after nightfall, the wrecked city was orderly. A pale moon was the principal light aside from campfires, with a few streaks of lightning at irregular intervals.

Under the direction of Mr. Poole of the Texas Power and Light company of Corsicana, Assistant City Engineer W. V. Mowlam, and others, a number of batteries were salvaged from wrecked cars, headlights were removed from the cars and temporary lights set up at vantage points.

The lights were of particular aid to the undertakers and embalmers as they prepared the victims of the tragedy for burial. The bodies of about seven white people were prepared for burial in a private home, while seven negroes were in an improvised morgue in the business section.

Shortly before nine o'clock, C. R. Hall arrived on the scene with a portable Delco-light outfit and lines had been salvaged from the within a few minutes temporary ruins and lights were spotted at various vantage points.

Canteen Established.

An impromptu canteen was established in the wreckage of a meat market where sandwiches, coffee and soda water were handed out to the survivors of the tragedy, guards, and rescue workers during the night under the supervision of Mrs. Harry Ezell, Miss Dorothy Drane, Mrs. W. W. McClendon, Miss Nannie Bell Taylor, Ensign William Stevenson of the Salvation Army. Cigarettes and cigars were handed out to the workers from headquarters.

A prize telephone crew restored telephone communication with outside points about 8 o'clock.

About ten o'clock about thirty members of Headquarters Battery and Battery D of the 132d Field Artillery, T. N. G., under the command of Capt. John J. Garner, and Lieuts. Charles Leighton and B. C. Caldwell, equipped with sidearms arrived on the scene in trucks and immediately began patrolling the wrecked areas. The military guards were augmented by about fifty civilian guards.

Mrs. A. W. Gunn, public health nurse, and other nurses from Corsicana continued on duty until about midnight, rendering first aid to those who needed it, and aiding in caring for the injured who remained in Frost.

Slay, a small community on the Navarro-Ellis county line, was also reported in the path of the storm and had a few houses damaged.

Several Killed at Bynum.

According to reports received at Frost headquarters, the storm took several victims at Bynum, southwest of Frost, including Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Isbell.

More than thirty business houses were wrecked in Frost, school building, and approximately 200 private homes. The Presbyterian church escaped without serious damage.

Dozens of survivors of the cyclonic disturbance, augmented by perhaps a hundred citizens of Corsicana, Blooming Grove, Barry and other nearby towns were anxiously waiting for daylight when a thorough search of the debris of wrecked homes and business houses could be started. Many expressed fears that other bodies were imprisoned underneath the wreckage.

To Search Rural Districts

Plans were also being made to search the rural district in the path of the storm for possible victims. Some attempts to bring bodies into the improvised morgues were thwarted by swollen creeks that were out of banks.

At various intervals during the night overwrought nerves and tingling imaginations would lead a person to believe that he heard a groan or perhaps saw a body in the wreckage of some building, and immediately a search would be instituted. All of the hunts had been fruitless at midnight however.

Weird tales were related by survivors of the disaster. One man was pulled from under wreckage and after his hurts had been attended to started searching the debris for his rescuers. Another took refuge under a piano when he saw that he was in the path of the storm and could not escape. Asked what he did, his shaky reply was, "The same thing you would have done—prayed."

The town was without water Tuesday night as a result of hundreds of broken pipes and connections that allowed the standpipe to empty within a short time after the storm swept the town. Cisterns and wells were being used to supply the needs during the night.

Red Cross Arrives.

Ned Campbell of St. Louis, field director of relief for the American Red Cross, arrived in Corsicana shortly after midnight, and went to Frost immediately. It announced that relief headquarters would be opened immediately with trained officers in charge of the work.

Auto and Truck Owners Help

Numerous trucks and automobiles met the steam train that brought scores of the injured people back to Corsicana about 9 o'clock Tuesday night. Ben F. Blackmon had charge of the assembling of the relief trucks meeting the train and among those who had conveyances at his disposal were the Collin Street Bakery, Corley-McMahon Funeral Home ambulance and truck, Corsicana Steam Laundry, American Bakery, H. Grantham Cleaners, Clowe Floral company and others.

A number of local national guardsmen also met the train and aided the Corsicana police department in caring for the traffic and the handling of the wounded en route to the hospitals. Many private automobiles were tendered and everyone who could aid the situation volunteered their services.

Assembling Supplies

John C. Hughes, president of the Corsicana Retail Merchants association; Fred White, secretary of the merchants association; Sydney Marks and E. H. Davis, went to Frost early Wednesday morning to survey the situation and returned to Corsicana later in the day and began assembling needed commodities to be sent to the stricken area.

Wm. O. Harwell, secretary of the Corsicana chamber of commerce; Miss Mattie Wilroy, Navarro county home demonstration agent, and other city and county officials went to Frost late Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Harwell and Miss Wilroy returned to Frost at 1:30 o'clock, carrying the Red Cross officials who opened headquarters there.

NEED COTS AND CLOTHING.

Additional cots and bed clothing are needed at Frost, according to information receved a t the Corscana chamber of commerce. Anyone desring to make donations of this nature are requested to bring the equipment to the chamber of commerce offices, where it will be dispatched immediately to Frost.

STATE-WIDE APPEAL

The national headquarters of the American Red Cross informed the Corsicasa Chamber of Commerce by long distance telephone from St. Louis Wednesday afternoon that the organization was making a state wide appeal for $150,000 to be used in the relief work at Frost.

starkest tragedy left by the storm. There a temporary morgue and an emergency first aid base have been established, for the want of space, in the same room. A light cloth, hung on a wire, divides the sufferers from the dead.

The emergency base is known as the Salon Progresso Franco Munoz and is ordinarily the scene of dances and other festivities of the Mexican farmer folk.

Grotesque in its setting of horror and suffering are the gaily colored buntings and festoons which drape the walls.

Dawn found 18 bodies laid out on the floor and on tables and chairs in the improvised morgue. Relief workers had taped the wrists and ankles of the dead to prevent the bodies from assuming groteque positions as rigor mortis set in.

Cries of Injured Only Sound

Save for the cries of the injured there is silence in the building. Nurses, most of them without their regular uniforms, move from cot to cot administering to the suffering.

At once cot sat a Mexican woman, immobile as a bronze statue, her face expressionless. On the cot her baby lay dying. At another improvised hospital cot of boxes planks and a blanket, a woman was feeding whiskey to a baby in the hope of stimulating the feeble life back to safety.

Nine members of a single family, that of Sarngoza Garzia, a Mexican tenant farmer who lived near Nordheim, were buried at one time there this morning. There was no funeral procession.

A truck was backed up to the hospital and morgue. Men silently carried nine home-made coffins, nailed together by the men of Nordheim, and stacked them in a truck, normally used for hauling vegetable produce.

Pitiful Lone Survivor.

The lone survivor, pitifully brave in the face of the sudden stark flash of horror which took his wife his brother-in-law, his mother-in-law and his six children, stood with his head bowed as the unceremonious funeral took place.

No one but the workers who dug the grave and lowered the victims to their rest, accompanied the truck to the cemetery.

Bitterly ironical is Garcia's story. His children were playing in the yard of his little home and he and his brother-in-law were working in the field when they saw the ominous black cloud approaching from the west. All but Garcia went into the house. They feared the storm.

Despite their warning, Garcia continued with his plowing. A few minutes later the sky split open and a whirling compact bolt of wind struck the farm, splintering the house and scattering its nine occupants for a radius of 500 yards.

Hound Keeps Lonely Vigil.

Garcia was whirled off his feet, but was uninjured. He alone survives. All that was left of the Garcia home today is a single stump. A hound which belonged to the family has kept a lonely vigil at the spot ever since the tragedy occurred.

Everything in the path of the storm was leveled. Strips of grass and weeds were ripped up like blankets. In some instances stout trees were uprooted. Deep scoops were cut into the earth at different points. Potatoes which were exposed to the terrific winds were peeled as neatly as though some housewife had pared them.

Many freak incidents of the storm have been reported. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pierce and their little daughter were sitting at dinner in their home, four and a half miles from Runge when the tornado struck at 5 p. m., Tuesday. The house, including the four walls of the room in which they were eating, was blown away, leaving the trio still seated and uninjured.

Woman Impaled.

Mrs. Rosa Nandez, who lived near Runge was in her home when the twister struck. She was whirled several hundred yards. A two-by-four was driven through her right thigh, transfixing the member. Workers sawed the two ends off of the timber before they died to remove her from the debris.

E. D. Parnell of Runge was one of the eye-witnesses of the cyclone. He was driving on a country road near Runge when he saw a dark gray cloud in the west. His description follows: "I noticed a big gray cloud which seemed to be moving swiftly from the west. As it approached the air grew still and sultry. The cloud came lower and grew blacker. Then it began rolling, the black folds tumbling over each other. Finally a black, whirling, twisting spout depended from the bottom of the now black cloud as it neared the earth. I turned and drove back to Runge."

Caney River on Rampage.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla., May 7.—(AP)—The Caney river started on another rampage this morning following the heavy downpour of rain yesterday and last night. This morning following the heavy downpour of rain yesterday and last night. This morning at 8:30 o'clock the river stood at 6 1-2 feet above normal stage and was rising at the rate of three inches an hour.

SIXTY-FIVE KNOWN DEAD IN SERIES OF TEXAS STORMS

Of three churches in the town one remained—the Presbyterian. The Baptist and Methodist churches were destroyed.

Employees and customers in the two Frost banks saved themselves when they ran into an open vault and closed the door. Both buildings were wrecked.

Half Population Homeless

Of Frost's population of seven hundred half were homeless. Streets were blocked with debris torn from wooden and brick buildings. Automobiles were tossed about like toys. One street was almost blocked with automobiles that had been in a dealer's window.

Most of the white dead at Frost were taken to Hillsboro and Corsicana as fast as ambulances could reach them over black land roads. One wrecked building was cleared and bodies of negroes, wrapped in sheets, were laid in rows to await burial.

Throughout the night, the Corsicana Salvation Army and women from that city served coffee and sandwiches to the rescue workers.

Many of the dead in the southern part of the state were believed to be Mexican farmers. The twisters struck a rich farming country midway between Nordheim and Runge and cut a path only 150 yards wide but 10 miles long. At the edge of Goliad county it lifted and passed out into the Gulf of Mexico.

Started In West Texas

The death-dealing wind apparently started at Spur and the Abilene district of West Texas, skipping to the Frost area, then landing more than 200 miles south near San Antonio. Another dip near Runge, and the tornado went out to sea.

Heavy, low hanging clouds darkened many cities in the state. A sandstorm and a snowstorm was reported in West Texas early in the afternoon. Several inches of rain fell in Centarl Texas, and the wind did much damage. No estimate could be obtained.

Communication with the southern part of the state was disrupted and today reports from Kenedy and Frost were slow coming in. Telephone and telegraph lines were being restored as quickly as possible but conditions remained under normal.

Relief Work Under Way in Two States

KANSAS CITY, May 7.—(AP)—While flood threats were current in Oklahoma, where tornadoes in two days had damaged a dozen communities, relief work in wind ravaged communities of Kansas and Missouri today generally was well under way.

Aside from one minor twister which struck late yesterday near Union Star, Mo., and destructive winds believed to have killed at least 73 persons in Texas, no additional storms were reported in the southwest. Seven victims of wind and other disturbances were added this week to a toll of more than 20 lives, taken Thursday by tornadoes in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and Iowa.

The minor disturbance reported last night at Union Star destroyed small buildings, damaged crops, and uprooted trees, but resulted in injury to no one.

Streams in all parts of Oklahoma, were rising rapidly reports indicated, with hprobable flooding of lowland imminent.

RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM AT FROST BEGINS IN EARNEST

RELIEF WORK WELL UNDER WAY; THOUSANDS VISIT STRICKEN TOWN SUNDAY

After being rigidly inspected by thousands of curious sightseers over Sunday, the little town of Frost began its reconstruction program in all seriousness Monday. Arrangements have been completed to start work on new business structures, and announcement of others is expected during the day.

A large group of school boys, men, and trucks under the direction of W. V. Harrison, superintendent of the Frost school, began work Monday morning clearing away the debris from the streets in the residence section, preparatory to starting work on the rebuilding and repairing of a number of wrecked houses.

In the business section, the remainder of the debris was removed, and the preparations made for the starting of new buildings. Repairs were well under way on the temporary home of the Citizens State Bank, which will use its old building until plans can be completed for a new structure.

According to authoritative estimates, the loss in the Central Tex-

PROPRIETRESS OF ROOMING HOUSE QUESTIONED IN TRIAL AUSTIN ATTORNEY

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—John W. Brady, former Texas jurist who stabbed to death Miss Lehlia Highsmith in Austin Nov. 9, was painted as a broken, dejected old man who is now "but a shell of his former self" by 12 defense witnesses in his trial here today.

RIVERS FLOODING LOWLANDS FOLLOWING TORRENTIAL RAINS

HIGHWAYS OF STATE GENERALLY IMPASSABLE AS RESULT HIGH WATERS

(By The Associated Press.)

Highways in many parts of Texas were in impassable condition today from the heavy rains of Saturday, despite sunshine yesterday.

The weather bureau predicted the Trinity river at Dallas would be at the bank full stage today.

Lowlands at Trinidad were flooded and the river stage was 35 feet, seven feet above the flood level. Residents of lowlands had been warned to seek higher ground with their families and livestock. Other rivers in the state were rapidly approaching flood stage.

All highways out of Waco were reported open to traffic for the first time in 24 hours, although train service south of there on the Southern Pacific was halted as a result of a washout near Bremond.

Travel on highways leading to Corsicana, Temple, Austin, San Antonio, Belton, Malakoff, Gatesville, Georgetown, Mexia, San Marcos, Grand Saline, Rosebud, Chilton and other towns in SouthCentral and East Texas was still hampered by mud and high waters.

Relief work was hindered in the section 50 miles north of Austin where a tornado struck at Anderson Bend Saturday, killing F. W. Tucker and injuring several other persons.

Torrential Rain at Houston

HOUSTON, May 12.—(AP)—Torrential rain interrupted traffic for a time in some parts of the city early today. At 9 a. m., when the rain ceased, a total of 3.15 inches was reported, more than one inch of it falling in about two hours today.

Mothers's Day Flight Home Is Fatal to Three

SANTA ROSA, Calif., May 12.—(AP)—It was Mothers' Day, and Robert Smith, 18, decided to fly home from Modesto, Calif.

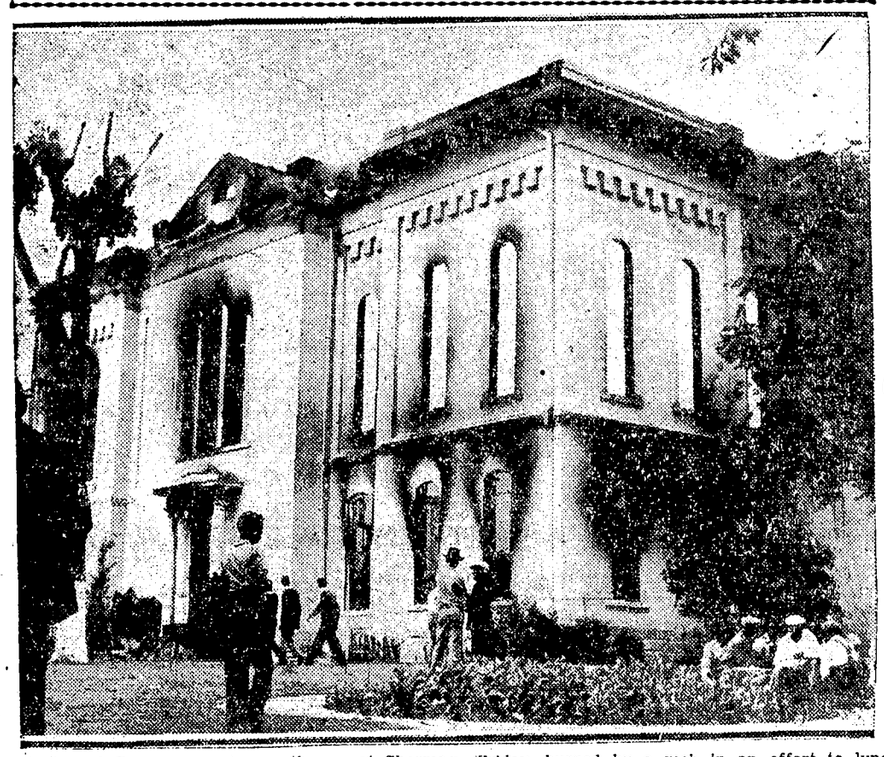

Fay Berry, 25, of Modesto, an aviation student, volunteered to pilot an airplane to the ranch home of Smith's mother, Mrs. Joseph Smith, near here. The two young men were accompanied by Berry's brother, Arnold Berry, 23.

Preliminary to landing, the pilot flew over the ranch buildings in order to attract the family. The ship nosed dived and crashed.

Death came with the fall of the pilot. Arnold Berry died a few hours later in a hospital. Robert Smith, suffering cranial and spinal injuries, today was not expected to recover.

Mrs. Smith, standing beside her husband to wave a welcome witnessed the tragedy.

WHEN MOB BURNED COURTHOUSE

Ruins of Grayson county courthouse, at Sherman, Friday, burned by a mob in an effort to lynch George Hughes, negro, who confessed he had attacked a white woman. The negro had been locked in a vault for protection by officers and he was sufficated when the building was burned. Later the vault door was blown in and the negro's body taken and dragged through the streets.

MILITARY RULES SHERMAN FOLLOWING DISORDERS BY MOB

MILITARY COURT TO PROBE DISTURBANCES AND SEEK TO FIND LEADERS

SHERMAN, May 12.—(AP)—Presided over by Col. L. S. Davidson, the first session of a military court of inquiry into mob activities here last week was held today.

Col. Davidson explained that the workings of the court were similar to those of a grand jury. He said names of persons summoned before the court would not be made public because to do so would defeat its purpose.

"The best people of Sherman" will be called to identify members of the mob, the officer said.

With the arrest today of four additional alleged members of the mob which burned the courthouse in its efforts to lynch George Hughes, negro, charged with criminal attack, the court had 20 riot suspects ready for investigation. Nineteen of them were in jail and the twentieth was released subject to call.

SHERMAN, May 12.—(AP)—Ruled by National Guardsmen and Texas Rangers, business in Sherman was resuming its normal pulse today after last week's mob disorders in

SEVERAL BRIDGES WASHED AWAY AND OTHERS REPORTED DAMAGED

Considerable damage was reported to the roads in Navarro county during the past several days from high water, according to the four county commissioners who were in Corsicana Monday morning to attend the regular session of the commissioners court.

An old bridge spanning Hackberry creek between Chatfield and Monfort in Commissioner Ben F. Guynes precinct was swept away, and a bridge over a branch near Rice was lost. Mr. Guynes said that crews will begin the rebuilding of the bridges Tuesday if the weather is favorable.

D. D. Sawyer, commissioner in the Dawson area, said that the abutments at the new steel bridge spanning a large slough in the Akers territory in Richland creek bottom between Dawson and Purdon, were swept away by the high waters. "Richland creek lacked only one foot being as high as ever in its history in theAkers bottom," Mr. Sawyer reported. He said that a number of smaller bridge abut-

STATE PRISON OF TEXAS HELD TO BE GREAT FIRE HAZARD

FIRE MARSHAL MAKES PESSIMISTIC REPORT FOLLOWING EXAMINATION

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—Recommendation that immediate steps be taken to eliminate fire hazards at state penitentiary was made yesterday in report of the investigation of Huntsville plant by J. W. Deweese, state fire marshal. He declared the prison the worst fire hazard ever to come under his observation.

Although he condemned the plant generally, Deweese placed particular emphasis on the hazards of the hospital, cell blocks and administration buildings.

The report stated that of these three, the hospital was the worst, declaring that its interior construction is a mass of wood with open stairways. Among the recommendations made concerning this building were: Installation of adequate fire escapes and fire shutters; construction of a fireproof room for the storage of X-ray films, and protection of other buildings from any fire which might start in the hospital. The X-ray films, the report stated, now are being stored in a room of the hospital that is separated from the rest of the building only by a wooden walls. The practice of storing large quantities of anesthetics in the building also was condemned.

No Interlocking Device.

Recommendation that provision be made for the quick release of prisoners in the cell blocks through installation of an interlocking device, was made. Under the present system, each cell has an individual lock and Deweese pointed out that

Steak and Gravy Lover Fight For What She Wants

DETROIT, May 12.—(AP)—Miss Hazel Chapman admitted she is quite a tolerant young lady, except in the matter of steak without gravy, and Michael Sarkerlosan's black eye is fine testimony of Miss Chapman's strong feelings in the matter.

Miss Chapman came to Michael's restaurant at 3 a. m. demanding steak and gravy. Michael brought forth a fine steak.

"Where," said Miss Chapman, with lifted eyebrows, "is the gravy?"

Michael was apologetic. The gravy department, he explained, closed at midnight. There could be no gravy.

Whereupon Miss Chapman hurled the steak full into Michael's face, following with a few swift rights and lefts. Chairs were overturned, Michael yelled, and a policeman came. Miss Chapman went to jail.

"Nothing makes me madder," Miss Chapman told the judge as she paid a $25 fine, "than to order steak and gravy and get nothing but steak."

Meanwhile Michael wears a beefsteak poultice on his damaged eye.

POLICE TRAP WAS SCENE HOT FIGHT MONDAY MORNING

PROPRIETOR OF BEER FLAT AND TWO GUNMEN DEAD; OFFICER WOUNDED

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Three men were shot dead in a trap laid by police officers in a North Clark street beer flat early today.

The proprietor of the place, Jack Hayes, and two of the four gunmen who attempted to rob him, were the men killed. Joseph Altmeier, special investigator for the state's attorney's office was seriously wounded.

Altmeier said the two robbers who escaped also had been struck by bullets.

The beer flat is at 3258 N. Clark street. Altmeier, who specializes in extortion cases for the state's attorney, was hidden in the flat with four other officers.

The robbers, posing as policemen, were admitted to the flat by Mrs. Hayes, who with a niece was in the room with the officers. The police suddenly emerged from their hiding place and opened fire on the robbers. One of them darted into the bedroom where Hayes was hiding. Apparently thinking Hayes was another officer, the robber shot him and then himself was shot as he turned back.

One of the slain robbers was identified by his fingerprints as Harry White, 38, alleged killer and robber, sought in connection with the killing of a victim during a robbery last December. The other was identified by Mrs. Hayes as a

METHODISTS VOTE REPRIMAND PRESS IN BISHOPS' CASE

GENERAL CONFERENCE EXPRESSED VIRTUAL VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN LEADERS

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, today expressed a virtual vote of confidence in its bishops in the form of an unqualified reprimand of the press which has been giving publicity to charges against their general superintendents.

The action was taken on a motion of Dr. G. C. French of Denton, who said, like his friend, Andy, he was regusted with the treatment accorded the bishops since the general conference began.

Dr. French asked the conference to name a committee of five to draw up the reprimand, and to turn it over to the press with the request that it be given as much space as was given the charges placed before the ecommittee on Episcopacy by the Rev. Rembert Smith of Washington, Ga., who is not a member of the conference and who has fought the four bishops named ever since the general election of 1928.

The vote to name the committee was passed by a large majority, only a few scattered nayes being recorded. The secretary will name the committee—the chair having questioned the propriety of one of the bishops naming it—and the reprimand will be forthcoming probably later today.

Bishop Talks

After the motion had been adopted, two of the bishops named, for the first time since the complaints were preferred before the committee on Episcopacy, talked to newspapermen regarding these complaints.

Heretofore all except one of the bishops, whose answer was fully carried, have refused to discuss them.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS RAIDS ON OFFICES OF SENATORS; JOHNSON IS VICTIM AGAIN

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—Mystery surrounding the recent ransacking of the offices of members of the senate deepened today with word that the quarters of Senator Johnson of California, had been entered and rifled a second time in as many nights.

The second raid upon the Californian's office occurred on Saturday night. Six file cases were forced open and their contents scattered about the room. Nothing was reported missing.

Much agitation followed the first ransacking of the office on Friday night and great surprise was expressed at the boldness of the mysterious visitor in again breaking into the office.

Johnson's secretary said a check of the guards at the senate office building had shown that a man was on duty outside the office until midnight on Saturday, but that later one entrance had been left unwatched.

Raids on the Californian's office followed similar mysterious visits to the offices of Senator Smooth of Utah, and McKellar and Brock of Tennessee. McKellar expressed the opinion on the floor of the senate that it was the work of secret service agents.

In some cases several small desk articles were reported missing, and in each instance files of correspondence were thoroughly ransacked.

After the rifling of Johnson's office Friday night acting Chairman Hale of the senate rules committee sought to have additional guards employed at the office building, but found that special authority for such action must be had from the senate as a whole.

However, a special guard has now been assigned to Johnson's office.

The Takao is a 10,000 ton craft, fifth of the famous Nachi class and ninth of Japan's cruisers carrying eight-inch guns.

TWO MEXICAN AIRMEN ARE VICTIMS ELECTRICAL STORM WHILE ON TOURING FLIGHT

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 12.—(AP)—The bodies of two Mexican airmen, who survived bullets but died in an electrical storm, lay today in a morgue at the Atlantic coast town, Porto Limon, after a gallant but futile attempt to break the world's long distance flight record.

Colonel Pablo Sidar, ace of the Mexican aviation corps, and his co-pilot and mechanic, Captain Carlos Rovirosa, fell into the sea about three miles south of Porto Limon about 5 p. m., yesterday while flying to escape an electrical and hail storm.

With their crash, far off the planned course down the American Pacific coast to Chile and across the Argentine a distance of 6,000 miles, they had traveled about 1,000 miles. They left Cerro Loco near San Geronimo, Oaxaca, Mexico, at 5:21 a. m., almost twelve hours before the disaster.

Boats from Porto Limon recovered the bodies of the two men, that of Colonel Sidar being dashed into fragments. The monoplane, of American make, and known as the "Morelos," after the Mexican independence hero, was smashed into bits.

Cause of the accident was undetermined, but it was believed to the unusual weight of the plane together with hazardous atmospheric conditions brought on by the approaching storm caused the crash.

The accident recalled the death of Captain Emilio Carranza, at Mount Holly, New Jersey, two years ago, after he had set out from New York on a non-stop flight to Mexico City. Lightning was believed to have struck his plane.

Colonel Sidar largely had taken the place in Mexican affection left vacant with the death of Carranza. Just 27 years old, he had earned a name for daring and skill. During the revolution on a year ago his observer once was shot dead in the plane beside him.

Rovirosa also was a member of the Mexican air corps and fought in the last revolution. He participated in the Mexico City to Kansas City air race last year.

WOMAN WILL MAKE ACTIVE CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNORSHIP

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—(AP)—Nominated by the Socialist party for governor of Maryland, Miss Elizabeth Gilman, daughter of the first president of Johns Hopkins University, and prominent in labor and welfare enterprises, said today that she would wage an active campaign.

She was named yesterday by the Socialist state convention at Hagerstown. Miss Gilman will oppose Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, seeking a fourth term after nearly 12 years service.

Miss Gilman long has been identified with the Socialist party and was actively engaged in social relief work during the miners' strike in West Virginia and the Western Maryland shopmen strike several years ago. She is also prominent in women's club work here.

Her conception of radicalism is "getting at the root of things" she said today. She said she is for closer co-operation with labor, favors public ownership and Democratic control of basic industries, and unemployment and old age pensions.

Houston Laundry Owners Assisting

E. D. McCarver, owner of the Corsicana Steam Laundry, received a check Saturday from the Houston Laundry Owners association for $100, asking that he disburse it to the best advantage.

The letter follows:

Dear Mr. McCarver:

Inclosed you will find a check for one hundred dollars, which the Houston Laundry Owners association asked that you disburse in whatever way you think best for the tornado sufferers.

We are only sorry that we cannot make the check more than this, but perhaps any amount will be acceptable to you.

With kindest personal regards,
Houston Laundry Owners Association

The check was turned over to the Frost Relief Fund by Mr. McCarver.

The Corsicana laundryman has been engaged for the past several days in salvaging and cleaning cleaning clothing and bedding from Frost and a large quantity of goods has been saved.

MUCH DAMAGE TO ROADS OF NAVARRO COUNTY BY RAINS

ments were damaged in his precinct.

Commissioner Guynes said that the water in Chambers creek bottom had fallen considerably Monday morning and that automobiles were making the bottom under their own power. Motorists desiring to cross Chambers creek Sunday were towed across by wagons and teams, furnished free by the state highway department. Hundreds of motorists from Corsicana viewed Chambers creek ovreflowing Sunday afternoon. Commissioner Sawyer stated that Richland creek was overflowing Monday morning at the Ward bridge crosisng on state highway 31 and was about hub deep to an automobile, and was apparently rising.

Richland Creek Rising

Richland creek was reported rising on the national highway 75 between Corsicana and Richland Monday morning, after falling some Saturday and Sunday.

Commissioner Jack Megarity reported that an old bridge on a little creek east of Emhouse was swept away, and the abutments to several bridges were lost. A road crew is fixing a crossing over the bar pits on Briar creek on the Corsicana-Emhouse road. Traffic can proceed on that route all right by sometime Tuesday afternoon.

Commissioner Harris of Blooming Grove, said that an old bridge spanning Richland Creek, on the Johnson road between Frost and Irene had been destroyed by the high water. He said that Richland and other creeks were slowly falling late Sunday in the northwestern sections of the county. Several bridge abutments were washed out in that area. Commissioner Harris stated that it would be several weeks before crews could get in the area to fix the Richland creek bridge due to the mud and water.

Some Creeks Fall, Others Rise

From the reports available, the creeks in the north and northwestern sections of the county are gradually subsiding while in the south and southeastern sectors, the flood waters which were so high late Saturday and Sunday in the north and northwestern flood areas are reaching the southern and southeastern sectors.

The hard rains of the past weekend, however, packed the roads and the ground was not as soft as it was feared would be the case.

Due to a washout on the tracks on the Waco division of the Southern Pacific lines between Marlin and Bremond, trains from Bremond to Waco were detoured via Corsicana and transferred over the Cotton Belt lines to Waco Sunday.

The track had been repaired Monday and the trains were going over the regular routes.

It was reported at the local railroad office that all trains were running on schedule Monday.

The rainfall here for the 48 hour period ending at 7 o'clock Sunday morning was 3.07 inches.

Both bishops pointed out that every bishop's administration is subject to review in every phase; that every member of the church has a right to bring before the committee any complaint; and that every conference scores of such complaints filed.

One bishop, who asked that his name be not used, said that Rev. Smith would have given many thousands of dollars for publicity which he had been given free of charge, and expressed the opinion that they would not be considered seriously either by the committee on Episcopacy or by the general conference.

Dallas Treatment Scored.

"The general conference," he said "has never been so disgracefully treated as in Dallas." He intimated further that 'higherups" were responsible for repeating what was termed "slander."

Both superintendents characterized Smith as an "honest but eccentric" Methodist preacher. When it was pointed out that they previously had balked all attempts of newspapermen to get facts from them personally, instead of depending on hearsay, they declared that they had not paid any attention to the charges, or complains, one bishop saying that they were not charges until brought to the floor of the conference.

Believe Constitution Will Be Defeated

DALLAS, May 12.—(AP)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, today voted down a move to postpone indefinitely further consideration of the proposed written constitution, which had ben before the body for several days. The vote was 212 to 180 against postponement, but delegates saw reflected in its defeat of the constitution when it is finally voted on, since it would require a two-thirds majority vote to adopt it.

J. W. Perry of Nashville, Tenn., moved to postpone after it had been written into the proposed constitution that he general conference could fix the terms of bishops for any number of years it should care to indicate. At present bishops' tenure is for life.

The amendment to have the conference indicate the number of years a bishop shall serve was adopted 217 to 170, after an amendment fixing the term at eight years was withdrawn.

Perry's motion brought a semblance of disorder, and when there was a ripple of laughter after Dr. G. C. French of Denton, Texas, had suggested that the convention proceed at the task of perfecting the document, then refer it to a committee for further consideration and "probably minor alterations," the speaker reprimanded his disturbers.

"That's nothing to giggle about," he shouted. "That would be a regular legislative procedure."

Small Kansas Bank Closes Its Doors

INDEPENDENCE, Kas., May 12.—(AP)—The Wayside State Bank at Wayside, small town near here, did not open for business today. G. R. Beesley, cashier, said the bank could not continue business because most of its funds were tied up in the Commercial National Bank at Independence, Kas., which closed March 13.

The bank had deposits of $60,000, capital of $10,000 and a surplus of $4,250.

EAST TEXAS C. C. CONVENTION MEETS RAINY WEATHER

PORT ARTHUR, May 12.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Arthur L. Hyde addressing the fourth annual convention of the East Texas chamber of commerce here today explained problems confronting the farmers of America and remedies for a few of them.

He declared over production and low prices were lowering agriculture from its rank as the first industry in America. He said that the aid of organization such as the East Texas chamber of commerce all over the country was being enlisted by farmers and the government in solving problems of farmers in various sections of the country.

"High taxes form about 30 per cent of the farmers expenses," he declared, "and if the other industries were forced to pay taxes in that proportion then the other industries would soon go broke.

"But they don't have to pay it. They make the consumer pay. The farmer can hardly get value from his products let alone add taxes to their prices."

Other speakers on the morning's program were former Governor W. P. Hobby of Houston; Hayne Nelms, president of the East Texas chamber of commerce; R. M. Kelly of Longview, "daddy of the organization," and Judge Raymond L. Murray of the criminal district court at Beaumont.

This afternoon the delegates estimated at 5,000, will parade in what is expected to be one of the biggest parades ever in Texas to be climaxed by "The Star of Texas," a pageant in which 170 school children will take part.

PORT ARTHUR, May 12.—(AP)—Wet weather had a big day of it yesterday and continued this morning, the second day of the fourth annual East Texas chamber of commerce convention here.

Rain which fell intermittently all day yesterday failed to dampen the ardor of visiting delegates whose numbers today had reached the 5,000 mark.

The first business session of the convention opened with an address of welcome by Judge Raymond L. Murray, Port Arthur, with response by former Governor W. P. Hobby, Houston. Reports of various committees was to be followed today by an address by Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture.

Marlin and Longview are bidding strongly for choice as next year's convention city.

Strong opposition was voiced in caucuses yesterday to a move for making the annual meeting a conference instead of a convention, with the idea of reducing its size, thus affording some of the smaller towns an opportunity to entertain the organization's annual meeting.

as storm area will total almost three million dollars, while the damage within Navarro county alone will total almost a million, counting damage to towns, and rural destruction.

Red Cross Relief Work.

The state-wide appeal for relief funds for the stricken communities is still being continued by the Red Cross officials, as the work of rehabilitation is swinging rapidly under way. Work was seriously hampered Saturday by the terrific rainfall, but all through Sunday Red Cross workers were working out their case reports, and issuing requisitions for tents, cots, cooking utensils, and food supplies.

Meal cards were issued to the storm victims and workers Monday, and semi-permanent kitchens have been established in two portable houses borrowed from the state highway department. Officials in charge of the kitchens estimate that 2500 meals per day were served during the first three days after the storm.

J. M. Daniels of Kerens is in charge of the temporary kitchens, and estimated Sunday that some 250 workmen, storm victims, guards and others would be cared for by his crew for several days.

Through the courtesy of railroad officials, box cars have been spotted on spur tracks for the distribution of food, clothing and furniture to the storm sufferers; one car is devoted to clothing while another is used for hardware and food supplies.

Cash Needed Most.

More than 1200 loaves of bread were on hand late Sunday afternoon as a result of huge contributions sent in during the past few days. Waxahachie citizens have sent in a large contribution of kitchen utensils and dishes. Additional contributions of this sort are welcomed by the relief officials, but they declared that the greatest amount of good could be secured from cash donations, so that the purchases could be made from Frost merchants, aiding them to re-establish themselves.

Lynn P. Talley, governor of the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank, arrived in Corsicana Monday morning shortly after nine o'clock and immediately started on a tour of inspection of the stricken area in company with A. G. Elliott, president of the Corsicana National Bank, and J. H. Roberts, cashier and trust officer of the First National Bank of Corsicana.

It was also learned that John E. Surratt, Kessler plan expert and city planning authority, would be in Frost probably on Tuesday to aid the city officials in laying out their new community.

Seeds Are Needed.

With a great need for quantities of seed of all kinds, the citizens' committee of Frost asked Sunday that all people who were planning to make contributions of cotton seed or fed seed to get in communication with I. A. Sanders, mayor of Frost, not later than Tuesday so that arrangements could be made to purchase all seed needed that were not donated, and have them available for the farmers within the next few days so that they could plant them as soon as they were able to get back into the field.

A crews representative informed Mayor Sanders Sunday that the farmers and business men of that community would make a donation of cotton seed. Others have mentioned the possibility, and all are urged to send their pledges to Mayor Sanders of Frost at once.

Another Building Ready.

Clean-up plans in general were under command of Henry Rogers, but he was devoting the majority of his attention to the business district while Superintendent Harrison cared for the residences. The building which will accommodate five additional stores was completed Monday.

Traffic and idlers were still being kept out of the restricted area Monday, as hundreds of workmen aided in the rehabilitation processes. No one was permitted inside the business area unless they had secured a pass from J. E. Lattimore.

A detail of troops from Battery D, 132 Field Artillery, under the command of First Lieut. Randolph Robinson remained on duty Monday and will continue to aid in policing the city for several days. The majority of the troops from Corsicana and Hillsboro under the command of Major Horton B. Porter were withdrawn late Sunday afternoon, after having been on duty since early Wednesday.

Guardsmen Praised.

Citizens of Frost were loud in their praise of the guardsmen who stepped into a difficult situation and handled it without trouble. They praised the militia for its courteous conduct at all times, and especially for coolness in the face of extreme difficulty.

It required the services of all of the guards Sunday to handle the huge crowds that thronged the ruined city. All roads leading in were choked with automobiles, each loaded to capacity with sightseers.

Commissioners of the various precincts in Navarro county sent a number of trucks to Frost to augment the number sent by the State highway department, to aid in clearing away the remainer of the rubbish. The highway department also loaned the city several portable houses.

Union Church Services.

Union Sunday school and church services were held Sunday morning on the first floor of the high school building, with Rev. W. W. Richeson filling the pulpit. A resolution was passed unanimously against doing any work on Sunday during the re-construction period. Both of the services were well attended.

Superintendent W. V. Harrison announced Saturday that the Frost schools would be resumed as soon as repairs could be made on the building. The fire walls, roof, and super-structure were removed by the storm. As soon as state inspectors make their report, the repairs will be made and the sessions resumed. The schools have an enrollment of 364, and will have a graduating class of sixteen this year. Two students were killed by the storm.

Farmers near Frost are being asked to bring in samples from their water supply to Red Cross headquarters where it will be tested. Innoculation work against typhoid started Sunday.

To Rebuild Business Houses.

Financing of some new buildings has been arranged and others were being planned. Civic leaders at Frost said Sunday that they believed that every business would be rebuilt.

Sanitary conditions are being well cared for in the storm-stricken city, and officials denied emphatically the rumors that some epidemics had gotten a start; authorities said that the preventative work was being done to prevent start of disease.

The staff of American Red Cross officials was augmented Saturday and Sunday by the arrival of Miss Anna McMechin, case worker, midwestern disaster relief staff; Miss Louise Kinney, director of nurses, and Miss Cathryn Monroe, case supervisor. Miss Lula Severs is the area director. Others workers are expected within the next few days. Miss Clovis Markum has been transferred to Corsicana headquarters, while Miss Allene Hickey is chief stenographer for the Frost branch.

Through the courtesy of Texas Power and Light Company, an electric refrigerator was installed at Frost to keep anti-toxins and perishable supplies.

Many Thousands Visited Frost

Thousands of cars brought a crowd estimated at from 25,000 to 50,000 people to the devastated area in and around Frost Sunday, representing every section of the state.

The roads were in good condition and rather dusty despite the heavy rains Saturday, and from early in the morning until late in the evening the highways in all directions from the stricken town were choked with traffic.

All of the national guardsmen sent into the town were on duty throughout the day handling the heavy files of cars, and numerous tangles resulted, but for the most part the crowd took the long delays caused by the tangles in good spirit.

Cars were seen from Dallas, Fort Worth, Waco, Hillsboro, Corsicana, Malakoff, Athens, Mexia, Abilene, Breckenridge, Denton, and other points.

A majority of the people found parking places for their cars and made a walking tour of the ruined business and residential sections.

BRADY DEFENSE IS OPENED WITH STATE WITNESS ON STAND

in his presence the morning after the stabbing, she did not hear Odie Green and Otto Crider deny that they saw the stabbing. The witness said that she heard no such denial.

Hughes, then, referring to Mrs. Crider as the "go between" for Brady and Miss Highsmith, handed her several letters. She admitted five of them had been addressed by her to Miss Highsmith while the latter was in Baytown, Texas, during July, August and September of last year.

Thre other letters exhibited were addressed to her and were postmarked from Baytown, the witness admitted Mrs. Crider would not swear she received them because the contents were not exhibited to her by the attorney. Each of the letters contained enclosures, two of them addressed "to John" and the third "for you know who."

Cross examined by William McCraw, district attorney, Mrs. Crider said Brady called at the apartment house almost every morning to inquire about mail.

Change Noted in Brady.

C. M. Spradley of Allen, Collin county, testified he had known Brady since 1909 and that their relations during that time had been "very friendly." He said he had known Brady as a judge of the Court of Civil Appeals, as county attorney and as being connected with attorney general and banking departments of the state.

Until two or three years ago, he continued, Brady had always been very friendly and affable whenever he met him on visits to Austin.

Since that time, however, the witness said he had noticed a marked change in Brady in that he would barely speak when they met, often failing to do more than look at him with a dull stare.

"During the past two or three years Judge Brady has not seemed normal mentally to me," Spradley said. "In my judgment during that time his mind was unsound."

Say Defendant of Unsound Mind.

Lynn B. Milam, Dallas attorney, testified he knew Judge Brady when both were students in the University of Texas. He characterized the defendant as a peaceable, law-abiding citizen. Lack of association with Brady in recent years the witness said, made it impossible for him to know whether there had been any change in his mental condition.

W. B. Head, chairman of the board of the Texas Power and Light company, swore he had known Brady 20 years.

"Have you noticed any marked change in his general appearance, conduct and conversation during the past few years?" he was asked.

"Yes, there has been a material change," the witness replied.

"From your observation and association with Judge Brady do you consider him to be of sound or unsound mind?"

"I think he is of unsound mind."

Three other witnesses, C. F. O'Donnell, George Waverly Briggs and W. H. Ratliff, all of Dallas, told of knowing Brady for a number of years.

CANNON ADMITS HE SPENT PRACTICALLY ALL FUNDS RECEIVED

METHODIST BISHOP EXPECTED APPEAR BEFORE LOBBY COMMITTEE IN FUTURE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., wired Chairman Caraway of the senate lobby committee today that he had personally received and disbursed practically all funds of the Virginia anti-Smith committee in 1928 but had made no report to congress because it was not required by law.

The telegram was sent from Dallas where Bishop Cannon is facing church charges because of his anti-Smith activities. He said he would be busy for some time but would appear before the lobby committee as soon as possible.

He will be questioned on testimony by Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts, wet, and E. C. Jameson, New York, capitalist. Tinkham charged that Jameson had contributed $65,300 to Cannon for use in the Virginia anti-Smith campaign but that the bishop had reported receipt of only $17,000. Jameson said he had contributed the $65,000.

Caraway announced that a reasonable time would be given the bishop to appear.

SECRETARY STIMSON FIRST WITNESS IN SENATORIAL PROBE

as well, for future limitation by France and Italy.

Secretary Stimson said he would discuss the general features of the treaty in an "informal way," and would be glad to answer questions.

The American deegation went to London, he said, "without any specific instructions, written or verbal," from President Hoover.

"Of course we knew his general views," he continued, "At no time did he intervene. The one man who had the right to instruct us, left the conduct of the negotiations in our hands.

"The responsibility for the treaty therefore rests on the American delegation."

Two Main Problems

"There were two naval problems before the conference," Stimson continued, "one was reation of the navies of Great Britain, America and Japan.

"The other was relation of the navies of Great Britain, France and Italy. Those two problems were united only by fact that Great Britain was a party of both.

"So far as American navy was concerned, we were not related in any sense to the navies of France and Italy.

"We were interested only insofar as Great Britain was concerned.

"Of these two problems, is the first we reached a complete agreement. In the other only a partial agreement was concluded.

"Every question which came up was a matter of full conference of the entire American delegation.

Unanimous Agreement

Stimson said that on "every major question" there was unanimous agreement in the American delegation. He praised the work of Senator Reed in mainaining contact with the naval advisers.

Only on "minor technical questions" he said, "did differences appear."

Reviewing disarmament steps in past years, the secretary said:

"More important than reduction is the influence of such treaties on the will to peace. It's a beneficient circle working from limitations to confidence and from confidence back to further limitations.

"When this London conference was called there was an exceptional opportunity offered for an agreement between Great Britain and this country."

He considered the treaty, he said, a "fair agreement," giving assurance that Great Britain is not building against the American navy.

PIONEER WOMAN RULER OF INDIAN STATE, BEGUM OF BHOPAL; DIES AT AGE 72

BOMBAY, India, May 12.—(AP)—The death of the Dowager Begum of Bhopal, one time the only woman ruler of an Indian state, was announced today. She was 72 years old.

Her Highness, Nawab Sultan Jahan Begum, the Begum of Bhopal, was called the "Queen Victoria" of India.

She was the last woman ruler in her own right in India, as well as the last of a female dynasty of three generations which, ruling from 1844 to 1926, raised a backward rural state with a precarious income of about 50,000 rupees a year, to the status of a modern European state, with an annual income of 5,000,000 rupees.

The Begum was eighth in lineal descent from the famous Dost Mahammed Khan, who founded the dynasty in 1709. Her grandmother, Sikander Begum, was the first woman ruler, coming to the throne in 1844, and remaining in power until her death in 1868. She was followed by her daughter, Shah Johan, who ruled until 1901, when she in turn, was succeeded by her only daughter, Sultan Jahan, the late Begum, who ruled until 1926, when she abdicated in favor of her third and only surviving son, Hamidullah Khan.

The late Begum was instrumental in introducing modern methods of life and establishing new institutions which brought her principality to high level.

Under her direction, railways and modern roads were built; hospitals, schools, and post offices were established, and vaccination and agricultural research were introduced.

Even in 1881, under Shah Jahan Begum, Bhopal boasted 93 schools. But the late Begum increased that number to 253 by the second year of her reign, and in addition, established two schools for girls, and one women's industrial school.

The state also has its own miniature army, consisting of 136 cavalry, 113 infantry, and 718 "Burphal Pioneers," as well as two motorized Machine Gun sections.

Bhopal, a state of nearly 7,000 square miles, is situated in the Malwa plateau, a great agricultural district. It has a population of 692,448, and ranks among the independent Moslem states of India, second only to Hyderabad, the Begum being entitled to a 19-gun-salute, while the Nizam of Hyderabad, the ranging prince, receives a 21-gun-salute, the same that is accorded by American warships to foreign kings.

The Begum has travelled widely in Europe, studying the institutions which she has reproduced in her own country. In March, 1926 she attracted considerable attention when she journeyed to London in royal style with her third and only surviving son, to petition the British India office to permit her to abdicate in his favor rather than that of the children of her first two sons, both of whom died in 1924. Throughout her travels, the Begum remained " in prada," or heavily veiled, in accordance with the religious custom of her country.

While in London, the Begum strictly observed the Moslem Lenten season for fasting and prayer, which covers a month from the middle of March to the middle of April. During that time, it was decreed for her entire entourage that no food might be taken between sunrise and sunset, and that no good Mohammedan might kiss a woman, smoke, or smell perfume during daylight hours.

STATE PRISON OF TEXAS HELD TO BE GREAT FIRE HAZARD

it would be practically impossible to release all prisoners in time to prevent loss of life in case a fire started in the block. Construction of additional emergency exits also was urged.

Deweese asserted the construction of the cell blocks is such that inmates themselves could set the building afire and urged that the wooden ceilings be covered with metal to prevent incendiary fires. The report also urged that fire doors be installed in unprotected openings in the fire walls and that the cell blocks be divided into three distinct fire areas.

Fire Would Cost Lives.

Inspection of the administration building disclosed, the report stated, that a fire in the cell blocks would probably result in serious loss of life in the cell blocks. The construction of the administration building is such, Deweese stated, that heat and smoke from a fire would spread to the cell buildings quickly and suffocate the inmates.

Recommendation that a fire wall be constructed between the admisistration and cell buildings and that automatic fire doors be installed in all openings, was made.

Further provision for exit from the third floor of the administration building was urged.

It was recommended that steps be taken to protect the remainder of the buildings, which are grouped closely together within the walls.

MILITARY RULES SHERMAN FOLLOWING DISORDERS BY MOB

which the Grayson county courthouse was burned and George Hughes, negro, accused of assaulting a white woman, killed and burned.

Col. Lawrence E. McGee, commander of Guardsmen who took charge Saturday night under Gov. Dan Moody's martial law proclamation, prepared today to conduct a military court of inquiry into the disturbances.

Sixteen men were held in jail last night awaiting action of this court today. Fourteen of them also were charged by federal officers with violation of the prohibition laws.

A coroner officially declared Hughes to have been suffocated in a records vault in the courthouse. His body later was dragged through the streets and burned in the negro district.

Col. McGee announced his intention of leaving nothing undone to "get at the bottom" of these occurrences.

Guardsmen today were stationed at the corners of the courthouse square with machine guns and were patroling the streets. A heavy guard also was mainatined about the jail, where the 16 men arrested after the riots were held for hearing.

Sunday Was Quiet.

Quiet prevailed in the city all day Sunday, the troopers' greatest difficulty being in directing the traffic of swarming thousands of motorists drawn by curiosity.

A military order prohibiting the congregating of more than three persons on the streets tended to cramp the sightseers.

Most of Sherman's negro population of 1,500 to 2,000 was back at home after having fled at the inception of the mob action. Officers were paying especial attention to protecting heir lives and property.

At the Presbyterian church, the congregation yesterday arose in a body to "repudiate the rioting as representative of the best citizenship of Sherman" and to "resent" the destruction of property.

Dr. T. A. Wharton, pastor emeritus of the Presbyterian church, launched a movement to pay negroes for property damaged by the mob and planned to start a financial campaign today.

A statement signed by a number of business men expressing regret at the disorders was read at the Baptist church.

Cases Against Six Women Delayed For Day at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Ark., May 12.—(AP)—Disposition of the cases of six of 14 women involved in prohibition law violators in Miller county, was delayed temporarily today with the announcement that the federal court for the Western District of Arkansas, scheduled to open today, would not open until Thursday. No reason for the delay was announced.

Meanwhile, the Bowie county, Texas, grand jury which convened today, heard evidence against two 25-year-old widows charged with bootlegging.

THREE THOUSAND KILLED.

TEHERAN, Persia, May 12.—(AP)—The death toll in recent earthquakes in Persia today was stated to be nearing 3,000 persons. The shocks are continuing but have lessened in intensity at Tabriz. They still are very severe around Salmas. The horror of the situation in that district today was heightened by terrific thunderstorms whose rumble added panic to the already terrified inhabitants.

Two Men Held.

Later police arrested John Slattery and Valentine Maguire, described as pals of White. They were seized in a flat frequented by White, and police believe Slattery and Maguire may be able to tell who White's accomplices were.

Although scores of shots were fired, the action took place to quickly it was over in less than a minute.

Witnesses said that the shooting began almost as soon as the four men entered. The condition of Altmeier wass too serious to permit questioning, but police believe he was present in the beer flat with an alde to prevent a threatened extortion.

Altmeier was credited with having uncovered the evidence that resulted in the recent prosecution of "bomb syndicate" prosecutions. In the past few days there have been four bombings, indicative of a revival of this method of intimidation. It is presumed that Altmeir had gone to the place on a tip that extortionists were to come there during the night.

DRIVING RAIN IS ALLY OF OFFICERS AGAINST RIOTERS

SHERMAN QUIET AFTER NIGHT OF RIOTING AND KILLING OF NEGRO

SHERMAN, May 10.—(AP)—Driven to cover by a driving rain, a mob which took the life of a negro, George Hughes, late yesterday, burned Grayson county's $60,000 courthouse and destroyed three blocks of buildings in the negro section had disbanded today and National guardsmen apparently had the situation under control.

Until a heavy rain began falling early today, the mob, in groups of 25 and 30, stood on street corners, their numbers decreasing gradually. When harassed officials believed they had the situation well in hand, another fire broke out and the fire department went into the negro section again. The mob was estimated to number about 700 shortly after midnight.

Fifteen men, charged with inciting a riot, had been arrested. Nine men, one of them a captain of national guard troops sent to Sherman from Dallas yesterday after the mob had four times stormed the courthouse where Hughes was locked in a vault, were injured.

Hughes, charged with criminal assault, was in the courthouse awaiting trial yesterday about noon when a mob formed. In four attempts to storm the building the mob was unsuccessful in reaching Hughes, but, by pouring 10 gallons of gasoline in the basement, set the structure afire.

Break Vault Open.

Not satisfied with the report that Hughes had been cremated when the courthouse was wrecked, the mob late last night broke open the vault. Several blasts were set off and finally an acetylene torch was resorted to. Reports conflicted as to the manner of Hughes' death. Some believed he had suffocated while the courthouse was in flames while others believed he was killed by one of the blasts in front of the safe door.

Today only national guardsmen were on the streets, several on every corner. A meeting of the city commission was scheduled for today to discuss the situation.

Many of the negro population were in the homes as usual but others were said to have hidden in the woods.

Shortly after daybreak, national guardsmen went to the negro section and cut down Hughes' body which was placed in the hands of an undertaker.

Guardsmen to Remain

At a meeting of city, county and military officials this morning it was decided to keep national guardsmen in Sherman until there was no further possibility of a renewal of the rioting.

Among those attending the conference were A. S. Noble, county judge; Arthur Vaughan, sheriff; Jesse Eubank, mayor; O. J. S. Ellington, city manaager; Colonel L. E. McGee nd Colonel L. S. Davidson.

After the conference Sheriff Vaughan denied a rumor that he was to resign. He said he had no such intention but would remain in office and give his full support to military officers and others investigating yesterday's trouble.

Texas rangers under command of Captain Frank Hamer, sent here to guard Hughes during his trial, also remained and continued their investigation into the situation.

Several In Jail

Those arrested in connection with the rioting were placed in the county jail, which was guarded by approximately 100 guardsmen. They were taken into custody between 2 and 4 o'clock this morning while several houses in the negro section were on fire.

It had not been determined what steps would be taken in their cases.

Due to the burning of the negro undertaker's establishment, the body of Hughes was taken in cahrge by a white undertaker.

The guardsmen, numbering 300, had the situation well in hand and no further outbreak was anticipated. Besides those stationed at the jail, the uniformed men were stationed in groups at srategic points in the city.

Angry Mob Wrecks Numerous Buildings

SHERMAN, May 9.—(AP)—One of the maddest mobs in the history of the Southwest continued its orgy of destruction early today after taking the life of a negro, George Hughes, whose attack on a white woman kindled the mob spirit to white heat, and wrecking three blocks of buildings in the negro section.

Not satisfied with the negro's death, the mob burned the body of the 41-year-old offender, set fire to a prominent building in the negro section and threatened to destroy every negro building in this previously law abiding city of 16,000, abandoning the torch, however, to wreak physical destruction.

Soldiers and law enforcement officers were helpless in the face of lynch rule. The first contingent of soldiers, nearly a hundred strong, was forced to fortify itself in the county jail after several persons, both soldiers and rioters, were seriously injured in a clash before the jail.

Black Found Dead.

Hughes died from suffocation, burning, or from the impact of an explosion. The cause may never be determined. The mob formed yesterday afternoon when he was to go to trial; demanded him from officers, and when refused, set fire to the court house in which the negro was in custody.

The negro was locked in a vault on the second floor. It was a strong vault, with two layers of steel and a concrete barrier between the men and the mob. Unable to reach him, they decided to burn him even though their vengeance cost the county $60,000, the value of the courthouse. It was insured for $100,000, but officials said that because of the cause of fire it would not be possible to collect the insurance.

Rioting Continues.

The fire was started early in the afternoon. Night came with no letup in riotingg. Teh mob refused to believe the words of the sheriff, who pledged that the negro had been left in the vault, after being given the choice of staying there or running for it.

They decided to storm the jail, believing the negro had been spirited there after the courthouse was set afire. Soldiers, on guard in the square—they had been sent to Sherman early in the afternoon—were standing guard.

Missiles were thrown at the soldiers. One private was hit over the head with a board and dangerously hurt. Then the soldiers, in self-defense, fired.

The injured in this and another clash included:

John Melton, high school boy, shot in the neck.

Floyd Barker, shot and seriously wounded.

Jed Brown, shot in the chest and seriously wounded.

Tom Dixon, high school boy, struck over the head several times with a pistol.

Capt. James E. Dunlap of the Dallas troops, cut in the face by a missile.

Walter Bailey hit over the head and in the back of the neck with a rifle.

Dan Shero, shot with buckshot in the courthouse before the burning.

Lynn Scott, 17, cut by a bottle over the eyes.

Weldon O'Neal, of Van Alstyne, hit in the back of the head with a bottle.

Soldiers Retire.

It was feared that there would be even more serious trouble between soldiers and the mob. Members of the mob were known to have gone to their homes to obtain guns and ammunition. At this juncture, the soldiers, rather than shoot anyone else, retired to the jail and did not disturb the mob further.

Balked in their attempt to get into the jail, the mob returned to the charred courthouse, determined to definitely ascertain whether the negro was in the vault. Blast after blast was set off. An acetylene torch was used. Finally, just before midnight, a hole was cut through the two outer castings, and the door of the inner casing blown with a heavy charge of dynamite.

Killed By Blast.

One of the observers of this incident who afterwards examined the vault—Joe Leonard, managing editor of the Gainesville, Tex., Register, expressed the belief that Hughes had lived through the excruciating heat of the fire and was still alive when the final blast was shot. He found little pools of water all over the vault, and imprints of the negro's feet. An empty bucket was in the vault. The negro's head was caved in, apparently struck by the door. He believed that the negro had been standing against the further side when the blast blew the door inward, striking and killing him.

Regardless of how he died, the mob found him dead. A great cry went up when the first men in the vault dumped the body, still limp, down the ladder from the second story hole in the wall. The body rolled over and over down the ladder, striking the ground with a gentle thump. Women, babies in their arms, shrieked and cried out with what observers termed ghoulish glee. The men seized the lifeless negro, tied a chain about the body, fastened it to the rear of an automobile and started down to "nigger town."

Negro Section Invaded.

Through the streets of the negro section they dragged their bloody load and the journey ended at a large negro store which housed a drug store, beauty shop, undertaking parlor, tailor shop and other enterprises. There was a tree nearby. The body was strung up to the tree and boxes piled beneath. A fire was lighted. Then the drug store was set fire and a brilliant Texas moon added its rays to one of the most gruesome sights in the history of the state.

Governor Moody late last night ordered troops from Fort Worth and Dallas to the city. Besides the soldiers previously sent, there were sixteen sheriffs and deputies on hand from nearby counties. There were of no aid in stemming the tide of destruction. All efforts were finally abandoned and Sherman police directed traffic while the mob marched through the streets with the lifeless body bumbing at the end of the chain.

Mob Runs Riot.

After virtually destroying the drug store the mob surged down a three block section of the negro business district, and a stampede of humanity run amuck. Clubs, bricks, bottles and fists were wielded against windows and doors. Virtually every store was entered and its interior wrecked.

Soon the sidewalks were covered with broken glass which, sparkling in the glare from torches, the flaming buildings and the moon, cast grotesque shadows on the dangling figure of the negro, hung to the tree by the chain which had dragged the body through the streets of Sherman.

Near 2 a. m., most of the mob dispersed and harrassed officials believed that most of their grief was over. At that time, however, a fresh fire broke ou and the overtaxed fire department went clanging down in to the negro section again. Perhaps 700 persons, in knots of 20 to 50 each, were on the streets at that hour. Every negro had disappeared and it was reported that scores of them left the city.

Curious Appear in Numbers.

Hundreds of curious invaded Sherman early in the evening, and until an early hour today the highways leading from the city were solid strings of automobile, carrying the curiosity-satiated back to their beds.

As day began to dawn, troopers and Texas Rangers rounded up several hundred negroes who took en refuge in brush thickets on the outskirts of Sherman and under houses and herded the frightened men, women and children back to their homes in Sherman.

Stores in Sherman were preparing to open for business as usual and a few negro employes were reporting for work.

Twelve men arrested were charged with inciting riot and with incendiarism. Further arrests were expected.

Situation in Hand.

AUSTIN, May 10.—(AP)—Reports to the adjutant general this morning indicated authorities had the riot situation at Sherman well in hand. It was believed unlikely that additional troops would be sent to the area.

Probability was expressed by state officials that a military court of inquiry would be convened in Sherman to investigate the firing on government troops by members of the mob. Whether the federal government will be asked to convene the inquisitorial body was expected to be determined today. Decision will depend on the reports from Col. Lawrence McGee of Dallas, it was stated.

Guardsmen Arrive.

Sherman, May 10.—(AP)—Nearly 300 National Guardsmen, in command of Col. Lawrence E. McGee and Col. L. S. Davidson, arrived here shortly after a. m. today and quickly began the task of dispersing a maddened mob, arresting 12 leaders.

No Martial Law.

AUSTIN, May 10.—(AP)—Governor Dan Moody said at 4:30 a. m. today that he would not declare martial law in Sherman unless National Guardsmen were unable to quell disorders there in co-operation with civil authorities.

OWEN J. ROBERTS NAMED BY HOOVER TO SUPREME BENCH

WASHINGTON, May 9.—(AP)—Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia was nominated by President Hoover today for the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, May 9. —(AP)—Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia, special government counsel in the Teapot Dome and other oil cases, has been selected by President Hoover for the vacancy on the supreme court.

The nomination is expected to go forward today to the senate, which two days ago rejected John J. Parker of North Carolina for the same place.

In selecting Roberts, Mr. Hoover consulted, among others, various members of the senate. By virtue of the close connection between the senate investigation and the litigation which followed senators have followed Roberts' activities as oil counsel with particular care.

Roberts is a republican. He has just passed his 55th birthday. He has practiced law in Philadelphia since 1898.

If the president's latest selection is confirmed—and no immediate dissent was heard—the result will be to shift one place on the court from the south to the north. Justice Sanford, who died in March, was from Tennessee.

Sanford, like Roberts, was a republican, and so is Judge Parker, rejected Wednesday.

MAYOR EUBANK SAYS OUTSIDERS COMPRISED MOB

SHERMAN, May 10.—(AP)—Sherman was a victim of circumstances, Mayor Jess Eubank declared today in a statement regarding burning of the courthouse yesterday by a mob which sought to lynch George Hughes, negro, as he went on trial for criminal assault.

"The negro had been in the county only a few weeks before the crime with which he was charged was committed," the mayor said. "It is regrettable that some of the leaders of the mob and others of its members were Sherman people, but the majority of them were from other points in this and neighboring counties. You can ask nearly any of the Sherman people if they recognized those in the mob and their answer will be a precious few.'

"The city has been co-operating with county officials in handling the affair, but it has been entirely in the hands of the state and county. The district judge made the request for the state troops. Sherman is not under martial law and there is no need for it. But it cannot be determined now how long the troops will be here. They may be here several days. We desire to thank the neighboring cities for sending in their police and firemen in our time of tragedy."

"Clear up your skin, dear, and you will be popular, too"

If you desire a clear skin you must keep your blood in good condition.

Skin troubles and sallow complexion speak of body weakness — a deficiency in the red-blood-cells.

A lovely, clear skin is within the reach of all. To you who have lost it, hope is offered, that you, too, may have a beautiful skin, rose-petal in texture, pretty as a picture and without a single pimple.

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of skin eruptions as being an indication that the body's power of resistance is low.

The natural way to remedy this condition is to restore the red-blood-cells to normal.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

S.S.S. helps Nature restore the blood to its normal state. Healthy blood nourishes the body and works against infection and disease.

Without plenty of rich, red blood there would be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or healthy, beautiful women.

Middle Life Suffering

"THREE years ago, I was in bad health," says Mrs. J. B. Bean, of Kirbyville, Texas. "I was going through a critical time, and I suffered a lot.

"My back hurt almost all the time, and my legs and ankles ached. My head hurt me until sometimes I would be almost past going.

"As I had used Cardui before, and knew how much I had improved after taking it, I got a bottle and started taking it. I continued to use it for several months. After awhile I regained my health, and I feel that I could never have gotten through that awful time without Cardui."

"... and the running Hot Water removes all of the Discomforts of Living in the Country" . . Mr. H.D.H., Dallas County

ONE man exclaimed during a STARGAS demonstration; "Plenty of steaming hot water always on tap? Why man that means hot water for shaving every morning! Say, that's more than a convenience—that's a necessity." And every man who, time and again, has had to shave with cold water because he didn't have time to heat some water, will certainly agree with that statement. A STARGAS water heater will also give the whole family plenty of running hot water for bathing . . . plenty for dish washing . . . for laundering . . . for any and everything . . . when and wherever you want it. Running hot water is just one of the many conveniences that STARGAS brings to your home . . . no matter where you live! A STARGAS installation means natural gas for cooking, refrigeration, lighting, and ironing. Cooking with STARGAS is a pleasure because you always have an intensely hot flame, instantly. You are never delayed waiting for a burner to get hot enough to cook with. The cleanliness of STARGAS will also appeal to you . . . no soot, odors, nor fumes. No messy fuel tanks to fill. Mail the coupon today for the complete and interesting story of STARGAS . . . the safe and economical fuel for everyone who lives beyond the reach of gas mains.

STARGAS Equipment including Range
Complete STARGAS equipment, consisting of cabinet, two cylinders of gas, house piping for cooking and STARGAS Range, can be purchased for about $180.00, depending on the range selected. A small down payment enables you to start cooking with STARGAS at once.

MOTHERS' DAY WAS OBSERVED SUNDAY FIRST METHODIST

The regular monthly meeting of the board of stewards of the First Methodist church will meet in the Educational building Monday night at 8 o'clock and R. J. Jackson, chairman of the board, is anxious for a full attendance of the board. Regular prayer services will be held Wednesday night with Rev. Archie Carraway in charge. These were among the announcements in the church bulletin Sunday.

Mothers' Day was a big day at First church. At Sunday school the attendance was 690, compared with 573 last Sunday and 528 the corresponding Sunday one year ago. At the morning church hour the auditorium was filled to overflowing with the old Sunday school room being utilized to take care of the crowd, while at the night service the attendance was unusually good.

In the Brotherhood Bible class the attendance was 61 compared with 48 last Sunday. A group of women also met with this class which was taught by F. P. McElwrath. C. T. Banister presided and Dr. A. W. Hall brought the invocation. In the adult department the attendance was 165 and in the young people's department, 62.

Special Mothers' Day programs were given in the various departments. In the adult department, the program was in charge of Mrs. Jester's Bible class and consisted of a solo by Wilson Sims, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Williams; piano and violin numbers by Mrs. Minnie Sutton and Mrs. Finis Farr; reading by Mrs. Joel Trimble, and prayer by Dr. A. W. Hall.

In the intermediate department, music was given by Robert and Randolph Mitchell, a solo by Mrs. Hallie Hampton; Mothers' talk by Mrs. F. P. McElwrath. Others appearing on this program were Linda Sims, Mitchell Boyd and Marjorie Foster.

In the Young People's Department, Mrs. M. L. Marks made a mothers' talk, and Wilson Simms sang. Others on the program were Eleanor Lanham, Lillian Cole Jackson, Pauline Miller, Hazel Poindexter, Mrs. A. D. Belt.

At the morning church hour, Dr. Bergin brought the message from the theme, "Her Children Shall Rise Up and Call Her Blessed." Dr. A. W. Hall offered the morning prayer, Rev. Archie Carraway led in the responsive reading. Mrs. L. S. Cooper sang a solo and the choir an anthem.

At the night church hour the choir sang an anthem and Rev. W. W. Richeson, pastor of the Frost Methodist church, brought the message of the hour.

Flowers were awarded at the morning church hour as follows:

Meyers, ten children, flowers presented by Miss Ethel Mae Tatum. The mother who had been a member of the church the longest, Mrs. Pauline Cullen, 62 years, flowers presented by Mrs. Chas. G. Jester.

Farm Work Stopped In East Navarro

KERENS, May 12.—(Spl.)—The recent rains in east Navarro have put a stop to farm work for at least another week. The fields were flooded and farmers say all kinds of work are at a standstill. The river is rising rapidly and spreading over the bottom lands that have been planted, and farmers fear the high water will cause them to have to replant the bottom fields. There is a considerable acreage planted in the bottom lands which will cause the farmers a great deal of extra work should the water remain any length of time.

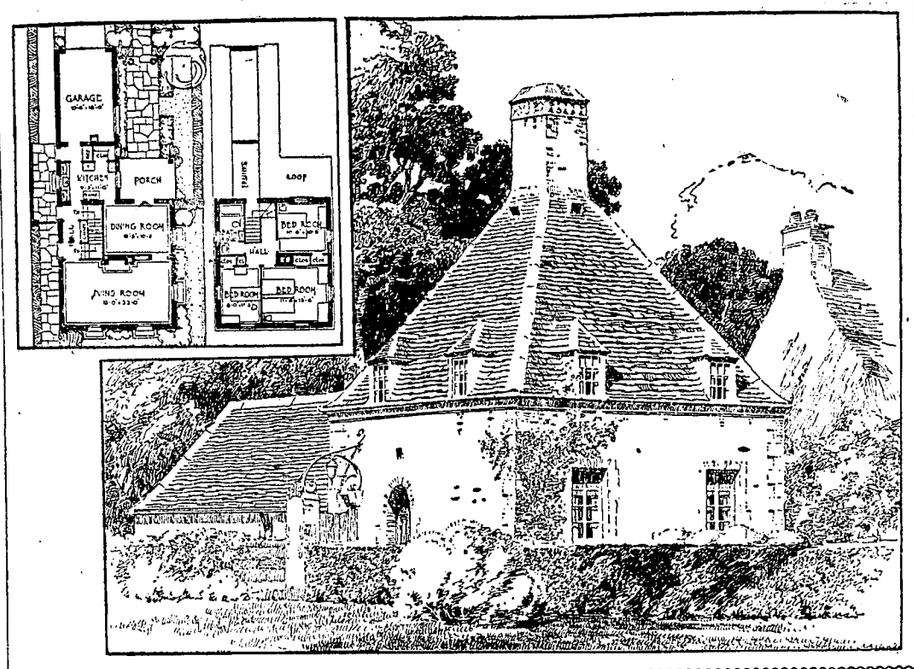

HEAVY RAINS AT TEAGUE.

TEAGUE, May 12.—(SPL).—Heavy rains fell in this section on Saturday. All farming operations were seriously checked. Farmers are getting behind with their work, and crops are getting grassy.

Practically all cotton has been planted, about one-half of it has been chopped, and most of the corn thinned.

A Sturdy Distinction In This Small House

Designed for a very narrow lot (30 x 125), this house has an air of sturdy distinction and room while keeping many convenient features of a small home.

It has a rear entrance and the garage is so connected that it can be entered from the house without going outside. The living room faces the street and has a side entrance, screened from the rear entrance by a smartly designed wooden gate with an iron bracket above.

There are three bed rooms and a bath on the second floor; living room, dining room and kitchen on the first floor.

All of these are corner rooms and have good ventilation, which is essential because of the low roof lines.

Materials: Walls should be of brick with a roof of slate or tile, rough texture; all wood work should be in weathered gray, chimney and walls to be painted white.

The cost will vary between $8,000 and $10,000, according to local labor and material conditions.

DOWNTOWN BIBLE CLASS HAS MOTHERS' DAY OBSERVANCE

The Mother's Day program at the Downtown Bible class for men was excellently rendered and thoroughly enjoyed an attendance of 71 men and six lady visitors Sunday. The number present being 77, represents an increase of 21 over last Sunday, and indicates the interest being manifested, the class being only four weeks old.

The program began Sunday morning at 9 o'clock with sacred, and appropriate Mother's Day song selections, electrically reproduced. At 9:30 the song service started in the building at 112 South Beaton street, led by Mr. Kasonke, Baptist Seminary, Fort Worth. A Mothers' quartet, composed of Mrs. F. J. Lindsey, N. L. Benson, W. B. Gray, Dora Agnew, with Mrs. C. A. Middleton at the piano, rendered an appreciated number in keeping with the occasion. Mrs. Cook then gave a beautiful reading "Angels," then the service was turned over to President J. H. Giles, who after making a short talk on "Mother," introduced the class teacher, Rev. J. Howard Williams.

Rev. Williams discussed "Jesus' Triumphal Entry into Jerusalem," and the point stressed in this discourse was Matthew's version of Jesus as King. The speaker said that greatness did not mean prosperity and popularity, and stated "Men are fools if not tied to something in their lives they cannot see, for prosperity like riches, is fickle, fortune smiles and then frowns." He, in closing, admonished his hearers to "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things will be added unto you."

It was again brought out by President Giles that every man, regardless of church affiliation, or circumstance was welcome to this class, and everything possible would be done to make one feel at home.

Mrs. J. B. Chubbuck, mother of one of the class members was an appreciated mother visitor to the class.

Rev. Mr. Glenn brought us a wonderful message last evening on the lost joys of salvation, and made it very plain why sometimes Christians do not seem happy, and showed the simple way they could have their joy restored.

Services will be held in the morning from 10 to 11 o'clock and in the evening at 7:30. The meeting will continue until May 25. Every one will be welcome, and with Rev. Glenn doing the preaching, and our pastor to assist, and M. D. Johnson leading the singing, we are looking to a great meeting for our Master, and hope many may be led to the only way to our Saviour.

PROBLEM OF THE CONVICTS

Public sympathy, knowledge of which has leaked into the penitentiary, is doubtlessly encouraging, to some extent, the feeling of unrest and rebellion among the prisoners of the Ohio state penitentiary who survived the fire. Discipline has been seriously weakened, and the prisoners are attempting to take advantage of the situation.

It is a great responsibility and a troublesome problem that have been placed upon the prison administration and the state government. Discipline must be restored, but how to accomplish it without inciting more serious riots is a problem.

The pressure that has been brought to bear upon Warden Thomas and his aides has not improved the situation. Criticism has been heaped upon the prison officials because of the disaster, and the prisoners, who by nature are antagonistic to their keepers, are quick to make the most of it. But a change of prison administrations might prove a fatal mistake by giving the convicts the impression that society fears to deny anything they may demand.

Whether responsibility for the holocaust rests on the prisoners, the keepers or on accident, the officials must not lose control of the situation for an instant. And whatever happens should be concealed as far as possible from inmates of other prisons throughout the country. If the Columbus convicts gain an important point through this fire, incendiarism may be expected in other prisons, for all have criminals desperate enough to make any sacrifices or face any danger if it offers a chance to escape or less discipline.

DICTIONARY OF DIET

Eating as a fine art is supposed to have reached its supremacy in France, though there are many tourist Americans who will dispute it in favor of such home-grown delicacies as they are used to. But the French cherish the tradition of their gastronomic artistry and have recently enshrined it in an academy with a limited membership and the responsibility of publishing a dictionary and grammar devoted to the language of food and cooking.

It is not recorded, however, that the Academi des Gastronomes has as yet published a cookbook or that it contemplates doing so. To do so would, in fact destroy the legend of the French mastery over salad and sauce garnish and gravy, spice and savor. It would mean that cooking and menu-making are matters of formula, whereas the French insist that they are art.

In general, the American housewife would agree with this theory. She usually owns a cookbook but permits her individuality to triumph over its advice. If she is a very good cook, she has her secrets and her occasions of culinary inspiration. These are elements of art; and though there is no academy to glorify the American kitchen, it is probable that it deserves one as much as do the kitchens of Paris.

The world's population will double in 60 years, it is estimated, which is bad news because it will mean twice as much human nature.

Looks like the April showers that did not materialize in April are going to grow into May floods before the month is out.

JUST FOLKS

MOTHER.

They said he was a careless lad
In him they saw no good;
His mother smiled, and said her child
Was oft misunderstood.

He failed in school. The teachers all
Denounced him as a dunce.
His mother brave, this reason gave:
"He had fever once."

Impatient strangers turned him off
Friends left him when betrayed;
Through all things ill, his mother still
Waited and hoped and prayed.

Though broken promises destroyed
The faith of others all,
With help she ran unto the man
Whenever she heard him call.

Friends oft divide, and pride forgets
The ones it climbs above,
But there's no sin man wallows in
Can change a mother's love.

AMERICA NEEDS A FAIR.

Why doesn't some enterprising American city, properly located for such an undertaking, establish an international trade fair such as is held twice yearly in Leipzig and has been thus held for seven centuries?

The session this spring attracted 200,000 business men representing 72 countries. American buyers numbered 3,000 and American-made goods were displayed in approximately a hundred booths. The size and importance of the American attendance and display was an outstanding feature of the fair.

Thirty-nine great show halls grouped in the inner city were filled with exhibits, and farther out were 17 others.

While the Saxon Messe is at the highest point in its history, its only great rival, the vast fair of Niji Novgorod in Russia, owing to the antagonism of the communistic state to private trade, has been not merely abandoned but even its elaborate plant, on a peninsula formed by a bend in the Volga, has been razed to insure discontinuance of the institution.

But, returning to the question of an American imitation of the Leipzig fair, why should not the greatest producing and consuming industrial country in the world establish and support the largest trade fair? Even those temporary expositions occasionally staged by our largest cities are often financial failures.

ACHIEVEMENT.

Backwoods Buncombe County, North Carolina, broke into the front pages a few days ago by sending to Washington 200 adult students who had just learned to read and write. They placed their county on the map of literacy and brought to light a system and movement that is stamping out illiteracy in that little known part of the country.

Eleven years ago there were 7,000 adult illiterates in Buncombe County, two-thirds of them native-born whites. Today there are less than a thousand, thanks to intensive efforts at adult education. It was accomplished by coordinating the efforts of all groups, classes, organizations and instrumentalities.

For the Washington pilgrimage the nation is thankful. It has proved an object lesson in what can be accomplished once a section determines to bring the light of knowledge into the lives of those who know only the dark of ignorance. Buncombe County is about to be imitated.

It is no simple task to teach mountaineers, with generations of abject ignorance and their mountains as their only heritage, to read and write, but even that job is easier than the one cut out for those cities whose illiteracy is largely among the foreign-born who know neither our tongue nor our customs. They present the greatest problem in the nation-wide movement for abolishing illiteracy.

Corsicana's public school system is keeping pace with the city's growth and the school board is to be congratulated on its progressiveness. An adequate and modern school system is one of the greatest assets any city can boast.

With both houses working on dry law bills plans for the expansion of all penitentiary systems should be given immediate attention.

HIS ANNUAL SHIP COMES IN

"DEFIANCE."

Corsicana Sun: Motorists and pedestrians are endangered by the operation of thousands of defective automobiles and motor trucks. Every unfit machine that is driven through the streets or upon the highways is a potential source of accidents. The large number of accidents caused by worn-out brakes, defective steering gear and maladjusted headlights is sufficient reason to demand that these "cripples" be barred from the traffic lanes.

State Press In the Dallas News: "There you go—trying to rule State Press off the highway. What if he doesn't drive a bedizened chariot, cushioned ankle deep, articulate with mechanical precision, breathing confidence and exhibiting line and color dictated by fashionists of artistic touch? When S. P. rattles forth from his portecochere in his four-wheeled vibrator, its motor heaving, its ribs squeaking, its hinges moaning, does he feel declasse because he must take the dust of polished landaus passing him with supercilious hoot-toots? With all his obvious handicaps, S. P. remains a Democrat, therefore, at par with Kings, a peer among peers. Why should he take a siding, or perhaps abandon his decrepit conveyance and go his way afoot because, perchance, his crakshaft is out of alignment, his radius rods dragging, his carburetor affected with influenza? He is willing to give half the road to the empurpled juggernauts, to halt when a funeral procession crosses his line of vision. But he will not take to the woods, he will not still the hiccoughs of his faithful flivver in order that his room may be pre-empted by the Corsicana Sun's embellished bombaine or that he may not disturb the Sun editor's tonneau nap. If S. P.'s raucous jinrinckisha shall be condemned by the police he will appeal to the court of highest resort, the parliament of the poor, the Democratic convention."

Hot Dog! We got him. State Press admits he rides in an automobile after devoting columns and columns to his sidewalk campaign. Even if his automobile is as old as he would lead one to believe it is, which we doubt, there is no reason not to believe he is automobile minded and it won't be long until one of these high-powered automobile salesmen will make him a quick sale and he will spend the remainder of his life meeting payments. Anyway — he don't walk—he rides—just as we said he did.

THE SENATE'S RESPONSIBILITY.

The message by which President Hoover has transmitted the London naval treaty to the senate asking for its advice and consent as to ratification is eloquent in its brevity and its absence of argument or pleading. The country and the senate know the high estimation which the president places on the treaty as a great step in world peace and an assurance of American parity in naval strength, as he said in his comment uttered April 11 on the completed work of the conference. He has no need to reiterate his views or place on further record his ardent desire to have the pact ratified.

The senate, for that matter, needs no enlightenment outside the ranks of its own membership on the meaning and the benefits of the pact. Two of its members, Senator Reed and Senator Robinson, played important parts in its negotiation and are in the best possible position to explain, and if needed be, defend its every provision.

The country has no desire to have the senate proceed otherwise than in due form and with proper deliberation to consideration of the treaty. Every opportunity should be given to any who have aught to urge against it to be heard. There has yet to be brought forward any sound reason affecting the value of the instrument either as contribution to international peace and disarmament, or as a guarantee to the United States of its own security. The overwhelming preponderance of American public opinion is for ratification as a matter of national duty and national advantage.

The country, therefore, expects the senate, without needless delay, after proper consideration, to register its assent, in accordance with the high privilege given it by the Constitution, to this international instrument which will relieve burdened taxpayers and hearten men of good will the world over.

The New Jersey judge who laments that there are too many young men in this country looking for $10,000 jobs overlooks the fact that it wouldn't be much of a country if there weren't.

Tearing off the coupon in the lower right-hand corner for a trial lesson in will development is one way of eliminating yourself as a candidate for the world's largest monument.

THE SPOILS

The Chicago Evening News, as a taxpayer, has brought suit to force an accounting and secure restitution to the taxpayers of millions of dollars alleged to have been spent fraudulently by the trustees of the Chicago sanitary district during 1927 and 1928.

Thirty-six defendants are named, including the president of the sanitary district board, his five associates and firms and individuals who profited from the alleged fraudulent transactions.

Some of the more amazing of the charges are that payrolls were padded to the tune of 3,200 fictitious names and $4,000,000 in graft, that in the expenditure of $1,062,000 for a bridle path the district violated the law requiring competitive bidding, that a "message" by President Crowe was printed and circulated at a cost to the taxpayers of $98,000 and that the board used public funds totaling $174,335 for political advertising.

Reading these charges the stranger to Chicago gains some insight into what is behind the bankruptcy of the great Middle West metropolis, for certainly no newspaper would dare prefer them if they had no foundation on fact.

These are the things that make the thinking voter suspicious of his government of politics, whether organization, independent or reform. And if crooked office-holders and politicians always got away with such outrages our republican form of government would not survive a generation.

Fortunately, municipal governments on the whole in the United States are not corrupt. They are not always as efficient and economical as the taxpayers would like them to be, but they are relatively free of graft and corruption.

When the plans for the development of the city park are completed Corsicana will boast one of the most attractive parks in the state.

LAST RITES FOR TWELVE VICTIMS OF TORNADO THURSDAY

Devoid of all sectarianism or individualism, the twelve white victims of the Frost tornado were collectively eulogized at the last rites for them Thursday afternoon and laid to rest in the storm-torn cemetery that is located on the brow of a hill overlooking the wasted community.

The stricken persons were interered in three double graves and six singles, as thousands of people from miles around stood with bared heads as they paid their final tribute and extended their sympathy with this mute gesture.

Rev. W. W. Richeson, Methodist preacher and the only resident minister in Frost, was in charge of the mass service and his voice trembled with the intensity of his feeling as he announced the first song, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," which was rendered by a group of singers from the churches of Corsicana.

Among the singers were Mrs. Harry Williams, Mrs. L. S. Cooper, Mrs. W. H. Milam, Mrs. R. R. Range, Mrs. Lester Kirk, Miss Lena Mae McClure, Mrs W. R. Sneed, Mrs. Henry Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Brietz, C. C. McClung, A. B. Horn, K. L. McKeown, Robert Layton, Roy Leeds, Fred White, E. E. Burkhart, Lloyd Kerr.

Asks Blessings of God

In the opening prayer Rev. Nelson of Mt. Calm, petitioned the blessings of God on the torn community, on the people of Corsicana and other towns for their friendliness and aid, and on the hearts of the grief-stricken and injured citizens.

The funeral choir then sang "Rock of Ages," and as the solemn notes rang through the quietness, the sobbing gasps of the mourning relatives was the only break in the quiet.

Rev. Richeson then expressed the appreciation of the entire community to the people of Corsicana for responding so promptly to the needs of the town, and coming in and organizing the relief work, and supplying the many things needed. He also expressed their appreciation to the singers who came when the citizens could not sing. He then called the roll of the dead.

Rev. Richeson announced that a joint Sunday school would be held Sunday morning on the ground floor of the high school, with the Baptist superintendent in charge, while he would bring the sermon at the morning hour.

As a tribute to the storm dead, the out-of-town workmen halted their work for about five minutes at the hour of the funeral.

Rev. E. R. Swindell of Hillsboro, a former Frost pastor, made the principal address ,reviewing his lengthy acquaintance with the community and its people since the founding of the town.

He declared that no circumstance could result in a more lasting impression than the disaster, nor should show more clearly the dependence of man on God, and the frailty of a human being. He declared that he had found the faith of the community unshaken. There is no explanation to such occurences he declared, but they are testing times.

Just as Job remained faithful in adversity, and Paul was faithful in the face of shipwreck, so the people of Frost had remained faithful, and peace and confidence was still shown in their faces.

"All things work together for good to them that love God," the speaker asserted, choosing this passage as his text for the message. He closed with the statement that the disaster was a challenge to Frost, and that he was confident that they would meet the test.

The funeral was held at the home of L. A. Morgan, with the caskets on the inside of the house and the close relatives seated on the porch, many of them only able to be there for a short time, and forced to return as soon as possible to hospitals in Corsicana.

Eleven hearses from Frost, Corsicana, Italy, Hubbard and Waxahachie carried the bodies to the cemetery, preceded by a military guard of honor.

Final committment services were held at a central spot in the cemetery, with the choir singing "In the Hour of Trial," and then as the notes of "Taps" were sounded by Bugler Joe Jefferson of Battery D., 132 Field artillery, the caskets were lowered into the graves; ending anothe rsad chapter in the Frost disaster.

Dawson Raises Fund

C. O. Weaver, Dawson banker, telephoned the Corsicana Daily Sun Friday morning that citizens of Dawson had raised $1,010 for the Frost tornado sufferers and this amount was forwarded to Frost Friday.

WARNING IS GIVEN OWNERS AUTOS WITH DEFECTIVE LIGHTS

A final warning is given to the owners of automobiles with defecting lights that they must put these lights in condition, keep their cars off the street at night, or else suffer the penalty. This warning was voiced Friday morning by Chief of Police Will S. Knight, who asked that the auto owners be given another warning.

There is no desire on Chief Knight's part to cause anyone to pay a fine needlessly, but he feels that that matter has become so serious that the law must be rigidly enforced. Auto owners are warned that they must have two headlights and a tail light to comply with the law and they must all be burning while the auto is being operated on the streets of the city. This is both a State and a local law.

Unless this matter is attended to at once, it was stated by the Chief, owners will be summoned before the judge to answer to violation of the law. Warnings have been issued in the past but in some instances they have not been heeded, it was stated, but unless all headlights and tail lights of automobiles operated in Corsicana are burning when the cars are being driven at night the drivers will be charged with an offense and will be penalized.

TEACHER HEROINE THOUGHT ONLY OF HER MANY PUPILS

HILLSBORO, May 9.—Every catastrophe produces its heroes. The Hill county tornado was no exception, and luminous on the list of heroes it produced are the names of three Hill county school teachers—Bryant Merrell of Irene, Miss Lois Rogers of Hillsboro and Miss Lillie Yarbrough of Mertens, teachers in the McCord country school just across the navarro county line.

The courage, presence of mind and self-forgetfulness of these three people saved the lives of sixty children.

They saw the black cloud coming and herded the children into a ditch at the side of the road. Just in time—for as they scrambled into the ditch after the children the wind struck. The three were hurled to the bottom of the ditch, and one, Miss Yarbrough, was knocked unconscious. A moment later and the schoolhouse, together with a church building and tabernacle near it, had been smashed into kindling.

Miss Yarbrough and Miss Rogers are at the home of the latter's parents here. Thursday they were swathed and bandaged from head to foot, scarcely able to move a limb, but bright-eyed and happy that their charges had all escaped without a scratch. They gave a graphic description of the storm and of their work in getting the children safely 'housed' in the ditch. They described the tornado as "seemingly, a big, black pillar, or column, of smoke rolling along on the ground."

"And what were your sensations when you saw the tornado approaching?" Miss Rogers was asked.

"Sensations?" Miss Rogers' gay laughter rang out; "I didn't have time to experience any sensations. It was coming fast, and those kiddies had to be tucked away in a safe place."

The young ladies' injuries are painful, but not serious, though it was at first feared that Miss Yarbrough had been injured internally. Mr. Merrell also received cuts and bruises, but was abel to return to his home in Irene Tuesday night.

AIRPLANE PILOT DEFEATED DRUNKEN PASSENGER IN AIR

FIVE PEOPLE OWE LIVES TO KNOCKOUT BLOW CARRIED BY TEX ANDING

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Elbert "Tex" Anding, an airplane pilot, and four passengers, including two women, possibly owed their lives today to the knock-out punch "Tex" packs in his right fist.

With his plane lurching and diving crazily 1000 feet over Holmes airport, Queens, yesterday, Anding fought with an intoxicated passenger for control of the stick until a blow on the jaw stretched his assailant unconscious on the floor of the cabin.

Anding was taking passengers aloft for five minute flights at $1 a trip. Two women and three men boarded the plane and he took off.

He said when he was at an altitude of 1000 feet one of the men left his seat and coming to the pilot's place demanded to be permitted to fly the plane.

Anding ordered him to his seat whreupon the passenger attempted to wrest the control from his grasp.

The plane dipped and wobbled dangerously as Anding and the passenger fought for possession of the stick while the two women screamed hysterically. Holding the stick between his knees Anding battled the passenger, finaly ending the affair with a blow that knocked him out.

The pilot landed at once and ejected the disturber, who threw rocks at the plane until he was taken in charge by a policeman.

The pilot refused to lay charges against the man and he was released without police learning his name.

CHURCH OF CHRIST ENJOYED GREAT DAY ON MOTHERS' DAY

The Church of Christ had a great day yesterday. While the church did not put on a special Mother's day program, there was an unusually large audience assembled for the morning service. Mr. Hines, the local minister, in beginning his message stated that he did not attach any importance to special days, yet he felt that it would be proper to pay a tribute of sincere respect to "our mothers." The minister then took for his subject: "The Church at Corinth—All things are Lawful." "There are many things which we may do which are not wrong within themselves provided the doing of such things do not cause our brethren to stumble," declared the minister. "Our liberty should not be abused, nor used with no regard of our fellows. One of the fundamental laws of the Bible is, Love for God's creatures," said Mr. Hines. Two responded to the invitation.

There was an overflowing crowd assembled at the 7:45 p. m. hour, to hear the minister speak on the subject: "What Church Should I Join." "This question was not, nor could it have been used in the days of the apostles, but conditions are such in the evening of time, that the question is propounded often," said Mr. Hines. "Why should people speak lightly of the church, when the Bible says that Christ purchased it with his own blood? There is not a member in the church who has not been redeemed by the glood of God's Son, and there is not a saved or redeemed person out the church," declared the minister. A great array of scripture were brought forward to prove the contention of the speaker, and with a great deal of ferver and earnestness Mr. Hines plead for everyone to do just what God says and be just what God says be.

Eph. 4:4; 1:2,23; Col. 1:18 and 7 Cor. 12:27 were used to prove that the church of the New Testament is the body of Christ, then the speaker said: "To be in Christ is to be in his body which is the church, for it would be impossible to be in Christ without being in his body; therefore whatever is necessary to get into Christ is necessary to get into the church. But the moment one kets into Christ he is saved, but he isunsaved out of Christ, but to be out of Christ is to be out of his body, the church; therefore all who are out of the body of the church areu nsaved," said the minister. 1 Cor. 12:13, Gal. 3.27, and om. 6:1-6, were used to show how people get into Christ. One responded to the invitation. A baptismal service followed the sermon.

It was announced that the evangelistic services which have been in progress for a week would continue nightly at 7:45, until Wednesday night. The public is invited.

Gardens Are Brought Indoors

New Gardens Bloom in Pottery

By MARGERY TAYLOR
Interior Decoration Editor McCall's Magazine. Written for the Corsicana Daily Sun

Those who delight in outdoor gardening are finding new inspiration in the new adaptations of the picturesque old Italian strawberry jar.

Plants in each of the little cups which make up the sides of the jar weave themselves together into a real garden to beautify any room. Try Wandering Jew, sweet alyssum—in fact many of the rock plants will flourish in these little pockets even for the most amateur of gardeners.

The new jars have a fineness of texture and a delicacy of workmanship which make them at home in any interior. But they are still in design the jars the peasants used for growing strawberries, although, where the old jars were three or four feet high, the new ones are only 7 1-2 to 15 3-4 inches.

For the apartment dweller cut off from the joys of the garden, there is muchcomfort in the things which can be grown in the wrough iron stands which are becoming so popular. Wall brackets are very effective in making plants a part of the whole decorative scheme.

Trailing ivy in green, yellow or terra-cotta pots hung on brackets on the mullions between double windows will bring a country air into any city room. And even a lone small window looking out on a brick wall can be transformed by flanking it with pots of streaming ivy on graceful wrought iron brackets.

Those who have gardens have other problems and not for many years has there been so much interest displayed in the lost art of flower arrangement as there is now. The urge for originality has brought popularity to the new pottery figurines used as flowre supports of fawns and woodnymphs cleverly designed to peer mischievously from behind a little cloud of bloom. In shell green with an apple blossom lining, bowls and figures can "make" a corner. A luncheon table with flowers and figurines, four tall candles and two compots, can make any meal a "party."

Another striking luncheon table arrangement is a low flaring turquoise blue bowl and on each side a lovely fruit-filled compote of matching pottery and fine pink glass figurines of peasant dancers. Floating on the water in the bowl are water lilies, or blush pink roses with haded centers and dark glossy green leaves.

The five foot shelf of flowers is another fascinating novelty. Until the shelves are filled, assorted bowls and pots holding each a different plant or flower can give endless variety in the pleasure of arranging an endless delight to the eye.

CABINET MEDICINE BALL ADDICTS HAVE MORNING WORKOUT

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—President Hoover's strongest play in the morning medicine ball game is to catch the weighty sphere on his chest, with arms closing in quickly—and to snap it back with a right overhand stroke.

Dawn was just reaching its full brightness today when the "medicine ball cabinet" gathered far down on the rear lawn of the hite House.

Tall and short, stout and thin—Mr. Hoover's besweatered friends tossed the ball vigorously to and fro over a high volley ball net.

He seemed the most practiced, seldom missing and more often than not causing opponents to miss with the strength of that lone arm swing.

Watched from a distance, the group looked like schoolboys at play.

PLANS UNDER WAY AID IN REBUILDING CHURCH AT FROST

REPLACING M'CORD CHURCH ALSO DECIDED UPON AT MONDAY MEETING

Plans for staging a campaign for $2500 to aid in the rebuilding of the First Methodist church at Frost and McCord were made at a meeting of special committees, appointed at a congregational meeting Sunday evening which was held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the educational building of the First Methodist church.

It was stated at the meeting that plans at the present time called for an expenditure of $15,000 for the church at Frost and $2000 at McCord. Insurance to the amount of $2000 on the Frost church and $1000 on the McCord structure was carried, and will be available for immediate building projects.

The board of church extension, it was stated, will give approximately $2000 toward rebuilding the Frost church.

Appeals have been made to Methodists throughout the state and in the Texas Christian Advocate, A. W. Hall, presiding elder of the Corsicana district, who presided at the meeting stated.

The case of the State of Texas vs. Willie B. Spellman, negro, charged by indictment with murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Isom Lewis, negro, near Dresden several months ago, started in the district court Monday morning, and the selection of a jury was in progress shortly before noon. A special venire had been summoned in addition to the regular jury for the week.

Prospective jurors were being questioned concerning their attitude toward a suspended sentence.

The state is being represented by H. B. Daviss, county attorney, and W. W. Harris, assistant county attorney. The defendant is being represented by Lovett and Lovett.

Commissioner's Court

All members of the commissioners court were presented at the regular bi-monthly meeting held Monday morning. Right-of-way discussion was held by the court.

Mr. Sewell, who owns a farm in Richland creek bottom near national highway 75 appeared before the court relative to the washing out of a levee at the creek bridge where the flood gate had been installed. He alleged that a wide section had been washed out and his entire farm was flooded. Mr. Sewell was advised that it was the state and federal governments highway and referred him to the state highway engineer, J. W. Alger, as the highway was not a county highway.

The minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.

Bids were opened for the purchase of two trucks for use on the county farm and in Commissioner J. W. Harris' precinct.

Claims were allowed except as noted on the claim docket.

TAKE FIRST STEP IN CONFIRMATION ROBERTS MONDAY

NOMINATION OF PENNSYLVANIAN SUPREME COURT SENT TO SUB-COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 12.—(AP)—The first step toward senate confirmation of Owen J. Roberts as an associate justice of the supreme court was taken today with action by the judiciary committee to refer the nomination to a sub-committee.

Little difficulty in obtaining confirmation was expected, but the sub committee will go thoroughly into any complaints.

The judiciary chairman, Norris of Nebraska, and others outside the fold of the republican regulars predicted early and favorable action.

Senator Sheppard of Texas, dry, who had indicated opposition of Roberts because of the 1923 speech by him said today he was satisfied with the explanation that had been made for the nominee.

Roberts had been quoted as criticising the 18th amendment but it was explained that he was discussing a legal point involved.

Sheppard said he wanted "to wait until the committee disposes of the nomination before taking a stand on it, but I will not oppose him unless it is shown that he is prejudiced against the law."

WOMEN HAVE WON EQUAL VOICE IN RULE OF CHURCH

PHILADELPHIA, May 12. —(AP)—Women, in their long fight for equal rights, have won another victory. They will have an equal voice with men in the government of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America.

Announcement was made at the offices of the Presbyterian general assembly today that the overture permitting women to be elected ruling elders had been approved by a majority of the 293 Presbyteries in the denomination. The vote of today was 151 in favor of the overtures and 114 against.

The overture will allow women to sit as members of congregational sessions of local churches and as members of Presbyteries, synods and the general assemly.

The overture to permit women to become ordained ministers was defeated, according to a recent announcement. Another overture that would allow women to become licensed evangelists was said to be in doubt.

HUMBLE TEAM NOW TOPPING COUNTY AMATEUR LEAGUE AVERAGES

FOUR GAMES PLAYED IN COUNTY LEAGUE DURING WEEK-END

MAGNOLIA OILERS DEFEATED BLOOMING GROVE IN DOUBLE HEADER SUNDAY

The Humble Oilers are leading the Navarro County Amateur Baseball league with two wins and no losses as a result of games Sunday which saw the Blooming Grove nine, leaders of the league, defeated by the Magnolia Oilers in a pair of contests played Sunday, and the Bazette nine climb back in the race at the expense of the White's Chapel nine.

With Collins and Stancil pitching air tight ball, and B. Barns leading the hitting attack with four hits, the Humble nine defeated the American Well Gumbo Busters, 9-3 While the Humble nine was winning over the Gumbo Busters, the league leading Blooming Grove nine found going hard, losing a double header to the Magnolia Oilers 9-6 and 9-2.

The Bazette nine had to play heads up ball to defeat the White's Chapel nine, 4-3, and in the ninth inning retired the side with the winning run on base.

No contests were played Saturday, and as a result, there are a number of rain out games to be played in the county during the next few days, and the leadership of the league might be radically changed by the outcome of the games. The Blooming Grove and White's Chapel teams, rained out last week, were scheduled to play Monday afternoon, and the Bazette and Humble nines are due to meet Wednesday in catch up contests.

Fortune Smiles On Van Zandt Farmer Very Late in Life

WILLS POINT, May 12.—(Spl.)—After living for as long as the life of most people on a sandy land farm with only enough income to meet the ordinary demands of an East Texas farm family, J. J. Murphree finds himself now in his old age the owner of a portion of a rich oil field. Mr. Murphee is now 87 years old and Thursday a well came in on his place with an estimated production of 50,000 barrels. While he seems somewhat bewildered by his sudden good fortune he has not let it alter his ordinary day's proceedings.

While the heavy rains have interfered somewhat with moving of material the work in the field goes merrily on and a new well is spudded and another one brought in almost every day. The Murphee is the thirty-fifth and do dries yet in the Pure company's block.

J. W. Carter has a derrick up on the Wm. Daniel survey north east from Van. A new location is also announced on the J. C. Kellam lease, one mile southwest from Colfax.

New Health Nurse Freestone County

FAIRFIELD, May 12.—(Spl.)—Miss Beatrice Lott, now of Lubbock, will be the new county health nurse of Freestone county, according to information from the state health department. Miss Lott will begin her work May 15. The county's part of the county nurse expense has been raised by public subscription through the county health council, headed by Mrs. John F. Wallace of Teague.

BOTH TEAMS MADE BRILLIANT PLAYS; HAD FINE CROWD

NUMBER OF PLAYERS SHOWED VAST IMPROVEMENT FROM LAST YEAR'S PLAY

Dashington eighteen yards on a fake spin formation toward left end, Hightower, quarterback for the Golds, passed laterally to Clarke who sprinted about eight yards for a touchdown and then a pass, Clarke to Price, added a point, to give the Golds, tutored by Ted L. Jeffries, assistant coach, a 7-0 decision over the Blues, coached by Head Coach John Pierce, at Tiger Field, Friday afternoon in the benefit game played to officially end the long spring training camp of the Tigers. The proceeds from the game go toward the purchase of uniforms for the Corsicana Junior High school eleven.

The Blues had hard luck when George Pryor, who had played a whale of a game, dropped a forward pass behind the goal.

The battle on Tiger Field Friday was a good football game, with considerable action. The team sporting the Gold uniforms was more experienced than the speedier but lighter charges wearing the Blue jersies.

During a large portion of the second half, the game was played in the rain, and scores of spectators left the field.

Special band music was furnished by the C. H. S. band under the direction of Joel C. Trimble.

John Newland, Clarks, Stamps, Pryor, Price, Scroggins, Hightower, Hall, Crews, Hornbeak, Crowther, Ross and others showed to good advantage.

Much of the contest was a punting duel between Crowther for the Blue and Clarke for the Golds.

Many fumbles were made, especially after the rain set in.

In the second period, Buck Crews interecpted a pass in midfield and was apparently headed for a touchdown but Nelson Ross sped after him, pulling him down after he had advanced to the 18-yard line. In one of two plays after Crews' dash, Pryor dropped the pass and the danger was over.

Many substitutes, especially during the second half, were sent in. A continual string of substitutes went into the fray from both the Gold and Blue ranks.

During the third period, the Golds finally worked the ball to the Blue 10-yard line where they were stopped.

Corsicana Tigers Banqueted At The High School Cafeteria

Bringing the spring season training camp to a close with a get-together feed and banquet, the Corsicana Tigers were honor guests at a meeting held in the high school cafeteria with a number of the members of the athletic council and others present. Numerous inspirational addresses were made, and the Tigers were shown that the town is squarely behind them and is expecting them to "strut their stuff" in the campaign for district honors next fall.

Beauford H. Jester, president of the athletic council, was toastmaster for the occasion.

Lowry Martin one of the publishers of the Corsicana Daily Sun, made an inspirational address to the boys, telling them, how the town was behind them, and how the Sun was for them 100 percent. He closed his remarks by promising the squad that if they won the district 4 championship during the 1930 campaign, the Corsicana Daily Sun would give each member of the squad a wrist watch.

Ted B. Ferguson, president of the Corsicana Rotary Club; C. T. Banister, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and member of the school board; and W. P. McCammon, president of the school board, also spoke, praising the squad for their sportsmanship and good demeanor, and predicting the team would be heard from. A letter was read from C. A. Middleton, secretary of the school board, who could not be present.

C. S. Stroud, member of the athletic council, appeared on the program, and told the boys of the interest the people of the town held for them.

Paul Moore, sports editor of the Sun, advised the boys that the team that wins championships have it in their minds to win and will not be denied. He urged the boys to hit the opposition so hard that they could not stand the pressure, and when they tackled them, tackle them so hard they would stay down, but do it in a clean and sportsmanship manner.

Tyree Bell Speaks

Tyree L. Bell, ex-captain of the Texas Aggies, and ardent grid enthusiast, made a stirring talk, pointing out how to play football is to love it. He said that if a player did not want to play in the cold, rain, etc., he ought to quit. "You can't go on living on the beating of Waco several years ago, that is past," Mr. Bell declared. He also spoke of studying the rules, knowing the why, etc.

H. D. Fillers, superintendent of the city schools, and W. H. Norwood, principal of the high school, spoke of the athletic situation. Mr. Fillers pointed out the help that the playing of football in the ward schools will be to the high school and how much better players will be developed who grow up with football. Mr. Norwood referred to the fine spirit and leadership that prompted a meeting of the players about a month ago when a bad situation existed; of how the boys got together and pledged to do the right thing and also pledged that they would see the others did the right thing, or else. Mr. Norwood pointed out how it was necessary for grades to be made. He said Corsicana was behind them and that the prospects were exceptionally good for a real team.

Garitty's Talk

John Garitty, ex-Aggie captain, official and former coach advised the players to play the game fair and honest but hard and vicious. "The kid playing is over, and now is the time to step," Mr. Garitty stated. He said the local team had the material and ought to go far in the race this year. He said Corsicana had not quit the team when they lost. Garitty said that both backfields in action Friday afternoon looked fine, and that his honest opinion was that the Corsicana high school team could have beaten many of the college teams of a few years ago, as they pulled trick plays, etc., that would have baffled the college teams of a few years back.

O. F. Allen, principal of the junior high school, and Coach Vaughter of the junior high, thanked the Tigers for the proceeds of the benefit game Friday, and pointed out how the junior high would be better equipped. Coach Vaughter said he had one man on his club who weighs 210 and another who tips the scales at 203.

Coaches Pierce and Jeffries said they were anxious for next fall to arrive and they and the players were "rarin'" to go. Coach Pierce said the best spirit and morale was noticeable in the high school rangs since he has been in Corsicana. He complimented Ted Jeffries, his assistant, and said he was a big help.

CATS AND STEERS NOT DOING SO WELL ON TOUR OF STATE

(By The Associated Press.)

So much was evident today to Texas league followers, that taking to the road wasn't agreeing particularly well with either the Fort Worth Cats or the Dallas Herd, and that the Wichita Falls Spudders were thriving on travel.

The Spudders traveled so fast and furiously around the four corners of the diamond yesterday that they swept both ends of the double bill from the Waco Cubs, 13 to 9 and 10 to 2, on the Waco home lot.

The Cubs lost the first game through misplays. Larry Bettencourt hit safely five times in five trips to the plate, including a double and a home run.

The Shippers suffered a 5 to 0 handout from the Steers. Grady Adkins, Jakie Atz's ace right-hander, hurled in big league style to confine the Beaumonters to two scattering hits.

The San Antonio Indians took their first game since May 2, defeating the Sports 8 to 2 in the second game of a double header, although the Shreveporters took the first number 4 to 0.

The Houston Buffs poured it on the Cats 3 to 1, to capture the series. Five double plays, most of them sensational, kept 5,000 fans in an uproar.

PLAN RED CROSS FOR RELIEF WORK FULLY EXPLAINED

Albert Evans, national director of the American Red Cross for the midwestern area, with headquarters in St. Louis, explained in minute detail the workings of the Red Cross in the relief work to be carried on in the Frost and other stricken areas, of how the money is to be expended, etc., to a representative group of citizens of Corsicana which met in the Corsicana chamber of commerce, where the Red Cross headquatrers for the entire area is maintained, Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, and at the conclusion of his talk, the group unanimously agreed upon the plan. The expenditure of funds for the Frost tornado relief will be passed upon by a committee of five citizens of Frost and two from Corsicana along with the director before the bills are paid.

The Red Cross advisory board which will pass on all claims and exepnditures of the relief program will be R. F. Shaw, J. C. Beck, A. H. Strain, Sam F. Jones and W .A. Simms of Frost and Mayor R. L. Wheelock and J. N. Garitty of Corsicana.

This advisory committee will meet twice each week and also upon a special call from the director.

It was stated that $60,000 had been deposited in Corsicana from the general headquarters of the Red Cross organization to be used in the Central Texas area. "Tornado Caused Need," as Director Evans termed it.

Called By Mayor

The meeting Saturday morning was called by Mayor R. L. Wheelock of a representative group of citizens with the Red Cross officials to discuss the emergency needs in the Frost area which was demolished by a tornado Tuesday that took the lives of 22 people and severely wounded approximately 75.

Director Evans explained in minute detail how the money is to expended and how the relief is being handled. He said all funds and accounts would be passed upon by the advisory committee of Frost and Corsicana citizens before checks were issued. It is the present paln to begin this work early next week.

Handled Through Red Cross

The moneyes donated for the relief of the Frost area in Corsicana and other towns will be turned over to the Red Cross organization who will make and keep an accurate account of the money handled. It was stated by Mr. Evans that the headquarters for this stricken area would likely be maintained in Corsicana for ten weeks or until the area was rehabilitated. If it is necessary to augment the $60,000 from the Red Cross headquarters, other money will be brought here.

Among those present at the meeting held Saturday morning were R. L. Wheelock, Joe B. Fortson, W. A. Wright, John T. Fortson, J. N. Garitty, F. P. McElwrath, E. W. Ellis, George E. Jester, John D. Cunningham, I. N. Cerf, A. G. Elliott, W. W. McClendon, J. S. Murchison, C. H. Mills, Rev. H. J. Ellis, Wm. O. Harwell, J. N. Edens, J. R. Petty and Lowry Martin.

The following statement was issued Saturday afternoon by Captain Albert Evans in charge of the Red Cross relief work at Frost:

"The Red Cross has accepted the responsibility of administering the relief fund. The public is assured that every dollar of this fund will reach the disaster sufferers and be administered under the advice of local committees. The local committee for Navarro county covering the Frost donations are: R. F. Shaw, J. C. Beck, A. H. Strain, W. A. Sims and Sam F. Jones, all of Frost. The members of this committee from Corsicana are R. L. Wheelock and J. N. Garitty. This committee will pass upon every family award that is made by the Red Cross.

The needs of food, clothing and shelter and medical care are being met in full. The task of conferring with the families of the disaster stricken area is being worked out and the best plan to rebuilding and restoring this area now confronts the Red Cross. Assistance will be based upon need and not upon loss. While every family will be assisted to do for itself each family will be expected to do all that can be reasonably expected towards their re-establishment. What the family cannot do for itself will be done by the Red Cross. This assistance may be in the form of food supplies, clothing, household goods, farm equipment, building and repairs. This assistance is not charity but neighborly help and the Red Cross is simply the agent for applying this assistance in the most suitable and capable fashion. All purchases will be made through local merchants. The Red Cross does not enter into any trade agreement with wholesalers. The disaster sufferers are urged to patronize their own merchants and assist in restoring Frost back to its pre-disaster condition. A slogan has been adopted, "Plan, Build and Smile Again." I can give the assurance that the Red Cross will make no deductions for administration assistance. There is a long up hill struggle—Let's pull together—"Plan, Build and Smile Again."

ALBERT EVANS.

Moody Aroused Over Sherman Mob Action; Guilty Be Punished

AUSTIN, May 10.—(AP)—Classifying the action of the mob at Sherman as a slander and libel on the people of Texas, Governor Dan Moody today issued a statemeant in which he declared that every power of the state would be brought to bear to seek out and punish the persons responsible for the rioting.

Mr. Moody emphatically denied that he had instructed Texas rangers not to shoot. He said he had sent both rangers and national guardsmen to the city under generals orders to protect the negro prisoner and preserve the peace.

He termed the action of the mob in firing on the soldiers as treasonable. "The action of this mob in undertaking to set aside the laws of the country and making of itself a group of murderers and incendiarists by burning the courthouse and killing the negro is unpardonable. It is an evil day when any group of persons combines to override constituted law and authority and add to the crime of murder and arson the offense of firing on soldiers of their state and country."

Continuing, the governor stated: "The wanton destruction of property by the mob was crime in its most reckless fashion. The burning of the courthouse is arson just as much a ssetting fire to a neighbor's house. I hope the officers find the persons who set fire to the courthouse and who were leaders of the mob. All state powers at my command will be used to send these persons to the penitentiary where they belong.

"I understand from news dispatches that soldiers were fired upon by the mob. These men were in Sherman as an organized body of soldiers, representing constituted authority and wearing the uniform of the United States army and the action of the mob in firing on them was treasonable. If the identity of the men who made the assault can be ascertained, every power in the state will be utilized in meting out a just punishment to them."

MAN WHO HAS REARED MANY ORPHANED CHILDREN WANTS FOLLOW PLOW 100 YEARS

ARDMORE, Okla., May 9.—(AP)—With responsibility for rearing and caring for 43 orphan children resting upon his shoulders and his ambition whetted to voice the miraculous boast of having followed a plow every season for 100 years, and with but two years to go to fulfill that goal, John Allen, Murray county's grand old man faces the future.

Uncle John sat before his home hearth north of Sulphur and gave the Associated Press correspondent his quaint philosophy of life which upon final analysis is not so quaint after all but rather sound and applicable to modern times.

"I want to live to be able to boast, and for those I leave behind me to boast, that I followed a plow every season for 100 years of my life," he said. "I began plowing when I was eight years old and was riding a sulky plow last December when winter weather put a stop to farming operations. You see I have just got to live two more years, at least, to make this record because I have only 98 years to my credit now and I must go on."

The life of John Allen is filled with romance of a rustic sort not common to the present generation. His achievements have been so submerged by his modesty in an effort to avoid publicity that many who have known him for more than half a century do not appreciate fully just how much he has done for humanity.

To account for his longevity and to what he attributes his general good health, he explained, "I never worried about things I couldn't help. Worry causes more troubles than anything I know of and does no good.

Parents Died When He Was Babe.

Mr. Allen was born in a long forgotten hamlet on the state line between Tennessee and Alabama, on Aug. 9, 1824. He does not remember his father and mother because they were stricken with cholera and died within six hours of each other when he was an infant.

Before his parents died, however, they requested a family by the name of Nelson to take their boy and it was 14 years later when he learned he was not their son.

The Nelsons were poor but treated him like one of their own children. Allen lived with the Nelson family until he was 21 years old and then the call of Texas gripped him.

In Texas he worked on a farm and drifted about during the unsettled period of the Republic. He arrived there in the spring of 1845 and it was not until the fall of that year the constitution of Texas was presented to the United States congress by President Polk and Texas was admitted to the Union.

When the war between the states was declared, Allen was living in Cook county, Texas. He enlisted in the cause of the Confederacy and followed the fortunes of General Robert E. Lee to the end.

Between himself and three comrades in Cook county, Texas, a bond of friendship was established—the direct cause for his taking so much interest in orphan children, an inspirational duty that prompted him to raise 33 boys and 10 girls after the Civil War.

Oath is Taken.

Just prior to a major engagement during the last months of the war his three comrades, who were married, evinced signs of uneasiness, a sort of premonition that they might not survive the conflict. Allen, being a bachelor, took it all in a day's work but did not fail to note the attitude of his comrades. They were seated in the shade of a tree waiting for the command to go into action with thoughts of home uppermost. It was during this brief lull that the compact was made regarding the orphans.

The four took an oath with uplifted hands that should any of their number be spared, he would see that the families of those who were slain would be cared for. Then came the order to advance. Two were killed, almost at the very beginning of the ensuing battle, and Allen said he was sorry to relate that the third man failed to live up to his obligations in later years.

After the war, Allen returned to Texas, hunted up the widows of his slain comrades and proceeded to fulfill his obligations. Between the two households and with others taken in and cared for he never had more than 18 children at one time to look after, he remarked behind a flicker of a smile. The arrangement continued until both mothers died and the older children had married and scattered to care for themselves. Even then he found himself with five children on his hands, one of whom was a girl. Allen said he was able to take care of the boys but the girl presented a problem that he overcame when he induced an old couple to come and live with him to take part of the burden off his hands.

People all around me compain of the high cost of living and how hard it is to raise a family of children," Allen commented. "Why, raising a family is the easiest thing in the world if one exercises a bit of common sense and makes everything count. Pshaw, I can raise half a dozen kids right now and not half try. Its all in the point of view."

On account of the meeting of the Texas State Dental Society, I shall be absent from my office from May 20 to 23rd inclusive.—DR. TRIM HOUSTON.

LARGE AMOUNT BE NEEDED FOR FULL TORNADO RELIEF

Capt. Albert Evans, national director in American Red Cross work, who has established area headquarters in Corsicana for the relief in the tornado area of which Frost was the center, stated Saturday afternoon that the original estimate of $150,000 needed for Texas sufferers was too low and that it would approximate at least $200,000. He said he had never seen a more destructive tornado, and had it struck areas like San Antonio, Dallas, Houston or other thickly populated areas and metropolitan areas, the dead and injured would have been many thousand.

"Plan, Build and Smile" is the slogan for the city, and "Plant, Build and Smile" for the rural workers.

He said that he was arranging a seed program for the aiding of the farm sufferers.

Speaking of the workings of the Red Cross, Mr. Evans said that the administrative expenses and supplemental funds necessary for rehabilitation in areas were carried by the headquarters of the organization, the funds of which are secured by the annual membership drives of the Red Cross. "Every cent raised for the Frost area relief will be spent there," Mr. Evans continued.

All sufferers have been given temporary aid, clothing and food.

There are 20 dead in Hill county, 24 went to the hospitals and 32 were treated for injuries, making the total injury list 56. Sixty-one farmstead buildings in Hill county were completely destroyed and 51 damaged.

Navarro County Losses.

In Navarro county, 22 are dead, 62 went to hospitals and 52 received treatment for injuries, making 114 injured. There were 67 homes destroyed in Frost and 50 damaged. There were 32 farmsteads destroyed and damaged. All of the business houses in Frost were destroyed. There were 275 families in Navarro county affected by the tornado.

In Ellis county, three were killed, 35 sent to the hospital and 30 treated for injuries outside of the hospitals, making a total of 65 injured. There were 97 houses destroyed in Ellis county.

In McLennan county, 41 homestead buildings were destroyed.

Gov. Moody is to be appealed to by the Red Cross officials to send out another appeal to the citizenship of Texas to send in all the money possible for the stricken areas.

BLOOMING GROVE AIDING SUFFERERS IN STORM DISTRICT

BANKER OF NEIGHBORING TOWN PRAISES CORSICANA FOR QUICK ASSISTANCE

J. R. Griffin, Blooming Grove banker, and one of the first to rush to the stricken city of Frost Tuesday when the devastating tornado swept the community, was in Corsicana Friday and was highly complimentary on the manner in which the citizenship of Corsicana had responded to the need of the West Navarro town. He said that Corsicana had done everything that could be expected or wanted in every respect.

Approximately $2,300 is in the bank at Blooming Grove for the sufferers, he stated. About $900 of the amount was raised by the committees of Blooming Grove citizens on the highways toward Blooming Grove.

Citizens of Kerens brought $400 to Blooming Grove Thursday, which is not included in the Blooming Grove figures, to be used in the relief work, and the Kerens citizens said that additional money would be raised and sent. This amount is going toward the sufferers in Frost.

The Cotton Belt Lines have sent a string of box cars to the Frost area to be used as temporary houses. Several vacant houses in Blooming Grove are being used for housing the refugees.

Churches Tendered

Pastors of the various Blooming Grove churches went to Frost Friday morning and tendered the use of the buildings to the Frost churches for services and Sunday schools, offering to divide the time.

Blooming Grove is tendering the use of a school building to Frost if it is desired for the finishing of the high school session, Mr. Griffin pointed out.

"Corsicana sure has been liberal, and has done everything that could be done," Mr. Griffin said. He also stated that approximately 100 truck loads of lumber from Corsicana lumber yards passed through Blooming Grove to Frost Thursday.

Speaking of the damage done in the Lone Cedar community which is north of Blooming Grove, Mr. Griffin said that the George Green gin was demolished and nineteen residences were damaged or destroyed, and that many of the tenants in that community had lost all their possessions. The citizens of Blooming Grove sent $100 into that community to purchase food for the destitute, and more aid is to be sent.

ELEVEN SUSPECTS ARE RELEASED AFTER QUESTIONING

SHERMAN, May 10.—(AP)—After recording their names, 11 men arrested by national guardsmen in connection with the mob disturbance here were released today.

Another arrest was made and the latest prisoners and four others rounded up by the guardsmen were held in the county jail for further investigation.

No charges had been filed and it had not been determined what disposition would be made of the cases. Arrangements were being made so that a court session might be held.

Officers found on the last man arrested a stick of dynamite. No weapons of any kind were found on the other prisoners.

Rain today kept most of the residents inside and the streets resembled those on any ordinary rainy day save for groups of uniformed men stationed at strategic points.

At a meeting of county, city and military officials today it was decided to keep the guardsmen here until there was no further fear of a renewal of the rioting, culminated in the death of George Hughes, negro, charged with criminal assault, in a vault in the courthouse which was fired by the mob.

HEAVY ADDITIONAL DAMAGE CAUSED FOR STORM SUFFERERS

FROST, May 10.—(Staff Special)—W. V. Harrison, superintendent of the Frost public schools, stated Saturday the report that Frost school would be opened May 19 was unauthorized. He said the school would be opened just as soon as repairs could be made to the building and when that could be accomplished was yet undetermined.

At 1:30 p. m. Saturday the downpour had slackened to some extent although impassable roads were still a problem to the storm victims.

A number of merchants had succeeded in getting their stocks in such a shape as to be open for business and trading was under way.

The morale of the stricken community is rapidly improving and the grim determination to rebuild regardless of difficulties encountered is evidenced in every quarter.

A large number of Corsicana citizens are still in Frost assisting every way possible.

Drenched and almost flooded by a heavy rain that started falling about 6 o'clock Saturday morning, all rehabilitation work was necessarily suspended at Frost as the streets in the town and the roads leading into it became impassable.

The storm-torn village received only a light shower Friday afternoon, although a heavy rain fell within a quarter of a mile of the town; a number of workmen had extreme difficulties in reaching their homes because of flooded lowlands and water-covered roads.

Frost merchants were housed Saturday in their temporary building and the greater part of their stocks had been moved, but it was almost impossible to reach them because of the small rivers of water that ran through the natural drainage ditches surrounding them.

Those merchants who had been using their storm-torn buildings were forced to protect their stocks as best they could, suffering additional damage from the hard rain.

Probably the greatest sufferers were the residents whose homes were damaged, but not destroyed. A great majority of the homes were moved off their foundation blocks, and had their roofs and all the superstructure of their houses torns away, leaving little protection against the heavy downpour.

Rail Line Only Way.

It was impcssible to send food or building supplies except by rail to the stricken village, and the situation grew more serious as the rain continued, with the damage increasing hour by hour.

The citizens were fighting bravely Saturday to keep up the courage that has been typical since the disaster swept them, with the task becoming difficult as they had time for lengthy reflection for the first time since Tuesday night.

Carpenters practically completed the second of the store buildings Friday which gave quarters to five additional merchants. Between 75 and 100 workmen from Milford and vicinity under the supervision of R. D. Morrell, aided in clearing away wreckage and erection of the new structure Friday; large delegations were also sent in from Prairie Hill, Dawson, Hubbard, Italy, Blooming Grove and Corsicana.

A temporary front was being erected Friday on the Citizens State Bank, and it was hoped that the building would be ready for business within a few days.

Planning to Rebuild.

With only a few exceptions, Frost merchants are planning to rebuild their business houses, and leaders of the town declared that they believed that they would hold the greater part of their population.

Farmers near Frost are still suffering heavily as the heavy rains continue to damage crops not destroyed by the tornado, and with almost all of their livestock and implements gone. The tornado stripped fields of young corn to the stalk, leaving fields with the appearance of a great expanse dotted with sticks.

With the damage increasing steadily as the rain continued, Capt. Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief for the American Red Cross, again urged that cash donations for relief work continue, since a large amount of additional funds will be needed.

House Fired By Lightning.

BLOOMING GROVE, May 10.—(Spl)—Fire Saturday morning resulting from lightning striking a house occupied by a negro family was extinguished before any great damage was done. None was injured.

Large Amounts of Soap Contributed

A large number of Corsicana retail and wholesale grocery houses, as well as individuals donated enough bars of toilet and laundry soap Friday to meet the present requirements of the storm visited area in Frost. Those taking up the donations declared that the business houses and individuals were spontaneous in their response to the solicitation. The following list of donors was turned in to the Daily Sun:

Sowell Bros. Grocery, Ransom's Grocery, Southern Wholesale Grocery Co., Central Texas Grocery Co., B. and J. Sales Co., Fortson Grocery Co., Fred Summerall, Miss Rose Sizemore, and Mrs. L. E. Hervey.

GIVE TO RELIEF.

At the annual luncheon meeting of the Corsicana Nevin club, held at the home of Mrs. Ed M. Polk, Sr., president, at noon Saturday, the club went on record voting $25 to the Frost relief fund.

RED CROSS RELIEF HEAD STRESSES NEED ADDITIONAL FUNDS

TEMPORARY STORES BEING OCCUPIED BY MERCHANTS FRIDAY MORNING

With damage running considerably in excess of the preliminary estimate, Captain Albert Evans, assistant national director of disaster relief, urged the people of Texas to continue their response to the statewide appeal for funds. Cash was declared to be the principal need in the rehabilitation work.

Capt. Evans said Friday morning that all funds raidsed in Corsicana and Navarro county would be used in the relief work at Frost plus such funds from the American Red Cross treasury as will be needed to meet the minimum needs of the situation.

A state-wide appeal has been made for at least $150,000 which was the first estimate of the amount needed to care for immediate relief but Captain Evans stated that his opinion after only a partial survey was that much more would be needed.

The funds raised in this area will be expended by Red Cross officials locally under the supervision of a group of representative Frost and Corsicana citizens; a group of Hillsboro men will direct the expenditures in Hill county, and the same procedure will be carried out in Ellis county.

Assistance to be given by the Red Cross, according to the relief worker, will consist of building and repairs, furniture, kitchen utensils, food and clothing, implements of trade, and agricultural implements, all issued on a basis of actual need.

None of the expenses of the local workers will be met from the local funds according to Captain Evans.

Damage Is Great

The damage is much greater than the first reports indicated according to the captain, the area is more extensive, and include much agricultural territory that was hard hit.

Accompanied by J. N. Garitty, treasurer of the local relief fund, Captain Evans was completing a survey of the damage Friday morning, including visits to Frost, Hackberry, Eynum, Irene, Bardwell, Avalon and Ennis.

A complete relief work staff will be put into the field immediately with headquarters in Corsicana under the direction of Captain Evans.

Purchasing of supplies from Frost merchants was recommended as one of the principal ways of aiding the rehabilitation work, according to the captain. The first supplies sent out to the stricken community were needed and appreciated but the principal need now is for cash donations. Headquarters in Corsicana and Frost were reported swamped with old clothes, and had an ample supply for all demands. The principal need is supplies and foodstuffs through the Frost merchants.

Relief Kitchen

The camp kitchen erected for emergency use will continue to supply meals to the destitute through Friday, but on Saturday, food and cooking utensils may be secured by the families from the local merchants through orders issued by the relief director. Capt. Evans asserted that there were more demands for food from sight sightseers than from storm sufferers.

Through special arrangements with the Frost merchants, reduced rates will be given on kitchen supplies and equipment to storm sufferers.

A thorough check was under way Friday by Red Cross officials of all the injured, even those very slightly hurt, to see that anti-tetanic serum has been administered.

Cooperating with the local health department of Frost and the state health department, a campaign is under way for immunization against typhoid fever. A clinic has been established and is capable of meeting the needs of the situation.

To Remain Some Time

"The Red Cross will remain until the people show their ability for self-sustenance, and are winning their way back to near normal conditions," said Captain Evans.

Fear was expressed by the relief director that some funds contributed to unauthorized agencies would not be put in the proper channels, but said that the sheriff's department and the district attorney were prepared to take all necessary steps to protect the funds.

Home rehabilitation work has also been started and will continue until completed, and the Red Cross will aid the building on a basis of actual need in the individual cases.

With a few workmen engaged in putting the finishing touches on the first group of temporary stores, the main group were busy on a structure, 100 by 50, which will accommodate five additional stores. The three Corsicana electrical firms: Richard Scott company, Dickson Electric company, and Davidson Electric company, are wiring the completed building for electric lights.

Merchants were busily engaged in moving their stocks and fixtures to their new quarters Friday, preparatory to opening for business Saturday.

Many Workmen Busy

Several hundred workmen, sent in by widely scattered towns including Corsicana, Hillsboro, Waco, Cooledge, Irene and others aided in clearing away the debris, and in moving the stocks, and by nightfall practically all of the business district will be free of rubbish.

Many home-owners were busily engaged in putting their houses in order as far as possible; and a number of contractors were making repair estimates.

Those in charge of the reconstruction work urged towns planning to send delegations to aid in the work of rebuilding to let officials at Frost know when they were coming ahead of time, pointing out that many workmen would be needed next week as the work continues.

Military Rule Holds.

Major Horton B. Porter, commanding the military police at Frost, stated Friday that the rule would probably be continued through Sunday. He stated that when the military were told to report to Frost officials and arrived on the scene they found a crowd estimated at 15,000 people, and that their orders were to stay until the situation no longer demanded their presence.

A number of undesirables were included in the huge crowds and these were immediately ordered away from the stricken town. Maj. Porter declared that the co-operation of the people of Frost and of visitors had been wonderful and that the policing of the stricken area had been carried out with no difficulties.

Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and several deputies co-operated as well as members of the state highway patrol under Lieut. J. D. Moffat, aided in handling the traffic situation.

As a sanitary precaution, Major Porter ordered all dead animals and spoiled meats destroyed after his arrival.

Guardsmen Complimented.

The commandin gofficer, complimented the National Guardsmen on duty very highly, stating that they had at all times been courteous but firm. Four companies of men have been on duty including Headquarters and D Batteries, 132nd Field Artillery of Corsicana, under the command of Captains F. A. Pierce and John J. Garner; Headquatrers Company of the Second Battalion, 143rd Infantry, under Lieut. F. M. Breeding, and Company L, 143rd Infantry, under Captain I. B. Carrico. Capt. Garner is the executive officer of the organization, and Lieut. Breeding, adjutant.

A number of the Frost merchants were conducting their businesses in the wrecked buildings, including the barber shop where persons were seen getting shaves and haircuts in the frontless structure.

The Red Cross kitchen housed in portable huts of the state highway department, served dinner to 400 workmen, and supper to about half that number.

Kitchen Staff.

The kitchen staff was headed by Miss Dorothy Drane, and included the following, all from Corsicana: C. R. Terry, Mesdames E. T. Cunningham, E. W. Ellis, F. P. McKie, H. O. Blanding, H. R. Stroube, Frank McNally and Miss Willette Greenlee.

The feeling of the citizens of Frost were summarized by Ab Ledford about as follows: "The people of Corsicana came in when it looked like the end of things and have helped us get back on our feet, and are still helping us with our problems. They have done and are doing everything that they can, and we are grateful, and appreciate their response to our needs."

Workmen were rapidly completing their restoration of power and telephone lines, and will have their task completed soon.

HEAVY RAINFALL OVER COUNTY HAS SENT STREAMS OUT

A steady downpour of rain here Saturday morning, following a fall of 1.55 inches Friday afternoon and night, flooded the streets in Corsicana and started every creek in Navarro county on a rampage. Roads in every direction were impassable and farm lands were being badly washed.

No material damage has been reported from the strong wind that accompanied the rain Friday afternoon. A negro house in Blooming Grove was struck by lightning Saturday morning, but no one was injured.

The rain added misery and woe to the workers in Frost who were trying to bring order out of chaos caused by the cyclone last Tuesday. Workers from Corsicana went on the Cotton Belt train and supplies were also sent that way.

Richland and Chambers creeks, the two largest in the county were flooding their bottoms and overflowing the roads crossing them. Chambers creek could not be crossed on the Roane or Powell roads and the Richland creek blocked the road to Dawson.

In Corsicana all streets were flooded, and in the lower places automobiles were drowned out.

No official gauge of the rainfall in Corsicana was available at noon Saturday, but it was estimated at one inch or more, bringing the total rainfall for the past 24 hours to almost three inches.

Trains Keep Schedules

Electric and steam railroads were running on schedule early Saturday afternoon, but considerable high water had been reported. A washout on the main line of the Southern Pacific Lines was reported here Saturday. About 50 feet of the dump one mile south of Mexia was washed away and crews of workmen were dispatched to the scene. It was reported by local railroad officials that the track should be repaired late Saturday.

Southern Pacific trains were being routed over the S. P. cut-off track between Mexia and Navasota and as the distance is slightly less than over the main line, the schedules are being kept up.

It was stated by Texas Electric officials that the interurban traffic was still making schedule, but high water was reported in Chambers creek bottom with the water still rising Saturday afternoon.

Cotton Belt wires between Corsicana and Waco have been out for a majority of the day and it is thought that high water in the Richland creek area has caused the wire trouble. No washouts had been reported. The Cotton Belt trains, both east and west, on the main line and also the Hillsboro Branch trains were on time Saturday morning.

Aid Fund Received By Salvation Army Officer Stevenson

A substantial check from a donor drawn on the Hull State Bank was received here Friday by Ensign William Stevenson, officer in charge of the Salvation Army corps, and was immediately turned over to R. F. Shaw, of the Citizens State Bank in Frost to be used to aiding in relieving the suffering of that community. The Salvation Army corps was one of the first relief agencies to reach the scene of the disaster, and opened a canteen to dispense food and coffee to the homeless while the relief workers were caring for the injured, and removing the dead.

Ensign Stevenson went to the storm stricken area on the first relief steam train Tuesday and remained there on duty until late Wednesday afternoon. The local officer returned to Frost Thursday morning with a party of Corsicana Salvation Army members and salvaged food and supplies from the wrecked stores and aided materially in caring for the destitute.

THREE POLICEMEN BURNED ALIVE IN CITY OF SHOLAPUR

MANY DEAD AS RESULT OF RIOTING DUE TO GENERAL INDIAN UPRISING

POONA, India, May 9.—(AP)—One hundred and fifty European women and children arrived here today, terror on their faces, from Sholapur, which they left yesterday as three Mohammedan policemen were being burned to death by an angry mob of Indians.

They said the three policemen, all Mohammedans, were captured by the mob, and bound together. Their uniforms were then soaked with kerosene and set afire. The outrage tok place near the sessions court demonstration in behalf of the civil disobedience campaign and in protest at arrest of Mahatma Gandhi.

The refugees carried with them what they could snatch from their houses after the evacuation order was given. Some had their dogs, canaries, and cooking utensils. They all appeared to have been badly frightened and could give only incoherent accounts of what had happened.

Official explanations of the evacuation said that the authorities wished to leave the police free to deal with disturbances if any should occure today or tomorrow—Saturday being the Moslem feast day of Bakrid. The bungalows occupied by the foreigners are all situated in open places and require strong guards over each for protection, thus depleting the police forces.

Estimates of Dead Vary

It was learned from wives of the distrito superintendents of police and other high officials who arrived here on a later train that the rioting took a communal turn after burning of the three Moslem policemen, the development greatly intensifying the racial and religious hatreds.

Estimates on the dead varied. Officially it was said that about twelve were killed. Other estimates gave the native dead as high as twenty-fice and the police dead as high as seven. Many of those aboard the refugee train thought the casualties must run much higher. About 100 persons were said to have been wounded.

Every member of the Ssolapur police force was injured in some fashion or another either by stones, sticks or knives. The district magistrate was struck in the neck by a stone and a police sergeant was stabbed in the leg with a knife and received other injuries. A regular fussillade of stones continued unchecked for hours.

Hamilton-Beeman Memorial Assn. in Regular Meeting

Hamilton-Beeman Memorial Association met May 1, with Mrs. Sid Story and her mother, Mrs. Collum, at their home on South Fifteenth street. After a most profitable and enjoyable business session, thimbles, needles and strenuous thoughts were dropped, and all turned to the sweet pleasure of listening to Miss Mona Anderson's and Miss Florette Kaplan's skilful and delicately expressive performances on the piano. Their ready willingness to help by giving these hours, is sincerely appreciated.

Miss Vivian Evetts gave two readings in a spirited and understanding way. Mrs. Kelton's historical sketch was of her grandfather, M. M. Dickson, who came to Navarro county in 1876, and in a few years was buried at Hamilton cemetery.

Mrs. Story, assisted by her daughter, Pauline, and friends, served delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be Thursday, May 15, at the home of Mrs. Campbell Gillespie, at 801 N. Beaton street, with her mother as joint hostess.

It is hoped that a beautiful quilt may be sold then. All members are urged to be diligent, as there is much work to be done in these few working months, and all are needed to work together now.

CORSICANA TO BE HEADQUARTERS FOR NATIONAL RED CROSS

The American National Red Cross is getting the work organized in this area for the rehabilitation work for the sufferers of the tornado which swept Navarro, Ellis, McLennan, Hill and other counties early this week, Clarence F. Rowland, assistant director, disastrous preparedness, midwestern branch, St. Louis, stated here Friday morning at the area headquarters which has been established in the Corsicana chamber of commerce building here.

Corsicana is to be the headquarters for this entire area.

Albert Evans, director of the midwestern area, is also here and other high national officials will likely be here within the next few days.

Evans and Rowland met with citizens of Ennis Thursday night in a mass meeting and it was decided that all of the relief measures would be carried out through the Red Cross.

Miss Jessie Clark, disaster worker, is en route from St. Louis, and will arrive Friday night.

"The relief work is well under way at Frost," Mr. Rowland stated.

Case workers out of the Dallas Red Cross office will be in the Frost area Friday.

Relief Branches.

Relief headquarters, under the general headquarters here, have been opened at Frost, Ennis and Hillsboro.

"McLennan county was damaged worse than at first thought, and relief work there is being handled through the Waco Red Cross organization," Mr. Rowland continued.

Tents, cots and blankets are en route to Ennis to be used by the sufferers there until the houses have been reconstructed.

Ellis county suffered the loss of seventy-five houses and with 100 houses damaged, Mr. Rowland continued.

About twenty houses, mostly rural, were destroyed in McLennan county.

Twenty-seven disaster operations are being cared for by the Red Cross in the midwestern area, all tornadoes. States in which the relief work is under way at the present time are Texas, Wisconsin, Nebraska, ansas, Missouri, Oklahoma. All of the disastrous tornadoes occurred since May 1.

"All funds raised for relief here are to be turned over to the Red Cross,' Mr. Rowland stated, "and we will remain here until the area is rehabilitated."

Will Undertake Rehabilitation.

Explaining the workings of the relief, Mr. Rowland said that case workers would interview all families affected in the area, finding out what their financial circumstances and resources are, etc., and then making a report which will be approved and sanctioned by the committee of local business and other men before any relief is given. No money is given, but where houses and furniture are destroyed with no financial possibilities of the sufferers rehabilitating themselves, the Red Cross will rebuild and refurnish them. If groceries or furniture are needed, an order to the dealers will be issued, allowing so much, and the Red Cross will later pay the amount.

Planting seeds, chickens, livestock, etc., will be furnished.

Dr. DeKline, national director of medical relief, Red Cross of Washington, is en route to Corsicana to confer with the local health officials and to check up on the needs of the injured.

Mr. Rowland said that all lumber, medicines, groceries, seeds, livestock, etc., needed in an area, would be purchased from the dealers in the area, and not bought in cities many miles away. Many of the smaller merchants will be put back in business.

The Red Cross will not put up a shack of a house, or just a few chairs, etc., for furniture, but will rehabilitate the unfortunate sufferers in such a condition that they can take hold, with the right frame of mind, and carry on and return to their state before the disaster, Mr. Rowland said.

Director Evans was conferring with Frost leaders and committees on rehabilitation plans Friday morning.

STOCK MARKET IS STILL DULL WITH MONDAY OPENING

RESUMPTION BULL POOLS ENCOURAGED SEVERAL ISSUES FOR ADVANCE

NEW YORK, May 10.—(AP)—The stock market was dull and irregular in forenoon trading. Upward tendencies failed to develop definitely until there has been considerable shifting of the seculative position during which several prominent shares showed weakness in sympathy with the decline in U. S. Steel on the large reduction in unfilled tonnage, announced Saturday.

A small advance in copper prices and the resumption of pool activities in various specialties encouraged bulls and rises of 2 to 3 points were easily achieved in numerous utility, Copper, railroad, Oil and Specialty issues. Detroit Edison advanced and Anaconda Copper, Howe Sound, Johns-Manville, Worthington Pump, American Power and Light and Best and Co., about 3.

The closing was steady. Total sales approximated 3,050,000 shares.

New York Cotton Steady.

NEW YORK, May 12.—(AP)—Cotton opened steady, unchanged to a decline of 8 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables.

After opening at 16.35, May eased off to 16.30 and selling of later deliveries became slightly more active with the general list showing net declines of about 5 to 11 points at the end of the first half hour.

The new October sold off to 14.56.

There was a little more July for sale during the middle of the morning, sending thep rice off to 16.27, or 17 points net lower, while new crop months sold about 8 to 12 points below Saturday's close.

Offerings of the latter were light, however, and expectations that the detailed weather reports would show further rains in the west brought in some buying on the dip which sent prices back within a point or two of Saturday's closing quotations later in the morning.

July also rallied a few points from the lowest with the general market quiet and steady around mid-day, at net declines of 1 to 11 points.

Futures closed steady, 30 points lower to 39 points higher.

New Orleans Cotton Easier.

NEW ORLEANS, May 12.—(AP)—The cotton market had an easier opening owing to poor liverpool cables. May opened 12 points down and later positions 6 to 7 points lower than Saturday's close. The market continued to ease off after the call as New York opened even lower than the market here and British board of trade returns for April were decidedly bearish. July traded down to 16.00, October to 14.56, and December to 14.66, or 9 to 11 points under Saturday's close. Towards the end of the first hour the market was quiet but steady and a few points above the lows.

The market ruled very quiet all morning, the only feature being the comparative strength of October for which there was some demand and the easier tone of July. The latter month eased off to 15.92, down 17 points from Saturday's close, while October after easing off a single point from the earlier low rallied to 14.68, up 13 points.

SAYS UNIVERSITY ENTITLED ROYALTY CASINGHEAD GAS

AUSTIN, May 12.—(AP)—The University of Texas is entitled to recover one-eighth of the value of casinghead gas under outstanding leases although no stipulation was made for royalty on this produce, Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt held today in an opinion to J. W. Calhoun, comptroller of the University of Texas. The opinion was based on the conclusion that casinghead gas is a constituent of oil and would be embraced by the provisions provided for royalty on oil.

The opinion advised that the value of the casinghead gas for royalty purposes should be determined by the value of the gas at the well and held that payment of royalties also should include casinghead gasoline and residue gas.

The decision was evpected to be used as the basis for recovery by the University of Texas of several thousand dollars.

Recovery also will be sought for the difference in the royalties that have been paid on the one-tenth basis, the opinion lding the university was entitled to one-eighth

Grain and Provisions

CHICAGO, May 12.—(AP)—Wheat prices averaged lower early today, influenced by the fact that Liverpool quotations were unresponsive to Saturday's upturns in values here.

Opening unchanged to 1-2c lower, the Chicago wheat market afterward underwent a general sag but then rallied somewhat. Corn and oats were also easy, with corn starting unchanged to 3-8 off, and later declining a little more. Provisions held steady.

Wheat closed firm, 5-8 to 1 3-8 a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed 7-8 to 1 3-4 up, oats 1-4 to 5-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

You've long waited to see Charles (Buddy) Rogers, Paramount's handsome young star, in something really fine and far above the ordinary. Wait no longer! "Young Eagles" is at the Palace theatre today and tomorrow, and its the best thing Rogers has done since his memorable role in "Wings." Indeed, "Young Eagles" has everything that "Wings" had, and, in addition, it's all-talking.

The story centers around Buddys love-affair with a girl spy, whether a friendly spy or an enemy spy Buddy doesn't know, and around Buddy's strange friendship for the man he fights bitterly in the air. "Young Eagles" has the spirit of the laughing, dashing, daring airmen in it—it immortalizes the knight-errantry of the sky-fighters.

HEAVY RAINS IN MANY PARTS OF STATE CAUSE CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

AUSTIN, May 10.—(AP)—One man was known to be dead and several others were reported injured in a tornado which struck Anderson Bend, 30 miles north of here, today. The storm was accompanied by heavy rainstorm.

Fletcher stated he was knocked down by the force of the wind, rose and was knocked down again, unconscious. When he regained his senses he was clutching a tree, he said. His shirt had been blown from his body. Other members of the group also were dazed and scattered. The house was demolished.

The injured arrived in ustin several hours after the tornado but were unable to give any particulars except that another house in the district had ben demolished and its occupants injured.

Efforts to reach either place from Austin were futile, telephone linemen reporting streams in the vicinity impassable.

Roaming the Realm of County Sports

By DELMORE OLSEN.

The Humble Oilers lead the Navarro County Amateur Baseball league by winning over the American Well and Prospecting company nine 9-3 Sunday afternoon while the Magnolia Oilers were taking out the Blooming Grove in a pair of contests, 9-6 and 9-2.

In the other contest played Sunday, the Bazette nine climbed into third place with a 4-3 victory over Whites Chapel. The American Well and Whites Chapel nines are in the cellar with two wins and four losses.

Beauford Barnes, slugging centerfielder who played with the Magnolia-Millers last season now signed up with the Humble nine, found the pitching of Johnson and Harris to his liking, pounding out four hits in five appearances at the plate. Strum, lead off man for the Magnolia Oilers, duplicated that feat in the first contest Sunday afternoon.

Johnson, firstbaseman for the Blooming Grove team, one of the leading sluggers in the league had his batting average lowered in the games Sunday getting three hits in eight appearances. Prior to this he had been hitting sky high, leading the attack on the opposing teams.

The annual Navarro county tennis tournament, sponsored by the local Y. M. C. A. gets under way Wednesday afternoon on the concrete court at the City Park. Teams entered in the doubles tournament will have the honor of opening hostilities and on the following afternoon, the singles players snap into action. The tournament is scheduled to be concluded on May 27th. There are seven doubles teams and fourteen singles players entered.

Scott Bagby won the tournament last year, but is not in Corsicana now to defend his laurels. Winners in the singles an doubles departments will be presented with gold trophies. Vaughter and Alverson were champions last year in the doubles department.

Considerable interest is being shown in tennis, and the action of the city commission recently ordering the construction of additional courts was welcome news to the tennis players, who have been forced some times to wait several hours to play one or two sets.

The annual Navarro county sand green open golf tournament, sponsored by the Lakeview Golf and Country Club will be started Monday afternoon. Qualifying rounds will be played Thursday through Sunday.

All matches in the tournament will be eighteen holes, except the finals for the first flight championship which will be over thirty-six holes.

MIAMI POLICE TELL CAPONE LEAVE OR BE ARRESTED EACH TIME HE IS SEEN BY POLICE

MIAMI, Fla., May 9.—(AP)—Adopting the "Chicago plan" the authorities of Miami have given Scarface Al Capone the choice of leaving or being arrested every time a policeman sees him.

The police picked him up yesterday and held him in jail for "investigation" for two and a half hours before a circuit judge freed him on a writ of habeas corpus. They are going to do it again when he appears in the city, they told Capone, as he returned to his estate on Palm Island without waiting to exchange a receipt for $1,161 in cash and a diamond he valued at $10,000, which police took from him.

It was Capone's third apeparance in court since his arrival April 20. He testified when the federal court made permanent an injunction against 20 Florida sheriffs forbidding them from deporting him without a warrant as instructed by Governor Doyle Carlton. Litigation to padlock Capone's home as a nuisance is pending in state courts and he appeared at a preliminary hearing in this case.

Capone's brother, John, Albert Drignano and Nick Circules were arrested and released with Capone yesterday. Seized while riding in a car the four were photographed, fingerprinted and searched before being locked up. His companions had smaller amounts of cash, but none was armed.

GENEVA, May 12.—(AP)—The resignation of Charles Evans Hughes from the permanent court for international justice today was accepted by the council of the League of Nations as its first important act after assemblying under the presidency of Voyislav Marinkovitch, Jugo-Slavian foreign minister.

The council voted to hold a special election at the next assembly in September to elect a successor to Mr. Hughes.

Dr. Julius Curtius, German foreign minister, sat in the council for the first time.

The German delegate offered his report on the recent conference for concerted economic action — at first called the "tariff truce conference." His report was adopted with the additional recommendation by Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson of Great Britain that these negotiations be carried on energetically in the hope of improving conditions of international trade.

ANOTHER INDIAN LEADER ARRESTED BY AUTHORITIES

SECOND GREAT BLOW TO CIVIL RESISTANCE MOVEMENT STRUCK MONDAY

BOMBAY, India, May 12.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi's civil resistance movement today received its second great setback with the arrest of Abbas Tyabji, and a large group of his immediate followers, at the moment when they were starting from Navsari to raid the Dharsana Salt Works.

The government's abortive action followed Tyabji's refusal to call off the proposed raid after repeated warnings by government officials.

Command of the forces of "passive resistance" immediately was taken over by Mrs. Sarionji Naidu, Hindu poetess, selected by the Mahatma to automatically succeed as leader.

The seizure of Tyabji coincided with government plans for a tightening of control of the entire Indian situation.

While the arrested leader and his cohorts were being transferred to the jail just outside of Navsari, the civil authorities in Scholapur announced that two more military detachments had been sent from Poona, the second battalion of the royal uster rifles and a whole battalion of headquarters troops, to complete military control of that disturbed community.

Almost simultaneously the British authorities in the Gujerat district sent a final notification to the Haji of Turungzai, serving notice upon him to remove with his followers with all speed from the vicinity of the recently embattled Peshawar.

Salt Raiders Arrested.

BOMBAY, May 12—(AP)—The first great raid on a salt depot by Mahatma Gandhi's followers occurred today at Shiroda. Police swooped down on the Hindu raiders, caught them in the act and arrested about one hundred. The news of the wholesale arrests was communicated to Bombay this evening by the Maharastra Satyagraha (civil disobedience) committee.

British Air Raid.

LONDON, May 12.—(AP)—A British airplane raid was made yesterday against the forces of the Haji of Turangsai on the north western frontier of India, Wedgewood Benn, secretary of state for India, announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

Mr. Benn added that results of the raid were not yet known.

Previously dispatches from Bombay said that British authorities in the Gujerat district had served an ultimatum on the Haji, notifying him to remove his followers from the vicinity of Peshawar immediately.

Peshawar is the key city of the northwestern frontier and the surrounding country is inhabited by war-like tribes.

M. C. A., Monday morning, with a full attendance of pastors of the city. President Louis E. Dugger, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church, presided at the meeting.

After business matters were discussed, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Report of committee on plans and program to Corsicana Ministerial association.

First, the committee is of the unanimous opinion that we should have an association.

Second, purpose, three fold.

(a) Fellowship.

(b) Consider questions which have to do with the spiritual and moral welfare of the community.

(c) Inspirational programs should be planned which would be of value from the standpoint of inspiration and information.

Third. We recommend that the association meet monthly, the Monday following the second Sunday, and that the first and second meetings held in the Y. M. C. A., and that the third meeting be a program meeting held in a local church with the pastor in charge of the program.

Fourth. We recommend that there be no meetings of the association during the months of July and August.

Fifth. A meeting may be called by the president at the request of three or more members.

CREAGER ASKED ONE QUESTION MONDAY IN HALF MILLION SUIT

PLAINTIFF IN LIBEL SUIT ADMITTED RESPONSIBILITY FOR CERTAIN LETTER

BROWNSVILLE, May 12.—(AP)—Called unexpectedly to the stand by counsel for Colliers Weekly, R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas, was asked one question in his $500,000 libel suit against the magazine here today.

"Mr. Creager," said V. W. Taylor, one of the Colliers' lawyers, "was this letter written by you?"

"It is a copy of one written and signed by my authority," the committeeman replied.

"That's all, Mr. Creager," the attorney said in excusing the witness who was on the stand hardly more than a minute.

George Hill, Jr., chief of the committeemans legal staff, insisted on seeing the letter, but Taylor said it was not being offered as evidence yet and refused to let the attorney see it until the court instructed him to "let Mr. Hill see it."

Hill read it and then had Creager identify other letters and correspondence between Creager and Willard Ferguson, former Hidalgo county Republican chairman. These were not introduced as evidence either.

The letter held by the defense was understood unofficially to have been a delineation by Creager of his method of operating in Texas.

Creager stepped from the stand, having said not more than 20 words.

Beforehand articles printed in the Houston Chronicle in November, 1928, were submitted by Collier's under the contention that newspapers made the same charges in effect that it had that Creager aided the Baker Democratic Hidalgo county regime to keep in power.

RED CROSS WORKER OUTLINES PLAN FOR RELIEF TO ROTARY

PROGRAM FURNISHED BY HI SCHOOL SENIOR CLASS AND MISS ACROBAT

Capt. Albert Evans, director of relief, American Red Cross, Mid-Western area, who is in charge of the relief work for the tornado-stricken area in Central Texas, with headquarters in Corsicana, spoke at the Corsicana Rotary club meeting Monday noon, outlining some of the relief working, ets., of the organization. The senior class of Corsicana High school, under the direction of Billy Coulson, class president, furnished five members. Miss Acrobat, aged 10, representing Shaft-Pierce Shoe Company, Acrobat shoes, sold by the Big Four Shoe Company, rendered a number of acrobatic performances that was unusual and out of the ordinary, bringing forth the unstinted applause of the Rotarians.

Visitors included N. J. Garitty, Mr. Ainsworth, Luling; L. C. Coulson and C. H. Mills.

Monday's program was under the direction of Henry Walker, chairman; Dr. E. H. Newton and Henry Taylor.

Billy Coulson thanked the club for the interest always shown in the local high school and for the many things done for them.

Miss LaDone Matthews was presented in a violin solo, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ruth Roberts.

Miss Jewell Albritton gave a reading.

Miss Rosa Hashop was presented in a piano selection.

Miss Rene Coulson gave two pianologues, accompanied by Miss Roberts at the piano. Miss Roberts gave several piano selections.

It was announced by President Ted E. Ferguson that the regular meeting of the club next Monday would not be held, but that the Rotarians would meet in the joint chamber of commerce forum meeting Wednesday noon.

Rev. H. J. Ellis presented Mr. Evans.

Praises Mankind.

Mr. Evans stated that it was his job and duty to drop into communities where disasters had been experienced, such as big explosions, tornadoes, fires, etc. Speaking of the way in which people respond in case of calamities, he said the more he saw people in those times, the more he thought of mankind.

He said the Red Cross tried to be a friend in need. What people need in the time of tornadoes, etc., Mr. Evans said, was to be shown the salvagable assets and reinforced with the stuff the people are made of, to come back. He said that money, machinery, seeds, shelters, etc., would be given.

Mr. Evans said that each family would be aided according to the particular needs of the family to make it self-sustaining.

People who have been in the path of a tornado need solid and business-like help and advice, which will help them solve their problems, Capt. Evans continued.

Capt. Evans said that the National Red Cross gets none of the money used in relief of measures for particular areas, and that every dollar raised for the Central Texas storm area would be spent there.

In the annual membership drives of the various local chapters, 50c of each membership goes to the National office, but none of the relief contributions.

FORMER GOVERNOR OKLAHOMA WILL BE CALLED TO EXPLAIN

J. C. WALTON TO BE QUESTIONED IN UNIVERSAL OIL AND GAS ORGANIZATION

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 12.—(AP)—J. C. Walton, former governor of Oklahoma, who was impeached and removed in 1923, will be called upon by the government to explain what part, if any, he played in the organization of the Universal Oil and Gas company, Roy St. Lewis, district attorney, said today. Nine officials of the company are under federal charges and a temporary receiver is in charge of its business.

Lewis was in possession of booklets purported to have been printed by the company for mailing in April, 1929, prefaced by a large photograph of the former governor. Beneath his name is the legend, "Author of 'Why Investors Lose in Oil.'"

The text of the literature throughout, Lewis explained, left the impression that Walton played a part in the organization.

Lewis said a person he would not name had informed him that Walton had relinquished his title as chairman of the organization's board shortly after the booklet was issued, taking a block of Universal memberships which he later turned back to the company for a cash settlement.

Persons under charges of using the mails to defraud, in connection with the company's activities, include S. E. J. Cox, friend of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, polar explorer, who recently was paroled from the federal penitentiary after serving part of a sentence on a like charge.

The New York state attorney general recently investigated the use of the name of Richard Enright, former New York City police commissioner, in literature promoting the sale of Universal memberships.

DEADWOOD, S. D., May 12.—(AP)—Atop a mountain overlooking the black hills he helped civilize "Deadwood Dick," one of the last of the romantic figures of the Old West, has been buried in a rock-hewn grave.

Military honors, an Episcopal service and the last respects of the handful of survivors of gold rush days marked the funeral late yesterday in a raging May blizzard. As Richard W. Clarks, 85, "Deadwood Dick" died in a hospital late Monday.

Hundreds of persons climbed nearly a mile to the top of Sun Rise peak, overlooking Pine Crest park, for the burial of the frontiersman, prospector, Indian scout and stage coach guard. The grave was blasted in the rocky peak by Henry Brasch, who came here with Clarke in 1876.

To one side of the grave is Mount Roosevelt, on which is a monument to the former president. On the other is Mountain Moriah, where are buried Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane, Seth Bullock and other Western characters.
